CTV's Brown speaks at SIP gala

The Marion Drexler Band is providing the live music at this year's annual SIP banquet.

The 11th annual fundraiser for the Stouffville Igoma Project takes place Oct. 23 at Sleepy Hollow Golf Club. The reception begins at 6 p.m. with dinner at 6:30 p.m.

Tickets are $50 each and available at Barthau Jewellers, Candlelight and Memories or via the SIP website www.sippartnership.org.

The evening also includes a silent auction and special speaker, CTV's Lance Brown.

SIP is a humanitarian partnership between Stouffville and Igoma, Tanzania, which began in 1998 when a handful of people from Whitchurch-Stouffville travelled to Africa under the banner of Stouffville Missionary Church. Those 13 people built a building they hoped would one day become a medical clinic.

Over the years, a number of projects have been completed, including the construction of the medical facility, which operates 24/7; the installation of a reverse osmosis water purification system and an ultrasound machine.

SIP is currently working on providing mother/child/infant care services and in the future, they hope to have eye and dental services; AIDS/HIV training and compassionate assistance, as well as provide a facility for education expansion.

JOURNALISM

storytelling with a purpose.

With a few keystrokes you can sample thousands of opinions, afloat in a sea of information. But as the volume increases, the accuracy and reliability of professional journalism is essential. Gathering and sorting the facts, weighing and interpreting events, and following the story from beginning to end is more important than ever.
