HOME FOR IMBECILE CHILDREN. A couple of children have been found in the city under circumstances which suggested their immediate removal to the Children's Home. They are imbecile and have not had the special care that ought to be theirs. The young that are without the usual endowments are burdensome enough to the most devoted parents, but they are sure of the care and attention that spring from parental affection. One of the children to which reference is made has been abandoned by its unnatural parents. It has been with its foster mother, whose poverty has made it impossible to offer it the scantiest comforts. She claims that she has led it for eight years, and that she has provided for it as best she could, considering that she has not been doing anything towards its support. She says she should have sent it to the public institutions. It is not in the Children's Home, though here it finds an asylum for the present. The province may not have a place for imbecile children, but it should have it, and the distressing facts that have been laid before the Whig make the urgency of the provision very great.

THE WARD SYSTEM. The aim of the aldermen should be to abolish ward appropriations. They involve the direction of work by ward committees, and sometimes it looks as if walks and roads are made or re-made because it is necessary to spend the money and make some showing for it. The man who is most prodigal with the public money is sometimes considered the best representative and he gets the greater credit from an indiscriminate electorate. The ideal method would be to set apart a certain sum for public works, and have these works carried on, according to the necessities of the case, and upon the unbiased recommendation of the engineer. The board of works should have, annually, or oftener, reports from its officials, as to the needs of the city, and these should be taken up and disposed of in the order of merit. Once this method of doing the city's business were fully tried the probability is it would bring in general favour and there would be no return to the system at present followed, with all its sectional jealousies and imperfections. The city which makes no changes in its manner of doing business is not sharing in the spirit of the times. Municipally as well as commercially Kingston ought to be up-to-date.

A VIEW OF PROHIBITION. The rebuke of the prohibitionists by Bishop Potter, of New York, must be severely felt. His lordship is a man of the people. He is in perfect touch with them, and knows their wants, if any churchman does. He has been the sympathizer with labour in every form, has championed its cause to excellent purpose, and only recently participated in a conference which promises to bring about, if anything can, a good understanding between the employers and their employees. The liquor question very naturally has challenged his attention, and he has considered it with the precision and acuity which are characteristic of him. He finds that while some people pronounce the use of liquor, as a beverage, they imbibe various preparations which contain a very much higher percentage of alcohol. Thus, in a recent discussion of the Church Club, he said: "In Maine, New Hampshire and Vermont, to-day, by actual statistics the consumption of certain preparations is larger than anywhere else in the country. One of these is a sarsaparilla, which has seventeen per cent. of alcohol. Another is a compound with twenty-seven per cent. of alcohol. Another is a bitter with sixty-one per cent. of alcohol, and great multitudes of people who are sworn prohibitionists are the consumers of these things. If we are going to persist in this policy to screw up all the front doors on Sunday and open the back doors, we are going to nurse a race of hypocrites, to furnish an opportunity to the police to exact a bonus and to close the door to the manly and christian method of dealing with intemperance. Prohibition is an impudent fraud and an impudent failure." There are strong words, and they come from a source which makes them impressive. No one can accuse the bishop of truckling to a passing sentiment. He is a man of rare independence and judgment, and what he says publicly is a deliberate expression of his mind. The politicians will quote it approvingly. That is only to be expected. The prohibitionists may see in it the evidence that public opinion is not running all one way, and that their education, to be effective, must be to wean one of alcoholism in every form.

The council of Syracuse has decided that the voting machines must go, claiming that no ballot on them is secret.

RECORD OF MR. TOYE.

There are elections on and rumours of others; and the indication is that the people will have for a while all of this kind of thing they can derive. The only course which circumstances can suggest is that each appeal to the electorate be considered on its merits. So far as the mayoralty is concerned the question to be settled is, Who, when elected, will be most likely to serve the city the best? The addresses of the candidates on the day of nomination have been contrasted. The contrast, in all fairness, cannot be counted against Mr. Toye. He has not posed as an orator. He is essentially a business man, and he has imparted sufficient of his spirit to his public service to make an effective. He was expected to tell in plain and simple language the story of his conduct of public affairs, and he did it to the satisfaction of his friends. Mr. Toye has been a worker in the council. He has had assigned him, in the course of his share of the affairs, and he has gone about it like a man who had clear conceptions of his duty and the knowledge and desire that made the performance of it complete. It is unnecessary to refer to the minor details. The reforms effected in the fire department, cannot, however, be overlooked. As he pointed out in his address he took charge of the department at a critical period, and he gave to it the direction that raised it in the estimation of the underwriters and favourably affected the fire rating of the city. For that service he deserves the gratitude of the aldermen, and they can best express it at the polls. Last year's good management of the public works department is beyond question. For the smallest appropriation in many years he accomplished a great deal, with the aid, of course, of his committee and its officials. It is very true that some streets and walks could be made better. That is not an argument against the administration of Mr. Toye. There were poor walks and streets in the year when the largest amount of money was expended by the streets department. So that today's experience is not new. But there's never so much done as in 1901 with the same amount of money, and that is the point to be remembered. Now the mayor is only one of the council, and he cannot do as he likes in any case. But if he be a wise and discreet individual, with marked executive ability, he can do a great deal to direct the public business and bring about the reign of efficiency with economy, which any ratepayer desires. The record of the man should have its influence on those with whom the results of the election depend.

EDITORIAL NOTES. Mr. McLean's speech at the civic nominations in Toronto was very advanced. Mr. McLean is living a little ahead of the average citizen, but he is a leader who leads. The Star says that Mr. McLean's success in the Toronto mayoralty means that he becomes, more than ever, a leader of his party. Does it not want something of the kind? Sir Thomas Lipton has a great strike on of his employees, who are numbered by thousands. They think that if he can spend millions on his yacht racing he can spend a little more on them, and pay them "a living wage." They'll get it, too. Mr. Whitney has been in Ottawa, and has arranged it that an Irish-Catholic shall be one of the two conservative candidates in the approaching local election. His motto is "The Irish must apply." This Ottawa man applied, however, in the last general election, and was defeated by Mr. Whitney's political friends. "The Mail wants Mr. McLean killed, politically, because he had the audacity to declare that the conservative leaders in Ontario are a clique of incompetents, who are working by underhand methods, and nose-backs. Mr. McLean has some of those men up against him in the mayoralty election, and he seems to know them." In the Philippines up to April last $292,582,000 had been the cost of the war of conquest by the United States; 908 officers and men had died in action or from wounds and 2,120 from disease. The republic is a fine platform from which to attack Britain on the Boer war, when she was drawn into the fight in defence, her South African colony being attacked. In Ainslie's Magazine for January "Jerome, the Politician Militant," is a splendid character study of the New York district attorney, who by his campaigning methods achieved a national reputation in two weeks. "The Russian Vodka Monopoly," by Anne Norbend Benjamin, is an interesting account of the means by which the Russian government has adopted to correct the national vice of drunkenness. "Lord Strathcona," by Duncan Campbell Scott, is the romantic story of Canada's richest citizen, illustrated with many handsome pictures. Arrangements are proceeding in London to banquet Sir William Laurier during his visit there during the summer.

THE TRIAL COST A FORTUNE. EXPENSIVE PRISONERS SINCE TICHBORNE CLAIMANT. Mr. Hooley Has Been Retired From Various Offices—Austria Has a Religious Conflict—A Moslem University for India. London, Jan. 2.—The Graphic says that the cost of the prosecution of Theodore and Laura Jackson, who were lately convicted here of obtaining money under false pretences, and immoral practices, exceeded by £2,000 the highest cost of any trial since the famous Tichborne case. The Gazette announces that Ernest Terah Hooley is removed from the list of deputy lieutenants for the county of Cambridge, also from the list for the county of Huntingdon, as he is no longer qualified as required by the provisions of the militia act. The Vienna correspondent of the Times says there is much dissatisfaction among the clerics because the evangelical alliance of Halle, Germany, has voted 500,000 marks ($1,190,000) in support of the "Emancipation from Rome" movement. An establishment of eighty Jesuits is to be founded at Agram, Hungary, next July. Its object is said to be to secure "a basis of operations for a far-reaching invasion." A despatch from Madras to the Times says that at the Mohammedan Anglo-Oriental educational conference yesterday steps were taken to found a central residential Mohammedan university for India. Many contributions for directors and officers of scholarships were announced. It is rumored here that Charles T. Yerkes has bought the uncompleted Baker street Waterloo tube railway for £2,250,000. Col. Hunsiker, presiding at a meeting of the nickel corporation, said he accepted the chairmanship at the request of American friends, who were negotiating to buy a block of the corporation's shares. He suggested four names for directors and observed that he could add nothing to the directors' report until the auditors had finished with the accounts. He would not say, until that time, whether the amount that the nickel corporation had loaned to the United States and Globe finance corporation—$1,500,000 or £200,000, but the company would take measures to recover the loan if its legal advisers thought that possible.

Sybil Sanderson To Wed. Philadelphia, Jan. 2.—Mrs. Sybil Sanderson announced today her engagement to marry Comte de Fitz James. The ceremony will take place in Paris some time late in January. It was the wish of Mrs. Sanderson to be married in this country, but she decided to sacrifice her own wishes in order that her mother, who is now in Paris, might be present at the ceremony. Rocketeer's Gift To Barnard. New York, Jan. 2.—Barnard college announces that it has succeeded in raising $200,000 in compliance with the conditions necessary to receive the conditional gift of a like sum from John D. Rockefeller. The money is to be applied to the endowment of the college, to be used at the discretion of the trustees. Joins The Teetotalers. London, Jan. 2.—T. P. O'Connor, M.P., has appeared in the ranks of temperance advocates, giving this as his solemn, matured opinion: "I believe that in half a century from now no man will rise in the ranks of any profession in the field, in the forum or at the desk, who is not a teetotaler." Dean Jellett Dead. Dublin, Jan. 2.—Very Rev. Henry Jellett, dean of St. Patrick's, died Tuesday. Dean Jellett was prominent in church circles for many years, and was the author of a number of well-known publications, including "The Irish Church and the Articles of 1615," and "Some Thoughts on the Christian Life." Doubled The Salaries. New York, Jan. 2.—Employees in the office of J. P. Morgan & Co., received a New Year's gift of exactly 100 per cent. of their salaries. This is the largest distribution of profits ever given by a financial house in the history of Wall street. Declines To Go To Pretoria. St. John, N.B., Jan. 2.—Dr. H. S. Pringle, city superintendent of education, who has received an offer of $4,000 a year to take charge of the high school in Pretoria, will remain in St. John. The school board has increased his salary $400 in order to retain his services. Marriages Prohibited. Harrisburg, Pa., Jan. 2.—A number of new laws enacted at the last session of the Pennsylvania legislature, went into effect yesterday. Among the number is a law prohibiting the marriage of first cousins in this state.
