

Paine's Celery Compound Saves the Life of a Montreal Lady.

A Work Done that Doctors and the Use of Ordinary Medicines Could Not Accomplish.

Mrs. L. Gault Says She Is Positively Cured

Every weak, sleepless, nervous and discouraged woman should be aware of the blessed truth that Paine's Celery Compound is the only true health-giver. If other treatments have failed to give you health, let your faith be centered on Paine's Celery Compound. It cures nervous prostration, insomnia, sleeplessness and irritability, serious troubles that often lead to insanity. Mrs. A. Legault, St. Andre St., Montreal, says: "I cannot help telling all sufferers what Paine's Celery Compound has done for me. I would have been a lost woman had I continued six months longer in suffering. My case was a bad one. Headache, insomnia, nervous prostration and loss of memory made up my troubles, and I feared they would lead to insanity. I went to several doctors who treated me with all their skill, but I did not get any better. My friends advised me to try Paine's Celery Compound. The first bottle gave me little relief, but the second began to work miraculously on my nerves. I continued using the compound, and after using nine bottles I can positively say I am cured."

LAW NEEDS CHANGING. The board of education is practically without a head and government for the time being. The old board held its last meeting a week ago, and closed its business. The new board will not meet until the first Wednesday in February, (the 5th), and only then for organization. Meanwhile the schools are left to the officers and teachers and these are without power to do anything should emergency arise. The law should be amended so that one week after the old board has met the new one shall be called and proceed to business. The changes in the personnel of membership depend upon the council, and its meeting quickly follows the election, so that there need be no delay in taking over the business of the schools on that account. Does any interest suffer? Everything in the way of business is at a stand still. The class work may go on as it was ordered by the school management committee of last year, and it may not. There is no supervision on board. Such a condition of things should not continue. The school law needs amending, in several particulars, and the sooner the improvements set in the better.

HOW WILL IT END? Richard Croker has sense enough to realize that he cannot, under present conditions, reconstruct Tammany hall and lead it back to victory. That will take time, and Mr. Croker cannot remain long enough away from Wantage and the English race course to undertake the task. He has been more reserved than usual since the defeat in the municipal election, but he has been thinking hard. As a result of his meditation he announces that he has retired from the leadership of the hall, and that his mantle and authority have fallen on Lewis Nixon, a young man, comparatively speaking, and unknown until Mayor Van Wyck brought him out of his obscurity. He is a man of means. He made his money primarily and largely out of shipbuilding. Mr. Croker saw how skilfully he handled himself and others as the head of the East River Bridge Commission, and picked him out, to the exclusion of all others, for the difficult task that is before him. He is a born leader, a man of marked ability and administrative capacity, and, seemingly, the man that Tammany Hall needs. But whoever heard of a leader being chosen as he has been? Croker ruled the hall like a tyrant, and used its power corruptly. Nixon is an honest man, and does not want the office for its emoluments. The amazing feature is that the hall will accept Croker's declaration in this matter, and the question is, what will the upshot be? Will Nixon top up the hall, and make it a power again. Or will it drag him to its level and ruin him? The political world will wait and see.

SPEAKING HIS MIND. Mr. Chamberlain may not be the ideal cabinet minister, but he is a man of courage. He has offended many in his time, and they have undertaken to flagellate him and failed. A critic has described him as an uncompromising opponent, as one who enters every forensic battle with the mental equipment which gives him the victory.

The German chancellor had no occasion to use the coarse and offensive language towards Mr. Chamberlain to which he had recourse on a late occasion. But, whatever he aimed at he failed to frighten or intimidate the colonial secretary, as his last speech made at Birmingham, has plainly shown.

"What I have said I have said," he remarked, with an all-too-evident emphasis of style, "I withdraw nothing. I qualify nothing. I defend nothing. As I read history no British minister has ever served his country faithfully and been popular abroad. I therefore make allowance for foreign criticism. I am responsible to my sovereign and my countrymen only."

The English press very unanimously endorse Mr. Chamberlain's attitude, and the Times has quoted the German press to show how the British sovereign and his government have been persistently and shamefully lampooned. In the past the European powers have been very jealous of each other, and very silent on passing events lest there should be a disruption in the relation that existed. Mr. Chamberlain points to the fact that England has, at times, stood alone and in defence of its power and dignity, and it may have to do this again. It is this independence of all concern and all combination that is challenging attention, and Mr. Chamberlain's idea is that it shall be kept constantly in mind.

There was a great scramble for the board of control in Toronto. Reason—there is a larger salary attached to the office and some people like a little pocket money.

EDITORIAL VIEWS.

Did the Mail say that a certain French candidate's election was imperilled because Mr. Tarte said he was loyal to Great Britain? If it did it needs regulating.

In Quebec conservative touters are blaming Sir Wilfrid Laurier because he is not doing enough for the French. In Ontario the party has a grievance because the French are too much in evidence.

The Manitoba prohibitory liquor law is not very much admired now that it has been closely examined. It only prohibits the consumption of liquor where it is sold. Only that, and nothing more.

The New York reform party is moving for a repeal of the Raines' law, so that liquor can be sold in saloons and hotels of New York from 1 to 11 p.m. It is beginning to look as if Tammany Hall is not the only party that needs regeneration.

Canada is too sparsely settled, in rural sections, to expect much from the consolidation of school sections, conveyance of pupils, and grading of them in central schools. Like the free rural mail delivery it is a little in advance of requirements.

Miss Maud Gonne—whose name is suggestive of a transposition, gone mad—calls certain Dublin aldermen cowards and traitors. Why? They welcomed the queen to Dublin in the year before her death. Nowhere else than in England or Ireland would such talk be tolerated.

Senator Scott, looking away into the future, sees the time when the Canadian population beyond Lake Superior will be quite equal to what it is in the east. Then an agitation may arise for the removal of the seat of government. It's quite likely. Indeed it is one of the certain contingencies of later years.

Profontaine is to have opposition for the mayoralty of Montreal in the person of Dr. Lachapelle. The mayor refused to give way to an English-speaking candidate, so the English have agreed to fight him with one of his own kind, nationally, and his name will be no more Profontaine after the 1st, but Dennis.

The feeling is growing for an election of aldermen, like the mayor, by the vote of the city. The ward system is credited with all the weaknesses of the city government. It is held that if that city had a voice in the selection of men, and a smaller number, the quality of the elect would be improved.

Good, Old King Coffee. People don't realize what a savage tyrant coffee is. It gets the upper hand and one of the reasons it maintains its power is that people do not believe that coffee is doing the deadly work, but they wake up once in a while.

A lady in Norfolk, Va., writes an interesting experience. "Some months ago a friend who was calling asked if I wanted to read a sweet letter, and as I read it she brushed her tears away. It was from a beautiful Christian woman, the mother of her husband, saying she had relinquished all hopes and was quietly awaiting the coming of the grim reaper."

The husband sent for his mother who was just able to be moved. When I called I found she was suffering from a most aggravated stomach and bowel trouble, being in pain most of her time, and she could hardly retain enough nourishment to keep her alive although she was always hungry and craving for food, but not daring to touch it because of the agony it brought her.

I found she was a coffee drinker and insisted that she quit the coffee and take Postum Food Coffee with some Grape-Nuts Breakfast Food. I had gone through a wonderful experience myself and knew the value of both Postum and Grape-Nuts.

I went right to work and made her a cup of Postum the first thing, which she drank and liked it wonderfully well. She made the change and began to improve in a few days. She has gradually gotten better and better, and, of course, I have been much interested in her recovery.

A short time ago I met her daughter-in-law and asked how her mother was getting on. She said, "Wonderful! Well. She is a new woman. She has entirely recovered her health and spirits, and just to think it was by the simple act of leaving off that poisonous coffee and taking on Postum Food Coffee and Grape-Nuts Breakfast Food."

This letter was written by Mrs. M. L. Eggleston, of Post Norfolk, Va. There is a wonderful lesson that thousands of people can learn, that of leaving off narcotics and poisonous drugs like coffee and using plain, natural liquid and solid food containing the elements the Creator intended for man's use.

MADE CAREFUL ANALYSIS.

SAYS WOMEN TEACHERS ARE PRONE TO INSANITY.

Professor Zimmer of Berlin Gives Startling Results of Inquiries in Asylums.

Berlin, Jan. 15.—Prof. Zimmer, whose mental diseases among women have been already noticed, returns to the subject with a careful analysis of the mental conditions of women school teachers. He has drawn his information from all the asylums in Germany, Austria, Switzerland and Russia, and found that in every eighty-five female patients there is one school teacher.

In Prussia there is one teacher to every 350 women of the population. It seems to follow, therefore, that mental disorders among teachers are four times as numerous here as they ought to be. The case is still worse with those young teachers. Among them the cases of insanity are ten times more numerous than they ought to be.

Prof. Zimmer says: "If telephone girls or sales girls show signs of mental disturbances it is not to be wondered at, for their occupations are hardly those that a woman can call suitable to her sex, but in teaching, which is usually considered a suitable employment for women, what the results are so disastrous, there is every reason for serious consideration."

Prof. Zimmer is sure that in other countries, notably England and the United States, where women are more widely occupied in business and in professions than in Germany, scientifically-collected statistics will show the same melancholy results.

FUEL MADE FROM CLAY.

Treated Chemically, Burns With a White, Strong Heat.

Omaha, Jan. 15.—E. J. Hoffman, a Chicago and North-western railroad engineer, who retired from his vocation because of ill-health, has invented in his little hat factory, where he ekes out a living, a fuel that he asserts is composed of clay to the extent of ninety per cent. He says that one day while at work in the shop, there was accidentally discovered by him a peculiar action of certain chemicals and gasoline. Eagerly he followed up the clue with numberless experiments, until finally he was enabled to give to the world a fuel, he declares, cheaper than coal and better than coal.

The fuel burns in a stove, grate or furnace readily; it creates no smoke, no cinders, and burns to white ashes, twenty-five pounds of the fuel producing only a quantity of ashes that may be held in the palm of the hand. In the combustion the fire literally consumes its own ashes, and a ton of fuel will go further than two tons of the best coal, producing five times the amount of heat that coal creates. One pound of the strange mixture will suffice to keep the kitchen range hot for one hour.

A recent test of Hoffman's clay fuel in the furnace of a large boiler, developed the fact that 250 pounds of it created thirty per cent. more steam, and lasted longer in burning than 600 pounds of first quality steam coal.

The invention, it is predicted, is destined to solve the fuel problem for the whole world, inasmuch as the product may be manufactured 1,000 miles from an oil-producing locality—for about $2 a ton. Near an oil field it can be made for one-fifth of that price approximately.

For factories and manufacturing establishments it is proposed to have a plant at or near the furnace doors. Dirt will be hauled, treated in a few moments, and the fireman shovels his fuel under the boilers. With a draught on can be produced a heat the like of which has never been secured from coal or, with all draughts closed, one may have a glowing fire not unlike that of anthracite coal in a base-burner. For household use it is proposed to subject lumps in moulds to a pressure of 1,000 pounds.

Two Chicago-Omaha railroads will, on February 1st, begin using Hoffman's fuel for a thorough test in the locomotives. On this date also the immense packing-house plants of Armour, Cudahy & Swain, and South Omaha, will test the invention.

To Have Settled Pastorate.

Cape Vincent, N.Y., Jan. 15.—The Presbyterian church congregation has extended a call to Rev. J. Elmer Rossell. It is now about forty years since this church, though Presbyterian in form of government, has had the pastoral relation established with a minister. From year to year ministers have been employed as available, until many did not know the character or advantages of the settled pastorate.

The Prices On Goods Marked in Plain Figures

Is always satisfactory to buyers. It does away with any doubts as to the correctness of price. At no time is it more satisfactory than during a reduction price sale. You know that there is no room for humbug. No going up to come down. The price stands right out, what it was and what it is. During this January Clearing Sale of ours you can see that any reduction named is exactly as stated. That's something to take into consideration. It makes buying here safer than it is in stores who use some sort of a private mark. It sometimes happens with them that a reduced price is just the same as the original price was. We've heard of that sort of thing. Have you? It pays to buy from a one-price house, who mark goods in plain figures. A few Women's Coats and Children's Ulsters still left. They're just half price now.
