

Kate Gilderdale / Stouffville This Month

Elvis lives in Stouffville?

Strawberry Festival mascot Chuckleberry hangs with his pals at the train station: from left to right, Sue Sherban, Ruth LeBlanc, Clive Ross, Kacey Young and Glenn Jackson with Little Elvis front and centre. The young king is one of a host of Elvis tribute performers who will get Stouffville rocking during the second annual Elvis Fest, which takes place downtown June 13 and 14. The event is sponsored by Stouffville.biz.

TRACY BANKUTI

STOUFFVILLE'S BAKER HILL WOULD LIKE TO THANK YOU FOR YOUR CONTINUED BUSINESS AND SUPPORT!

Tracy Bankuti, also co-chair of the Stouffville Tourism Committee, takes great pride in being a family run operation. Along side her mother and partner, Norah Thompson, Tracy has been an active member of the community for over 4 years.

Tracy and Norah have developed Baker Hill into a chic and affordable haven, with all the charm of a downtown boutique. Though you may see a "closed" sign next time you're cruising up Highway 48, have no fear! On April 15th the trendy shop will unveil a whole new look and selection of indoor and outdoor home decor and gifts. The coolest store on the planet will never be the same! With an even wider selection of treasures, Stouffville's Baker Hill is a must-see in the coming year.

BUT YOU CAN'T JUST DRIVE BY! 905-642-1067.
