Rain postpones Moforest – again

The last thing classic car owners want is their prized possessions getting doused in a torrential storm of paint-scraping, rust-inducing rain.

That's why Stouffville Motorfest postponed its event to its rain date, this Saturday, Sept. 24.

Originally scheduled to be held on Sept. 17, the organizing committee made the announcement last Thursday after learning of a rainy forecast for Saturday.

"Weather is the largest single factor," said organizing committee member Paul Parsons, adding that car owners won't bring their vehicles out if it's raining or even a slight chance of rain to prevent damage to their classic cars.

"The last two years we've had to use our rain date," Parsons said.

This is now the third year where weather hasn't cooperated with the originally planned date.

The weather forecast was correct – it rained most of Saturday.

That was bad news for an event that draws up to 1,000 vehicles.

Stouffville Motorfest will run the same time – 9:30 a.m. to 4 p.m. – at the TEVA building on 5691 Main St. Admission is free.

The classic and antique car event invites residents and visitors alike to feature their classic cars, enjoy live entertainment, food trucks and prizes, and fundraise for Teen Challenge GTA Women's Centre.
