THE BRITISH PARLIAMENT.

A GORGEOUS SPECTACLE OF TINSELLED PAGEANTRY

Seen In London To-Day—Ceremonies of Full State—King Edward Received Everywhere With Acclamations.

London, Jan. 16.—Never has the present generation of Londoners witnessed a more gorgeous spectacle of tinselled pageantry than the procession and ceremonies attendant today on the opening of the second session of king Edward's parliament. The programme carried out was practically the same as that of last February, but owing to the fact that court and country are now out of mourning for queen Victoria there was a display of color and splendor totally absent from the ceremonies on the previous occasion.

The ceremonies were those of full state. The state coach in which their majesties rode to Westminster was a very gaudy affair, consisting almost entirely of plate glass with gilding and other ornamentation and a crown on top. The route was through St. James' park to the Horse Guards, to Whitehall and thence to the houses of parliament. The entire route was crowded with sightseers, the populace turning out in greater force than on lord mayor's day.

The appearance of the king was the signal for vociferous applause. Arriving at Westminster the king was escorted to the private chamber set aside for the purpose where he donned his state robes. Inside the house of lords the brilliancy of the scene defied description. The arrangements of the lord chamberlain and his assistants for handling the crowd were so good as to excite comment and the rush and crush witnessed last February were happily avoided. The lower floor was occupied by the members of parliament, while the various galleries were filled with a glittering array of feminine beauty. Following the usual solemn ceremonies prescribed by law and custom the speech from the throne was read. The speech was of considerable length, dealing with a multitude of questions affecting the public interest and reflecting the views of the government.

Work Before Parliament.

London, Jan. 16.—The session of parliament which begins to-day is likely to prove one of the most interesting of recent years. Before its end the whole status of the liberal party is likely to be altered and lord Rosebery's future determined. It is believed that the imperialist leaders, together with a few unionists, will flock to lord Rosebery's standard and imitate an organization with the hope of obtaining control of all the liberal elements prior to the general election. Temporarily this diversion of the opposition will greatly facilitate the government's programme, the chief item of which is a sweeping reform of parliamentary procedure.

Among other important features of the session will be a thorough investigation of Gen. Buller's dismissal from the army. This, doubtless, once more will involve the nation in a whirlpool of bitter controversy.

AN ANTEDILUVIAN MAN.

Glad That The Art Has Been Irrevocably Lost.

By a Banker.

In the British museum, London, is now exhibited the recently discovered embalmed body of a man, supposed to be one of the aboriginal inhabitants of the earth. Judging from the implements found in the sepulchure, he lived during the stone age of Egypt, and therefore long before civilized times of Moses and the great Pharaohs. The body, which is not an enwrapped mummy, is in an extraordinary state of preservation, thousands upon thousands of years have apparently rolled on without leaving their mark upon it; the complexion is fair and ruddy, altogether different from the brown hue of the Egyptian of the present day, the cheeks exhibiting almost a glow of health, while the curly hair is a bright auburn; the man having apparently died in the prime of virile life. So effectively has the body been preserved that, standing a short distance away, it might easily be mistaken for a living man.

And as Egyptian civilization was initiated very early in the history of the world though of course not at that absurdly remote period at which the puerile imagination of some would place it—it may fairly be assumed that that inanimate figure was one of the very first inhabitants of the earth; perhaps even contemporary with Methuselah, or Cain, or even with Adam himself. As we gaze therefore at that manly, though lifeless form, we are possibly in the presence of one who had heard the father of our race describe the wondrous beauties and delights of Eden, the melancholy recital of the fall and its consequences, and the dazzling brilliancy of the Cherubim who with flaming sword guarded the entrance of that sacred site.

How fortunate for mankind that the art of preserving the human body in this perfect manner was not handed down to posterity by the few survivors of those antediluvians. How would the agony of parting with those whom we love which, as we now commit dust to dust, ashes to ashes, kind nature soon gradually assuages—be indefinitely prolonged if, instead, we embalmed our lost ones and placed them in glass cases, or if the weird invention of that Italian scientist who discovered the means of transforming a corpse into a marble statue were generally adopted, and, instead of committing those gone before to the oblivion of the tomb, we placed them upon rows of pedestals in our halls. The very thought of such a process is altogether eerie and repellent.

And if, from the very beginning of time the custom of embalming and preserving the dead, instead of burying or cremating, had been universally observed, what a world of dead would this earth of ours have been. Thousands upon thousands of millions of unburied corpses; like that embalmed antediluvian unchanged and unchanging; many thousandfold outnumbering the living a veritable charnel house of lifeless humanity.

But a time will come when all those untold myriads will, at the sound of the archangel's trump, in a moment of time rend open the tomb and start again into fulness of life. And then will the angels sever the wicked from the righteous, and all will then stand before the resplendent rainbow-circled throne of God to receive judgment, according to their deeds. Then shall those whose misdeeds have been expiated by their Saviour's blood be adjudged worthy of eternal joys; while those who would not live the life of the righteous shall be condemned to the shades of remorse and darkness.

The Danger of Low Vitality.

Severe Colds, Pneumonia, Consumption Find Easy Victims in Persons Whose Health is in Poor Condition—Dr. Chase's Nerve Food.

At no season of the year is a low condition of health more likely to lead to serious results than at the present time. With vitality running low, the blood thin and nerves exhausted, one is made susceptible to colds and catarrhs on the slightest exposure. Gradually a persistent cough, hawking and spitting, is established, and each severe cold is accompanied by chills, fever, pains in the chest, and sometimes spitting of blood.

This is the short and deadly road that leads to pneumonia, consumption and other deadly lung troubles, and the only sure method of avoiding them is to keep the general health just as near to high-water mark as possible all the time. It is because of its remarkable influence as a systembuilder that Dr. Chase's Nerve Food has come to be so universally used as a means of increasing vitality and raising the standard of health.

There is no lesson which experience more strongly emphasizes than the importance of keeping the body well filled with health-giving vitality. When a weakened, run-down system is attacked by pneumonia, consumption, or even a heavy cold, there is small chance of ever shaking it off. Dr. Chase's Nerve Food instils into the blood the most potent blood-forming and nerve-invigorating elements which have ever been found in nature. You cannot possibly help but be benefited by this preparation, and even in long-standing cases of extreme debility and prostration there is good hope for recovery by the persistent use of this great food cure.

It is not wise to neglect the health at any time. Do not wait until you are completely exhausted and worn out before appealing to Dr. Chase's Nerve Food. Build up the system while yet there is some foundation to build on. Put new, rich blood in the shrivelled arteries, new vital energy into the nerves, and add firm flesh and solid muscles to the body, in order that in the day of trial, when attacked by disease, there may be some chance for fighting the great foe to human happiness.

Should you find yourself suffering from a cough, bronchitis, asthma, or any similar trouble, we can recommend you to use Dr. Chase's Syrup of Linseed and Turpentine, believing it to be the most thoroughly effective treatment that you can possibly obtain. It has time and again proven its power over asthma, and affords the greatest relief even in the most serious cases of pneumonia and consumption.

While Dr. Chase's Syrup of Linseed and Turpentine is aiding expectoration, clearing the choked-up air passages, and healing and soothing the torn and ulcerated linings of the throat and bronchial tubes, do not lose sight of the value of Dr. Chase's Nerve Food as a means of restoring lost strength and vigor. It is a unique preparation of surprising effect as a blood and nerve restorative. Fifty cents a box, six boxes for $2.50. At all dealers, or Edmanson, Bates & Co., Toronto.

Coronation Day.

June 26th is not any haphazard choice for coronation day. It was upon Thursdays George IV., William IV., Charles I., James II., William and Mary, and the late sovereign, were crowned. In the long line of them there necessarily are exceptions, but their cases show immediate uniformity in the precedent of Thursday. It has the further advantage of both allowing ample start and finish for the numerous festivals planned for the great solemnity. Henceforth the 26th of June is designed for the calendar as coronation day, about which its felicity of midsummer will not escape notice.

Get Comfort.

There is little comfort in life when a person is afflicted with pain. Donald Babcock, farmer, Harrowsmith, Ont., was a sufferer from rheumatism for years. When advised to take Dr. Hall's Rheumatic Cure he did so, and two bottles of this wonderful preparation, with two boxes of Climax Iron Tonic Pills, completely cured him. He has not had a twinge of pain since and attends to his duties regularly. This great blood purifier is put up in bottles containing ten days' treatment. Price 50c. at Wade's drug store.

Iowa's New Governor.

NEWS FROM OUR NEIGHBORS

WHAT OUR CORRESPONDENTS HAVE TO TELL US.

The Tidings From Various Points In Eastern Ontario—What People Are Doing and What They Are Saying.

Sale Of a Factory.

Sydenham, Jan. 15.—After repeated meetings the directors of the Sydenham cheese factory have sold out. The purchaser is Mr. Cochran, cheese maker of last season. R. Meek and A. Shaw announced to address a missionary meeting in the Methodist church, Sabbath evening last failed to put in an appearance. An E. L. of C. E. convention will be held here in the afternoon and evening of Tuesday, 21st inst. Dr. Crews, Toronto, will address the convention. The choir of the Brock street Methodist church will give a concert here on the evening of the 23rd inst. Frank Harvey, son of W. B. Harvey, has gone, we understand, into the insurance business.

Salem Signals.

Salem, Jan. 14.—Our school reopened on the 6th, with Miss Brash as teacher. Mrs. Thomas Asselstine is dangerously ill. B. and W. Croskery returned from visiting in Cushendall. The Presbyterian prayer meeting was held at the home of D. Laidlaw last Tuesday evening. P. Nolan has resigned our factory. W. Taylor has been engaged as maker for the coming season. We understand Mr. Nolan intends farming this year. A number of our young people attended the party at J. McComish's Friday evening, held in honor of his brother, Matthew, for a number of years in British Columbia. Visitors: Mr. Reid, Miss Smith, Elginburg, and Mr. Taylor, Westport, at Mrs. Ewing's; W. Cameron at W. Croskery's; J. Riley, Bedford, at M. Mulvil's; John and Miss Rose McCue, Kingston, at P. McCue's; A. Brown, Chantry, at Mrs. Bateman's.

Directors Of Public Library.

Mississippi, Jan. 14.—Mrs. Frodsham and Mrs. Robert Allan visited Harper's Corners for a few days last week. Mrs. Annie Young left for her home at Zealand on Saturday. We hear the chime of the new school bell these days and hope the boys and girls are always "on time" now. School re-opened on Thursday, January 8th, with S. Scofield, Kingston, as teacher. Master Bert Clark, quite ill of diabetes, is progressing very favorably under the treatment of Dr. Wood, Kingston. Mr. and Mrs. T. J. Hampton, Lillie's Mill, spent January 8th with their mother and father here. The meeting of the directors of the public library was held in Minto hall, Friday night and the officers were all re-elected for another year, the only change being in librarian. S. Scofield being appointed for that office and F. Clark assistant. A big spread was on last night in the Foresters' lodge room, it being installation of officers.

A Foot Amputated.

Matawatchan, Jan. 13.—T. Harrison, in splitting wood, cut his foot; the wound did not heal, and gave him much pain. Dr. Graham was called and advised sending him to the hospital at Kingston. His wife has received word that the doctors there found it necessary to amputate his foot. Much sympathy is felt for him here, as he was in humble circumstances and supported his family by his daily labor. The five-year-old son of A. Thomson died of scarlet fever on January 6th; the rest of Mr. Thomson's family are also ill. Dr. Graham is in attendance. Miss Maggie Goddin, Griffith, returned home from Renfrew suffering from diphtheria. The house was promptly closed and placarded by the board of health. George McLellan is home from the shanty, ill. Walter McFayden is also on the sick list. Miss Mary Ferguson has gone to Renfrew to visit friends there. James Halliday, bush ranger for the crown, is making his annual trip amongst the lumber camps.

Happy Times At Verona.

Verona, Jan. 14.—A very pretty aftermath took place last Thursday night at William Craig's country house, "Craigalea," at which a large number congratulated the host's son and his bride, who were married about two weeks ago. The bride, attired in a costume of navy blue elaborately trimmed with cream satin and lace, looked very pretty. The bride, a complete stranger to all, received her guests in a winning way. The guests, numbering about sixty, enjoyed themselves in different ways. Music for dancing was furnished by William Craig, the laird of Glenburnie, assisted by Grant and Asselstine, who played basso accompaniment. Another pleasing event took place in Bedford Roman Catholic church, Tuesday, when Morris Traynor led to the altar Miss Julia Kinahan, eldest daughter of William Kinahan. The happy couple left for Fulton, N.Y. On their return they will take up residence on his farm, near Murvale. Neil and Miss Maggie Took, accompanied by Mr. and Miss May and Miss Hinchey, of Tamworth, were guests at Joseph Percy's last Sunday. Revs. Messrs. Richard and Miller's meetings in the Methodist church are well attended. M. Davy has a number of hands employed taking out timber at Fourteen Island Lake.

A Good Thing.

German Syrup is the special prescription of Dr. A. Boschee, a celebrated German physician, and is acknowledged to be one of the most fortunate discoveries in medicine. It quickly cures coughs, colds and all lung troubles of the severest nature, removing, as it does, the cause of the affection and leaving the parts in a strong and healthy condition. It is not an experimental medicine, but has stood the test of years, giving satisfaction in every case, which its rapidly increasing sale every season confirms. Two million bottles sold annually. Boschee's German Syrup was introduced in the United States in 1868, and is now sold in every town and village in the civilized world. Three doses will relieve any ordinary cough. Price 75c.

"Tis not in mortals to command success, Shakespeare says, but to deserve it. Blue Ribbon Ceylon Tea has done both.

"Earl Russell communicated to the College of Physicians that he received a despatch from Her Majesty's Council at Manila to the effect that Cholera has been raging fearfully, and that the only REMEDY of any service was CHLORODYNE.—See Lancet, 1st December, 1864.

CAUTION—BEWARE OF PIRACY AND IMITATIONS.

CAUTION—Vice Chancellor Sir W. Page Wood stated that DR. J. COLLIS BROWNE was undoubtedly the inventor of CHLORODYNE; that the whole story of the defendant Freeman was deliberately untrue, which he regretted to say had been sworn to.—See Times, July 13th, 1864.
