HANDS ACROSS THE WATER

Stouffville District Secondary School Spartan Chris Paul has his arms around the ball, but Calum Bailey-Aitkin of the Abersychan touring high school team from Wales has his arms around Paul in exhibition rugby play Friday at SDSS. The home team lost 61-0 to the Welch team, which beat Pickering Dunbarton 71-0 Monday.

Waterloo names golfer male athlete of week

Gajan Sivabalasingham's exploits on the links in which he captured the Ontario University Athletics men's individual title and helped the University of Waterloo Warriors claim the men's team title at the Oshawa Golf and Country Club last week did not go unnoticed on campus.

The Waterloo-based school named the 20-year-old Ballant-rae resident as their male athlete of the week for the period ending Oct. 27.

A fourth-year student majoring in math and business, Sivabalasingham shot a two-round, even par 144 (70, 74) to claim gold by two strokes.

The Warriors team also won OUA gold by four strokes.

Earlier this season, Sivabalasingham won the Waterloo and Guelph Invitational tournaments and was named to the OUA first-team all-star squad.

McGilvray's goal not enough in Ryerson comeback attempt

Sarah McGillvray scored a goal in a losing effort when the Ryerson University Rams women's hockey team fell short in a 4-3 decision against the host UOIT Ridgebacks in Ontario University Athletics women's hockey action Saturday.

The Stouffville resident and first-year forward with the Rams scored at the 17:11-mark of the third period that put the Rams to within a goal.

But that would be as close as the Rams would get before time expired.

A Bill Crothers Secondary School graduate who is majoring in social work, McGillvray has two goals in five games so far with the Rams.
