SUICIDE AT COUNTY JAIL.

MICHAEL RUTTAN ENDS HIS TROUBLES.

With The Aid of a Leather Waist Belt and Roller Towel He Hanged Himself—Was Apparently Bright and Cheerful.

The pathway of the transgressor is not always paved with roses, more often the thorns predominate, and some find life's journey irksome and disappointing.

Last week a farmer named Michael Ruttan, residing near Verona, was charged before Howard Reynolds, J. P., with an unnatural crime, the victim being his unmarried daughter, the mother of three children.

At about one o'clock, turnkey William Perry entered the ward and found the lifeless body. He gave the alarm and the body was promptly cut down, and though efforts were made to restore the heart to its action, these were in vain.

Coroner Kilbourn was notified and after hearing the particulars decided to hold an inquest at four o'clock this afternoon. Ruttan was a widower, but has a family of grown children. He was connected by family ties with some of the leading families in the county.

Series of Bible Readings. What promises to be a most helpful and interesting series of discourses was begun yesterday, by Rev. W. W. Morden, in Bethel Congregational Church. To very many Christians the old testament is merely a historical narrative—a record of events that have no bearing upon present day experience and life.

Good Advice. The most miserable beings in the world are those suffering from dyspepsia and liver complaint. More than seventy-five per cent. of the people in the United States are afflicted with these two diseases and their effects.

Ernest Smythe, who has charge of the stage route between Rockport and Milroytown, arrived in the city Saturday to spend a week with his parents here.

A FATHER'S TRIBUTE.

On the Death of His Daughter, Miss Rachel Silver.

A large assemblage of friends gathered at the residence of Benjamin Silver, 55 Wellington street, yesterday, to attend upon the funeral services of his oldest child, his daughter, Alice Rachel. There were no formal exercises, but at the hour of twelve, the father, standing at the head of the casket, in a very broken manner and with much emotion, spoke as follows:

"Friends—We are assembled here today to perform the last sad office for one who has ended life's rugged journey; a traveler who has reached the goal we are all approaching, who has lifted the veil, and knows what is beyond. Another life has ended, with its joys and its sorrows, its hopes and its regrets. We can but anticipate if there be a future life that it will bring to us more joy and less of sorrow than does our present life.

"By the immutable decree of nature, young and old alike are subject to death. From the wonderful truth of life, the buds and blossoms fall with the ripened fruit. Yes, in the communion of earth, the patriarch and the babe sleep side by side; and we scarcely know which to call the more fortunate—the infant dying in its mother's arms, or the tender life that has journeyed all the length of a life's uneven road, painfully taking his last step, halting steps with aid of staff or crutch.

"We live in deeds, not years; in thoughts, not breaths; in feelings, not in the ticking of the clock; in the quality of our life, not in the quantity of our days. We are standing to-day on the brink of the boundless and fathomless ether, waving adieu to a fellow traveler who has embarked but a few days it may be, before us. In death we confront the deepest problem of life. We see the unknown, the life that flows in the sleep of eternity dissolve into the elements, and we ask, anxiously: Is this the end of all? From the blank chaos of the past we spring into being like bubbles on the ocean, or flowers in the spring.

"The spark of life burns flickeringly on our bright with hope and joyful smiles, now fevered with anxiety, now flooded with despair; until at last it is extinguished by the cold touch of insensating death. Life and death, indeed, are but processes of nature—the fulfillment of nature's law. Why should we fear that which comes to all? It may be that this common lot of all mankind that we call death, is but a transition to a new world, a new life, a new opportunity.

"If we want the city to grow, improve and prosper, there is no doubt as to the means to be employed. Each voter is personally benefited by the prosperity of the city. Kingston depends on its educational institutions, its governmental establishments, its commercial and manufacturing concerns. Every energy must be bent to build these up and foster them. Kingston is too small and slow a town to lose any of these. Should the subjects taught will be penmanship, business arithmetic, shorthand and English. These classes will open on Monday, the 20th inst. This is the first attempt in educational work that has been made by the Kingston association. The classes will now include the work of the business college, inasmuch as the young men who will attend the Y.M.C.A. classes have either not the time or the means to take a business college course. It is expected that a large number of students will avail themselves of this opportunity placed before them by the energetic secretary of the Y.M.C.A.

Robert Meek is a member of the high school board and is disqualified from running for the city council, so the talk of his being a candidate in Rideau ward is wasted. Leonard Staley, son of Archibald Staley, Wolfe Island, has returned to Ottawa university, after spending a pleasant vacation with his parents.

EASY TO FIND. When you find a medicine that makes your regular food taste good, when you find a medicine that strengthens a weak stomach—then you know you're going to put some flesh on.

Scott's Emulsion does these things. We recommend it whenever the system needs more flesh. If you are thin and able to eat begin regular doses. That's your part. Scott's Emulsion will do the rest. Not flabby—but solid flesh.

INTERESTS OF KINGSTON.

COMPARISON BETWEEN METCALFE AND HARTY.

The Advantages Received During Mr. Metcalfe's Regime Were Nil To Kingston; Much To Metcalfe—What Harty Secured For The City.

The electors of Kingston in selecting a member to represent them in Ottawa are not making donations, but are trying to secure a man who will take care of and promote their own interests and those of the city; any voter who casts a ballot in any other spirit is not fit to have one.

Both Mr. Harty and Mr. Metcalfe recognize this, and each pull for support on this ground—his ability to advance the interests of Kingston. Now the electors are not forced to make any experiment or choose in the dark. Both gentlemen have already had the opportunity of proving to the electors what they were capable of accomplishing. In the light of that has Mr. Metcalfe the supreme audacity or unbounded contempt for the intelligence of the electors to invite a comparison with Mr. Harty?

From 1879 to 1892 Mr. Metcalfe sat at Toronto as member for Kingston. In all those years what did his services profit the city? Absolutely nothing. He did not secure for the city as much as a hitching post. Weary with doing nothing he wishes to try Ottawa, and in 1892 was returned as member for Kingston in the house of commons. Here his friends were in power, and from 1892 to 1897 he did work hard, but only for himself, for the object of his ambition, the wardenship of the Kingston penitentiary. Advantage to the city—nothing. To James Henry Metcalfe—much.

In 1892 Mr. Harty was elected member for the city, and has sat as its representative at Toronto ever since. With what vastly different result to the city the following will show. Since Harty was returned in 1892 the Ontario legislature has undertaken and carried the following works and expenditures:

- (1) They have built a hospital for the insane at Rockwood at a cost of $32,000.
(2) They have put in an entirely new sewerage system at a cost of $10,000.
(3) They have built the long asked for east wing at a cost of $16,000. They have arranged to build a western wing at a similar cost.
(4) They have installed a new electrical plant, the work on which was done by Kingston workmen at a cost of $7,000.
(5) They have established the school of music here, at a cost of $28,000.
(6) They have established a school of agriculture or "dairy school," at a cost of $10,000.
(7) They have granted for the erection of the building for the school of music, which are now under construction, the sum of $100,000.

It was a broad and daring subject, for one who was never a hobo, which consisted of seven or eight players, four or five in front and the rest behind. A half back, corresponding to the Canadian quarter, plays at each end of the scrimmage. The quarters, corresponding to the Canadian halves, form a line of four or five men, stretching across the field, front and back. Mr. Baker hopes that the Canadian game will not be spoiled by the introduction of any form of the snap-back system.

Resigns His Pastorate. Rev. Dr. A. W. Richardson has decided to retire from the pastorate of the First Congregational church, and his resignation will be considered at a special meeting of the board of trustees this week. He will further pursue the study of medicine in England and Germany.

Church Paragraphs. Rev. Dr. Alexander Jackson, Madison avenue Presbyterian church, has accepted his resignation to his Cleveland parishioners. Archbishop Gauthier preached a very eloquent sermon in St. Mary's cathedral yesterday morning. A large congregation listened to the discourse. Rev. McCreedy, minister in St. Andrew's church, Ottawa, on Sunday, in the absence of Rev. Dr. Herridge, who has been granted leave of absence on account of ill health.

To Start Business Classes. Herbert A. Snowden, specialist in commercial work, and a final year's man in arts at Queen's college, has been engaged to instruct the new commercial class at the Y.M.C.A. The subjects taught will be penmanship, business arithmetic, shorthand and English. These classes will open on Monday, the 20th inst. This is the first attempt in educational work that has been made by the Kingston association.

INCIDENTS OF THE DAY.

Newspapers Picked Up By Reporters on Their Routines.

Dr. Daly, dentist, left today for England on a pleasure trip. He will be away three months. Capt. Esford, of the steamer Kingston, is in Brockville undergoing special treatment for his eyes.

Saturday afternoon Mrs. (Sergeant) Taylor, Bagot street, had the misfortune to fall down stairs breaking an ankle. Contractor McLeod says that the opera house was put up in twelve weeks; just twelve weeks of fine weather favored the contractor.

A number of bets, five to two, have been placed on Harty. On the other hand, one man has wagered that Metcalfe will have 300 of a majority. Provincial detective Greer, Toronto, will be brought to the city to work on the body-snatching case, the police having failed in their efforts to locate the bodies or arrest the robbers.

Secretary Lawrence and president Chown, of the local Y.M.C.A., will attend the big convention to be held in Berlin on January 23rd to 26th. Dr. Herald, Miss Elin, Pritchard and W. H. Pritchard are among the Kingstonians to take part in a Knights of the Maccabees concert at St. Andrew's on the 22nd inst. Dr. Herald will preside.

The Century's "Year of American Humor" continues to present fresh contributions. Two brand-new contributors to magazine literature in this field are the February number, are Miss Beatrice Howard, in one of her well-known monologues, "The Book Agent," and John Charles McNeill, a new writer of negro dialect from North Carolina.

The buildings which the university of Pennsylvania proposes to erect within two years will involve an expenditure of nearly $2,000,000. The new engineering department and machinery will cost almost half a million, and the medical laboratories another half million. The gymnasium and improvement of Franklin Field will also require about $500,000. About $150,000 will be spent on new buildings for veterinary medicine.

PREFACHED TWICE ABOUT IT.

Some Would Not Allow Sermons On The Subject.

At the evening service in Chalmers church, Rev. Mr. Macgillivray referred to the request made by the Kingston Ladies' day alliance that all the ministers should preach yesterday on the dangers threatening the Sabbath, and the necessity of preserving that holy day. He intimated that some of the local ministers refused to preach on the subject, or to allow other ministers occupying their pulpits yesterday morning to do so. "I preached on," said Mr. Macgillivray, "I preached on the subject at the morning service in another church, and this evening I again preach upon it."

A Talk On "Tramps." The best boys' meeting of the season was held in the Y.M.C.A. building on Saturday night. The address on "Tramps," delivered by the resourceful secretary, was one that the boys took a great interest in, and their hearts were melted.

Church Paragraphs. Rev. Dr. Alexander Jackson, Madison avenue Presbyterian church, has accepted his resignation to his Cleveland parishioners. Archbishop Gauthier preached a very eloquent sermon in St. Mary's cathedral yesterday morning. A large congregation listened to the discourse.

During service in the Sunday school of the Methodist church, Ottawa, yesterday, fourteen pupils were awarded prizes in the form of suitable books, for not having missed classes nor being late once during the past year.

Rev. E. J. Bridgeman, who for the past three years has been pastor of the Baptist church at Lakefield, has accepted a call to the Union Baptist church at Kingston. On February 1st, Mr. Bridgeman enters on his new pastorate.

In the course of his sermon in St. Mary's cathedral, at high mass, yesterday, archbishop Gauthier made reference to the recent desecration at St. Mary's cemetery, in St. Andrew's church, Ottawa, on Sunday, in the absence of Rev. Dr. Herridge, who has been granted leave of absence on account of ill health.

The Christian Guardian in speaking of the restriction note in the dispatch line, says: "The real question at issue is whether the best results are achieved in attaining the high spirituality of the New Testament by advising and administering our members, or by commanding them, and whether in commanding them on these matters, we have full and sufficient New Testament authority. If we approach the problem from this basis, the discussion will be good."

Voted As They Pleased. Capt. Gaskin desires the Whig to state that during his thirty-two years' connection with the Montreal transportation company, the employees of that concern were never urged to vote in any particular way. They were told to support whatever political candidate they desired. Never was there any forcing.

To Run To Kingston. Captain Walter L. and William H. Vinger will go into partnership in the steamboat business on the St. Lawrence. Their fleet will consist of the Sophia, Captain Vinger, Idler and a new yacht to be purchased. The trips of the fleet will be over the "island route," and daily to Kingston.

Hon. William Paterson will speak for Warton at Sydenham this evening, and at Tanworth to-morrow evening.

OLD QUEEN'S MAN'S IDEA

REGARDING CHANGES IN CANADIAN RUGBY.

Suggests Some Form of Modernized English Style—"Bob" Eilbeck's Baseball Days—Ottawa Defence of R.M.C. Players.

Wellingtons defeated Varsity in Toronto on Saturday night by 11 goals to 3. The losers are the team which the Telegram declares will put McGill and Queen's out of business!

Lawyer Emanuel M. Friend's efforts to get a bill through the New York state legislature which will legalize boxing in that state, has brought joy to the fight-hungry sports at Quebec, with the week of a grand bowling tournament open to the United States and Canada. The contest will be held on two of the best bowling alleys in Canada.

Winnipeg people do not think there are seven hockeyists in the world to-day who can defeat the Victorias, of Winnipeg. That's all nonsense. Dozens of teams can be picked in Ontario and Quebec that could beat the champions.

Montreal Shamrocks unexpectedly defeated the Ottawa hockey team at Montreal on Saturday night, 2 to 1. The Sunday Sun says the Ottawa players "went home with their tails tucked between their legs as tight as a yellow dog that has collided with a trolley car."

George B. Ketcham, owner and driver of Crescous, announces that during the winter months, more than $70,000 in purses and as money for exhibition purposes given in various parts of the country by Crescous. The horse has been taken to the Ketcham farm, Toledo, Ohio, where he will remain during the winter.

Toronto Mail Empire: "Bob" Eilbeck, who is now enjoying the emoluments which appertain to the office of sheriff of the Yukon, was a well-known figure in the baseball world of western Ontario in the '80's. He was one of the organizers of the professional club that represented Kingston at that period, and which was not outclassed by the famous Maple Leafs of Guelph.

Buffalo Enquirer: "Our Canadian cousins are not satisfied with having champion oarsmen, champion amateur boxers, champion hockey players, champion lacrosse athletes, and scores of fast horses, but are now entering in the local bowling tournament, and represented by a team from Toronto, and it is claimed that the same team has every good chance to defeat a large number of the representative teams of the United States.

The hockey team sent by Queen's to Pittsburgh, Pa., last week, was not nearly as strong as the college's teams which visited that United States city during the past two years, and yet the Kingston bunch held its own. It must be borne in mind that the Pittsburgh teams of Canadians have been playing matches for the past month and are on their own ice. Queen's had little or no practice and were playing against a team from home.

W. C. Baker, formerly of Queen's champion rugby team, and now of Toronto Globe, advocating some form of the modernized English scrimmage, which consists of seven or eight players, four or five in front and the rest behind. A half back, corresponding to the Canadian quarter, plays at each end of the scrimmage. The quarters, corresponding to the Canadian halves, form a line of four or five men, stretching across the field, front and back. Mr. Baker hopes that the Canadian game will not be spoiled by the introduction of any form of the snap-back system.

W. C. Baker, secretary of the recreation committee of the Royal military college, Kingston, has written to O. H. A. secretary Beaton, seeking reinstatement of the hockey club. Affidavits are submitted by those players who offered, they having composed the team that went to Pittsburgh: Carr Harris, Degell, Louder, Ramsay, Biggs, Trotter, Waldron. The affidavits state that the cadets did not know until after the game that Horn and Peel were on the opposing team, that they didn't know Horn and Peel were suspended by the O. H. A., and that, even if they had known, they would have been compelled to carry out the business engagement they had entered into.

Alderman P. B. Ross, Ottawa, a trustee of the Stanley cup, speaking of the suspension of the Kingston Royal military college team for playing with professionals in Pittsburgh, says: "The statement of the Kingston captain seems to me a most fair one, and if it is substantiated the team should be reinstated. He claims, as I understand it, that he and his team were unaware that any of the Pittsburgh men were professionals, and that the team played under his instructions and left all arrangements to him. If this is so the cadets have a grievance, as in the event of the O.H.A. suspending any players they should send notification of such suspension or suspension to every team in their association, and then the clubs knowingly or without proper precaution playing against these men would have no excuse. It is not to be expected that a club will be guided as to the amateur standing of a player solely because the newspapers make certain statements."
