Paul Vella has been manning the produce stand at the Stouffville Country Market for more than 40 years. On Sunday Nov. 6, the market announced it is closing down at the end of the year.

New look, same great content

Your local newspaper has a fresh, new look this week as Metroland Media embarks on a redesign for its community papers, province-wide. The move helps identify our newspapers as being part of a media family driven by the need to serve our readers and connect with the community. Our look may have changed, but inside you'll find the same quality content you've come to expect from your local Metroland Media newspaper.

Stouffville Country Market shutting its doors

Vendors reflect on 64 years at the cultural hub of Stouffville

SIMON MARTIN

It's the end of an era in Stouffville. The Stouffville Country Market announced Sunday, Nov. 6 it will cease operating at the end of the year.

The market has long been living on borrowed time.

When owner Norm Clements

sold the property to a developer 11 years ago, it was hard to imagine the market would stick around this long.
