

KING'S EVIL.

Was the name formerly given to Scrofula because of a superstition that it could be cured by a king's touch. The word is wiser now, and knows that can only be cured by a thorough purification of the blood. If this is neglected, the disease perpetuates its taint through generation after generation. Among its earlier symptomatic developments are Eczema, Catarrhs, Eruptions, Tumors, Boils, Carbuncles, Erysipelas, Purulent Ulcers, Nervous and Physical Collapse, etc. If allowed to continue, Rheumatism, Scrofulous Catarrh, Kidney and Liver Diseases, Tubercular Consumption, and various other dangerous or fatal maladies, are produced by it.

Ayer's Sarsaparilla

Is the only powerful and always reliable blood-purifying medicine. It is so effective an alternative that it eradicates from the system Hereditary Scrofula, and the kindred poisons of contagious diseases and mercury. At the same time it enriches the blood, restores the vitality of the vital organs and rejuvenates the entire system. This great

Regenerative Medicine

Is composed of the genuine Honduras Sassaaparilla, with Yellow Dock, Aloes, Iron, and other ingredients of great potency, carefully and scientifically compounded. Its formula is generally known to the medical profession, and the best physicians constantly prescribe AYER'S SARSAPARILLA.

Absolute Cure

For all diseases caused by the vitiation of the blood. It is concentrated to the highest practicable degree, far beyond any other preparation for which like effects are claimed, and is therefore the cheapest, as well as the best blood-purifying medicine, in the world.

A HOPEFUL LASSIE.—A servant girl of no strong intellect, who lived with a lady in Scotland, surprised her mistress by giving her warning. The lady inquired the cause, and found it was a sweetheart. "And who is the lad?" inquired the mistress. "Oh, he's a nice lad; a lad that sits in the kirk just for fun." "Are you sure he intends to marry you?" "I darsay he does me." "Have you had much of each other's company yet?" "Not yet." "When did you last converse with him?" "Deed, we have nae conversed any yet." "Then how should you suppose that he is going to marry you?" "Oh," replied the simple girl, "he's been laug' lookin' at me, and I think he'll soon be speakin'."

It Never Fails.

Dr. Fowler's Extract of Wild Strawberry will never fail you when taken to cure Erysipelas, Sore Throat, or any form of Summer Complaint. Relief is almost instantaneous; a few doses cure when other remedies fail.

THE READY ROOSTER.—Roosters are the pugilists among birds, and having no suitable shoulders to strike from, they strike from the heel. When a rooster gets whipped, the hens all march off with the other rooster, if he ain't half so big or handsom. It is plain that was a hen. Roosters are a class won't do any household work; you can't get a rooster to pay any attention to a young one. They spend most of their crowing and strutting about, and wince in a while they find a worm; which they make such a great fuss over, calling their wives up from a distance, apparently to treat them, but as the hens sit there, this elegant cuss bends over and gobbles up the worm. Just like a man for all the world!

Winter Supply of Violets and Pansies.

A good place to grow Violets may be constructed at the south side of a dwelling. Dig a pit two feet deep along the house. Into this put a stout frame to receive common hot bed sash, the sash to lean against the building. Tear down the wall that separates the frame from the cellar under the house, and put a row of windows in its place. The idea of this is, that the natural heat in the cellar shall keep your Violet frame at a steady temperature. At the same time you can work over your flowers, no matter what the outside weather may be, and when no air can be given directly outside, it may be done indirectly inside. When the outside sash is open, the inside may be shut. Thus the sun will warm up the cellar, and perhaps store a little heat for the night. Is your cellar already warmed up by a furnace? It is, then I am sorry, but even in that case, we can regulate the temperature by having the inside sash open but a little; or, perhaps, the furnace heat will save the trouble of covering up nights. Keep your eye on the thermometer, and by a little watching you will soon learn what to do. I said dig a pit two feet deep. This must be filled in again to the depth of one foot with some good garden loam, well composed with stable manure, well rotted, thus making the Violet bed about one foot lower than the surface of the ground outside.

The varieties mostly cultivated for winter lowering are the Novington, a light blue, double one, and Maria Louise, a dark blue and also double. Both are varieties of the so-called English Violet, Viola odorata. They are propagated by cuttings, or by dividing the old plants. The latter is the better method for amateurs. The best time to do this is the month of April, when the old plants are through flowering, and as soon as the ground is in good working order, so that the divided plants can be set out in the open air at once, where they are to remain during summer. This must be repeated every spring. Select only the best and throw the rest away or give to some friend, it will not do to set out the whole clumps of old plants. During the hot months of summer they will not grow much, they are children of a temperate climate.

In about the month of September prepare the bed that is to receive your Violets. If a solid bed, as in the frame first described, the soil should be from ten inches to a foot deep; if a raised bench, five or six inches will be sufficient. The soil must be rich, and, if possible, of a nature to retain moisture. After the bed is prepared plant the Violets in rows across the bench. The rows to be a foot apart and of many plants in the row as you can get it without crowding them too much. Water them well with a sprinkler, and till the earth around the roots, and give them partial shade, but no glass yet. When the plants show signs of growth, gradually remove the shade and give them a thorough soaking with soupsuds warm from the wash-tub. Put in the glass when frost threatens.—Chryslers Evergreen, in Vick's Magazine for August.

A Negro held a cow while a cross-eyed man was to hit her on the head with an axe. The negro observing the man's eyes, in some fear enquired: "Is you gwine to hit whar you look?" "Yes," "Den, hold de cow yourself," said Cuffee.

Is it Acting Right.

If you are troubled with Inactive Liver, your complexion will be sallow, frequent sick headache, achy shoulders, dizziness, weariness, irregular bowels and many other serious complaints. Burdock Blood Purifiers regulate the liver and all the secretions to a healthy action.

A French gentleman, learning English to some purpose, replied, thus to the salutations: "How do you do, monsieur?" "Do vat?" "How do you find yourself?" "I never loses myself." "How do you feel?"—"Smooth. You just feel me."

A Liver Cure.

One single trial of Dr. Chase's Liver Cure will convince the most skeptical and confirm better than thousands of testimonials that it is a sure cure. Medicine and Recipe Book $1. John McKinnon, sole agent, Uxbridge.

A lank, hungry-looking Mill Creeker stepped into the Marshall (Ind.) bank on Thursday, and accosted Me, with, "Do you keep drafts here, Mister?" "Yes, sir," replied the polite and dulcet-toned Me. "What are they worth?" queried the Mill-Creeker. "Owing to the size entirely, sir." "Well, I guess I've got means enough to get one about a foot square. Make her stout as —, Cap, for it's the old woman's back, and I want it to draw her double."

JACK'S BET.—A Georgia negro was riding a mule along, and came to a bridge, when the mule stopped. "I'll bet you a quarter," said Jack. "I'll make you go over dis bridge," and with that struck the mule over the head, which made him nod suddenly. "You take de bet, den," said the negro, and contrived to get the stubborn mule over the bridge. "I wen dat quarter anyhow," said Jack.

"But how will you get the money?" asked a man who had been close by, unperceived. "I'll borrow," said Jack. "massa gib me a dollar to get corn for the mule, and I take quarter out."

The Coming Monster Aggregation.

John B. Doris' Mammoth Shows.
UNITED WITH THE GREAT INTER-OCEAN.

At Uxbridge, on the 15th of August, is the day and date announced for the appearance of the "Greatest Show on Earth," which has received the highest marked encomiums of the entire press and public wherever its mightiest of canvases have been erected, and one of our exchanges says: From the entrance of its Grand Zoological Institute to the exit of its Mammoth Three-Ring Circus, it commanded wonderful admiration; while the elegance and decorum with which every department of this colossal consolidated show is conducted, secures the patronage and approval of the most fastidious who are not in the habit of attending public entertainments of any description. The arena features are the best on the road, rendered with a smoothness and cleanliness rarely seen with tent shows. Among many of the attractive novelties were the Troupe of French Bicycle Riders, the equestrianship of the Wonderful William Showles, who, as a bare-back rider, has no equal; Troupe of Skillful Siberian Roller Skaters, direct from St. Petersburg, especially engaged for Doris' New Monster Shows; Fourteen Brawny Turks in their wonderful native costumes, presenting thrilling and acrobatic achievements, the whole forming a grand pyramid; The Fisher Brothers, in their new and original aerial trapeze acts, are truly wonderful, and deserve the immense applause given them; Funny (J. R.) Adams, known as "Pico," the celebrated English Acrobatic Clown, is a marvel, and one of the funniest clowns. His sayings are new, novel, and pleasing. Next comes "Betts," the ponderous and pioneer war elephant, 141 years of age, the oldest in the world. Following these you will positively see the best male and female equestrians and equestriennes, more acrobats, wonderful strongest men and women, twenty of the world's best leapers, champion hurdle riders, famous lady five-horse riders, lady acrobats, lady and gentleman trapeze performers, daring wire walkers, a whole family of giants and midgets, tea of the funniest of all clowns, fifty cages of truly wonderful rare wild animals, performing elephants, performing lions, a caravan of trained camels and tigers, troupe of trick stallions and ponies. The grand free street parade contained twenty open-cars of performing wild animals, just as this monster show advertised. This was the most gorgeous exhibition ever given on the public streets. We advise all from a distance to be on hand to see the only great show of the season. Parade takes place at 10 A. M. Remember day and date.
