She provides expert advice and service to first time homebuyers, self employed individuals and new immigrants. She brings 24 years of industry knowledge and experience to work for you, and she is very approachable. "I treat all my customers like I treat my friends, whether they are young people buying their first home or repeat customers."

Kathleen is a firm believer in purchasing a home rather than renting, even in uncertain economic times. "You're far better off paying yourself than paying the other guy's mortgage."

She also recommends using the equity in your home to purchase a cottage or rental property, perhaps for offspring attending university. "The kids can live in the house while others living with them pay rent."
