Share dreams for Stouffville

It's time to share your dream, Whitchurch-Stouffville.

You're invited to the grand opening of Dream Star Headquarters at the Whitchurch-Stouffville Public Library July 31.

Municipal dreams are part of WS YOU 177 One Town, One Book, a community-wide venture launched earlier this spring.

It's designed to bring together generations and innovation for a stronger community.

Mayor Wayne Emmerson and other guests will launch the event.

You can learn how to make Dream Stars and sign a giant star, while munching on star cookies and refreshments.

You can get a free glitter face star and listen to dream-themed music and a reading of the award-winning Dream book, the book featured in One Town, One Book, and meet bestselling author Susan V. Bosak.

All ages are welcome.

The event begins at 4 p.m.

New chamber employee out to grow membership, events

There is a new membership and events co-ordinator at the Whitchurch-Stouffville Chamber of Commerce.

Sarah Owens was recently hired by the chamber through a job fair held at the Yorkworks' Stouffville office, according to Bruno Grise, executive director at the chamber.

The new position is part of the chamber's ongoing "improvement initiatives" at the chamber, Grise told The Sun-Tribune via email.

Among Owens' duties will be new member recruitment, renewals as well as event organization and sponsorship.

The chamber's membership survey is about 50 per cent complete, according to Grise, who noted Owens will incorporate that feedback into events.
