Top BMX riders at Bruce's Mill event

The BMX course that was constructed at Bruce's Mill Conservation Area two years ago will be put to the ultimate test Sunday.

That's when competitors will put their cycling skills to the test on the 1,000-foot course with 13 to 14 jumps when the BMX Canada Ontario Provincial Series makes its stop in Stouffville.

With the tour comprised of seven stops, the event at Bruce's Mill is new this year and marks the fourth event this season, cited

Brendan Arnold, tour spokesperson.

To start at 10 a.m. and concluding at around 2 p.m., Arnold anticipates a number of competitive BMX competitors ranging as young as three to four years in age up to some over 50, will compete in expert, intermediate and beginner categories.

"We will see some of Canada's best riders in attendance," he said. "It should be a good day."
