

Town of Ajax Street Dedication

Street Name: Brackenridge Street

Name of Veteran: Thomas Brackenridge 1917-1978

Rank: Stoker

Ship Served: HMS Ajax

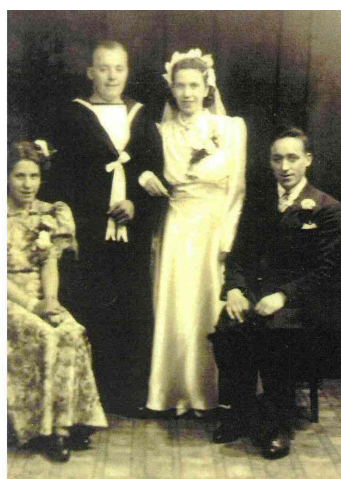

Date of Service on Ship: 1940 to 1945

Year of Visit/Dedication: May 2008

Veteran or Family Visit: Bill Brackenridge, son

Veteran of the Battle of the River Plate: No Died at Battle: No

Thomas Brackenridge was born in 1917 in the east end of Glasgow, Scotland and lived there all his life until he passed away in 1978. Thomas was working in a Butcher Shop as an apprentice before he joined the Royal Navy. He joined HMS Ajax and served as a Stoker on board the ship.

After the war, Thomas joined the Glasgow Corporation Housing and Works Department and was employed with the City Council through the remainder of his working life.

He married Esther Cook in 1942 and they are survived by two sons, William and Matthew, four grandsons, two granddaughters and five great grandchildren.

The name Brackenridge is a Scottish name, mainly coming from the mid-Argyll area in the West of Scotland. The name is derived from the lands of Brackenrig in the old Barony of Avondale in Lanarkshire and there is mention of the name in documents dating back to 1454. The Brackenridge family was part of the Campbell clan and the chief motto of the Clan is Ne obliviscaris- 'do not forget'.

