

Competition fierce for Stouffville's Top Model

The 10 finalists who took part in Headlines Salon & Spa's Search for Stouffville's Top Model showed class, professionalism and grace under pressure during the final phase of the contest Sept. 10.

During the afternoon, the contestants chatted informally to the four judges, before demonstrating their modelling prowess in front of the camera. Each model was asked to talk about her goals and explain how she would interpret her role as an ambassador for Headlines in the coming year.

After careful deliberation, three winners were selected. Amber Bossi took top honours, with Kelly Mossop and Chantelle St. Germain tying for runner-up. The winner wins six free hair appointments, $600 worth of spa services, and four photo shoots for Headlines during the upcoming year.

Stouffville's Top Model contest attracted more than 120 entries and Headlines owner Marc Galati hopes to make it an annual event.

A ONE HORSE TOWN?

Horse whisperer Joseph Dunphy, sitting astride Romeo, tours the town after a recent visit to Buckingham Manor retirement residence. Romeo was considered untrainable when the Newfoundland Metis first got him, but Mr. Dunphy won the animal's trust through skill and patience. The unexpected sight of horse and rider strolling along the sidewalk on Main St. on a beautiful September afternoon caught the attention of several residents, including Ben Embiricos and his three-year-old son, Jasper.
