

Student selected to national program

Stouffville's Thesan Ramanan is off to Lakehead University in July after being accepted into SHAD, a national program designed to help school students achieve their potential.

Currently a Grade 11 student at Bayview Secondary School, Ramanan will join 700 other students across the country participating in the program at 12 host universities.

SHAD was founded in 1980. It immerses students in a month-long program focused on developing skills in academia, networking and leadership.

The program focuses on STEAM: science, technology, engineering, arts and math. After the month, students are connected with a network of young minds across the country including 30 Rhodes Scholars.

Students required top academic achievement and demonstrated leadership skills. They will interact with renowned university faculty and corporate leaders.

"SHAD has had an incredible track record as an incubator for fostering leaders in so many areas," said SHAD president Barry Bisson in a press release.
