YOU 177: You'll be asked to share dreams for community

BY SANDRA BOLAN
 sbolan@yrmg.com

As part of the new YOU 177 project, the Whitchurch-Stouffville Public Library is leading a 1 Town, 1 Book initiative.

The program, which is for adults and children, features the award-winning book Dream: A Tale of Wonder, Wisdom and Wishes by local author Susan V. Bosak.

Through 1 Town, 1 Book activities, young and old will explore dreams for themselves, the community and world. Participants will get to know each other better, develop a shared vision for the future and start collaborative actions to address needs identified by the community, according to the media release.

"You're never too young or too old to dream," Ms Bosak said in the media release.

One Town, 1 Book launches Wednesday with an intergenerational reading of Dream at St. Brendan School.

The reading includes local elders from the 55+ Club, students from St. Brendan, Mayor Wayne Emmerson and Daniele Zanotti, CEO of United Way York Region.

Participants will present dream stars to the mayor, which will be displayed in the town hall.

During the next year, all Whitchurch-Stouffville residents are challenged to dream bigger through events, activities and action plans to make the community stronger.

The mayor's golf tournament fund is donating two copies of Dream to each Whitchurch-Stouffville school.

YOU 177 stands for 1 world with 7 generations, 7 billion people and you.

It is the result of 10 years of research by the Legacy Project, a Whitchurch-Stouffville-based research and social innovation group Ms Bosak helped start.

The Legacy Group has joined forces with the mayor's office, library, Whitchurch-Stouffville Chamber of Commerce, local media, service clubs, faith-based groups, schools and seniors' groups.

Mr. Zanotti will also make an announcement regarding United Way's Every Neighbourhood funding for Whitchurch-Stouffville.
