

Starlight Cinema To Screen Best Picture Nominee

On April 14, Starlight Cinema presents An Education as part of the Toronto International Film Festival Film Circuit series at the Lebovic Centre for Arts and Entertainment - Nineteen on the Park.

A 2010 Academy Award nominee for Best Picture, this coming-of-age story is set in London, England in the early 1960s, and was adapted from a screenplay by Nick Hornby (High Fidelity, About a Boy). Jenny (Carey Mulligan, who was nominated for Best Actress) is a 16-year-old schoolgirl on the brink of womanhood. Stifled by the tedium of life in suburban Twickenham, Jenny can't wait to move on.

When David (Peter Sarsgaard), a 30-something, urbane charmer arrives in Jenny's life, she is introduced to a glittering new world, as her boyfriend replaces her traditional education with a very different version. The stellar cast includes Emma Thompson and Alfred Molina and the movie beautifully evokes England in 1961, just before Swinging London became the centre of popular culture. The movie begins at 7 p.m. and single tickets are $7.50 from the box office before the show.

The last two movies in the 2009-2010 Film Circuit Series are Precious, which will be screened May 12 and Young Victoria (June 9). All movies for the Starlight Cinema series at Nineteen on the Park are supplied by Toronto International Film Festival's Film Circuit. The series is sponsored by the Stouffville Free Press.
