COMPLIMENTARY GIFT WRAPPING WITH A DONATION TO OPERATION SCUGOG

Santa's helpers are checking his list to decide who's been naughty and who's been nice. Left to right are Carly MacLean, Eric Button and Ruth LeBlanc, who will be on hand at this year's fabulous Festival of Lights, hosted by the Stouffville BIA, which takes place downtown Dec. 5 at 7 p.m.

Festival of Lights brightens town

This year's Festival of Lights, which takes place Dec. 5 in the Clock Tower square, includes a living nativity, great onstage entertainment and free hot chocolate and treats for all the family.

"The stage show starts at 7 p.m. with the Stouffville Legion Colour Party and the York Durham Academy for the Performing Arts," said BIA manager Ruth LeBlanc, who is organizing the event. Other performers include dancers from three local dance schools and Carly MacLean, 17, who will sing O Holy Night. To top it all off, the King of rock and roll, Elvis himself, will also make a special appearance.

Festival seating for seniors and young families has been generously sponsored by the Stouffville Veterinary Clinic.

The taste of Chocolate... has been said to be one of life's greatest pleasures. The taste of Charlinda's Fine Belgian Chocolate... is truly a luxury that exceeds your every expectation.
