Gormley resident Samantha Tan will continue to put the pedal to the metal in the Pirelli World Challenge next season.

However, she recently announced it will be in a new car, a BMW M235i, and with a new team under the direction of her father, Kenneth Tan, that includes a second car to be driven by Nick Wittmer.

Tan will also move up next season to drive in the Touring Class.

Tan said she's ready for the challenge and anticipates the competition will be formidable.

"I'm very excited to start the 2017 racing season with a new team and race car," she said in a press release.

"I'm so fortunate to be surrounded by people who are experienced in the racing world and I know I will grow tremendously as a racer

"I've always been a big fan of BMW and it will be an honour to drive the M235i racing car."
