

Village Voices to perform joint concert

Goodwood residents Angela Wakeford and Joan Andrews have more in common than the community they live in.

Each also serves as conductor and artistic director for an area choir; Ms. Wakeford for One Voice in Uxbridge and Ms. Andrews for Village Voices in Unionville, a fact they discovered when they met by coincidence about four years ago. Their discussion also revealed that their artistic goals for their choirs were similar.

As a result, they decided to combine forces in a joint concert, Voices On Tour, with performances in Unionville and Uxbridge on May 1 and 2. The choirs will sing individually and together, creating a 100-voice choral feast through several combined selections. Among the featured repertoire will be favourite Canadian choral works with arrangements by Toronto area composers Lydia Adams, Donald Coakley, Eleanor Daley, Godfrey

Ridout and Nancy Telfer.

The concerts take place at Central United Church in Unionville at 8 p.m. May 1 and Trinity United Church in Uxbridge at 3 p.m. May 2. Tickets for both concerts will be available at the door, and advanced tickets for the Unionville concert can be ordered by calling 905-640-8540.

Guests at the Unionville concert are invited to bring non-perishable donations for the Markham Food Bank.

Village Voices is a choir from Unionville directed by Goodwood resident Joan Andrews. The ensemble will join forces for two concerts with One Voice, an Uxbridge-based choir, directed by another Goodwood resident, Angela Wakeford. The choirs will perform in Unionville on May 1 and in Uxbridge on May 2.
