

DEBILITY DUE TO INDIGESTION

Perfect Digestion Comes Through Rich, Red Blood.

There can be no perfect digestion unless you have rich, red blood. This is scientifically true. It is also true that there is no tonic for the stomach that is not a tonic for every other part of the body. The way, then, to tone up the stomach is to tone up the blood.

The many so-called stomach remedies merely try to digest your food for you. How much better it is to tone up the stomach so that it will do its own work as nature intended. There is no pleasure in eating pre-digested food. Tone up your stomach and your appetite and digestion will soon be normal.

If your digestion is weak and your blood thin you need the help of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills to enrich the blood and restore strength. In addition use care in the selection of your food and your stomach trouble will soon pass away. Mr. Gordon Dundas, Peterboro, Ont., tells as follows what this medicine did for him. He says: "Something over a year ago I was a gasoline salesman when I was taken sick. I felt miserable and lost twelve pounds in weight. I did not sleep well and could not eat as I could scarcely retain anything in my stomach. I went to a local doctor who told me the fumes of the gas had got into my system. He gave me some medicine and told me I had better go to the country for a change of air. I did so, but I still felt listless and groggy, and had no ambition. On the advice of a friend I decided to try Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. I had not been taking the pills long before I was beginning to rest better, and to eat fairly well. I kept on taking the pills until at the end of the seventh box I knew I did not need any more, as I had gained the weight I had lost, slept well and could eat anything. I have since had splendid health and cannot say too much in praise of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills.

You can get these Pills from any medicine dealer or by mail at 50 cts. a box from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

Napoleon's Elba Villa Falling into Ruin

The villa built by Napoleon, on the Island of Elba, in which he had probably intended to spend his declining years, is falling into decay. It was at one time the property of Anatole Demidoff, a Russian Prince, who purchased it from the Bonaparte family. Near by, the Prince built a museum in which costly paintings and sculptures were interspersed among many relics of the "Little Corporal." A collection of Sevres porcelain in the museum was said to be the finest in the world.

In 1872 Anatole Demidoff died and his nephew, Prince Paul, sold the contents of the museum at auction, including a tooth of the Emperor's, extracted when he was a child, and a lock of his hair taken from his head after his death at St. Helena.

Signor Gray, a Fascist member of the Italian Parliament, recently paid a visit to Elba. He viewed the condition of the historic villa with surprise, and has decided, it is said, to bring the matter before Mussolini. It is no longer the former, because all of the iron mines have been exhausted. And only prompt aid, it is reported, can prevent the latter attribute's becoming likewise inapplicable.

A Province-Wide Campaign To Prevent Motor Accidents

Highway Safety Committee Takes Spectacular Steps to Make for Greater "Traffic Consciousness" — Laws and Regulations to be Rigidly Enforced

An interesting campaign has commenced in Ontario with the idea of lessening appreciably the number of motor car accidents. While a concentrated effort in accident prevention began on October 7 to last for a couple of weeks, the plan is to continue the work permanently in the hope that Ontario's streets and highways will be more safe for both motorists and pedestrians.

A serious problem has arisen in Ontario because of the sudden increase in the number of motor vehicles. At present nearly 400,000 cars are owned in the province. Even with this number the question of accident prevention would be of considerable proportions, but at certain times the number of visiting motor cars equals the number owned. Several counts last summer established this fact so that Ontario has to deal with nearly 800,000 individual motor drivers. The chances are that this number will be exceeded during the touring season of 1928.

Form Special Committee
To the end that accidents may be greatly lessened, a Highway Safety Committee has been formed. The executive of this committee has as its chairman the Ontario Minister of Highways, Hon. George S. Henry and the other members are W. G. Robertson, Secretary of the Ontario Motor League; J. F. H. Wyse, Secretary of the Ontario Safety League; S. J. Dickson, Chief of Police, Toronto; T. Marshall, Secretary of the Ontario Board of Trade; J. P. Bickell, Registrar of Motor Vehicles; and R. M. Smith, Acting Deputy Minister of Highways. Co-operating is an advisory committee comprising all editors, heads of municipal governments, police chiefs, presidents of boards of trade, automobile clubs and service clubs.

The executive have held a number of meetings during which every phase of the situation was discussed. The views of all experts were canvassed and finally boiled down to the conclusion that motor car accidents can be prevented by the exercise of common sense and courtesy. It was felt that the province had sufficient laws and regulations affecting motors. The next step was to impress the individual driver with a sense of his or her responsibility. It was ascertained that many drivers with years of experience had failed to realize the great increase in traffic, while the motor car had become so common that new drivers had not appreciated its dangers. In other words an effort had to be made to get the public "traffic conscious." Coming to concrete cases it was found that most accidents, the human element being excluded, arose from defective brakes, defective steering gear and glaring headlights. Of these, defective brakes provided by far the most common source of accidents.

"Traffic Consciousness"
It was determined first to arouse this traffic consciousness in the public by a publicity campaign. And this campaign was to be backed up by a rigid enforcement of laws and regulations. Co-operation was readily secured throughout the province on the part of the police, heads of municipal governments, and the traffic patrol officers.

Striking advertisements calling attention to the need of more care in accident prevention are appearing in most papers throughout Ontario. Posters are hung in every garage and filling station and stickers with the words "I'm for Care and Courtesy, Are YOU?" have been sent to every filling station and garage to be pasted in the lower right hand corner of windshields. Half a million of these stickers have already been sent out. Information was supplied to practically every newspaper so that the editors might call attention to what was being attempted. This information was used in many ways in the newspapers. The radio stations and motion picture houses also co-operated. Prominent men and experts on safety gave talks over the radio, the first one being given by Hon. Mr. Henry. Billboards are also used, so that nothing has been overlooked to arouse what officials call "traffic consciousness."

In the meantime officials of the Ontario Department of Highways are doing all in their power to suppress reckless driving, and those drivers who get into traffic. It is planned to weed out such drivers by cancelling their licenses. Of course no mercy is being shown those who attempt to drive while under the influence of liquor. Drivers who suffer from any physical or mental infirmity that makes them a menace on the highway will also be refused licenses.

During September 64 convictions were registered for intoxication when in charge of motor cars. The penalties imposed varied from seven to thirty days, while every driver so convicted had his license to operate and his motor vehicle permit suspended. They could not drive and their cars were tied up. During the same month 68 motor vehicle permits were suspended for reckless driving and these drivers were prohibited from driving any car for periods ranging from three days to two years.

British Pedestrian Carries Motor Horn

London.—The Japanese police injunction to motorists to "tootle with vigor" in warning of their approach now has been emulated by a pedestrian in Southampton. A citizen who dislikes what Lord Dewar called "surviving by leaps and bounds" has fastened a small but strident motor horn to his walking stick and sounds it when about to cross a street.

The disconcerted motorists—hearing the warning but not seeing a motor— invariably pull up while the pedestrian calmly crosses the road.

Terrible Backache

Hamilton, Ont.—"After my baby was born I had terrible backache and headaches. I could not do my work and felt tired from the first minute I got up. But worst of all were the pains in my sides when I moved about. I had to sit or lie down for a while afterwards. I could keep my house in order, but many things had to go undone at the time, because of my ailments. I was told by a neighbor to take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, as she said it would build me up. I was relieved before I had taken the first we bought and have not had any trouble like it since."—Mrs. T.
