

We want to talk to you for house price series

Are you a York Region young person forced to live in your parents' basement because you just can't afford a place of your own?

Or are you a family with growing kids thinking you have outgrown your current house but wondering if you are able to afford to buy something bigger?

Or maybe you or a senior thinking about downsizing? Perhaps you are a financial adviser who coaches people on making the best financial decisions in these situations.

If you fall into any of these categories, we want to interview you for a series we are doing on housing affordability.
