Scramble Delayed Royal Procession to Parliament.

London, Jan. 20.—The punctuality of King Edward in keeping his appointments is proverbial. It came therefore, as a great surprise when the royal procession to the house of parliament on Thursday started behind time. It seems that the king was not to blame. When he drove to Buckingham palace he found no one ready to receive him for some minutes.

When at length queen Alexandra came out, the large robes of pearls which she was wearing broke, and immediately all the court functionaries were busy scrambling on the ground collecting the stones.

Killed at A Crossing.

Eric, Pa., Jan. 20.—A fatality occurred at the Buffalo road crossing of the Nickel Plate railway, one mile west of Harbor Creek, at an early hour yesterday morning, when Jacob Eddler and James Cooney, two prominent residents of Harbor Creek, were struck and instantly killed by a west-bound freight train.

HOW THEY WORK PLANS

The Boers Know Every Hiding Place

DIFFICULT TO OVERTAKE

AND GUARD THE BRITISH SOLDIERS FROM CAPTURE.

Prisoners Are Relieved of Their Clothing and Sent Naked, Back to Camp—Steyns Is Located—Cheered For Noble, Local Canada.

Ladybrand, Orange River Colony, Jan. 19.—Six yeomen, belonging to Maj. Heath's commando, were captured Friday. They were stripped of their clothing and sent back to camp naked. Naturally, every precaution is taken to prevent these small captives, but the mountainous, rocky nature of the country provides innumerable hiding places for the Boers, which fact makes it exceedingly difficult to guard against them. Frequently the British flank guards pass out of sight of the main column, disappearing into the hills, whereupon the Boers come out of their hiding places surround and capture them, the column at the time not being aware that the captures have been made. The Boers, who know every path, then proceed to other hiding places, and repeat the operation. Ten British soldiers came in the other day without a shred of clothing the Boers, having relieved them of it, together with their horses, rifles and ammunition.

Small batches of prisoners are arriving daily from the camps operating near by. Maj. Heath captured six Boers north of Kurensburg, where heavy firing was heard yesterday.

Nations report that ex-president Steyn was at Morgan's Dam, on Thursday.

Scheepers Executed.

Graaf Reniet, Cape Colony, Jan. 19.—Commandant Scheepers, a well-known Boer leader, who was captured last October while wounded, and who, after trial by court martial was sentenced to death, was executed yesterday.

At his trial Scheepers admitted killing a native spy, but denied six other murders with which he was charged. He had had strict orders from De Wet to punish all British subjects in the colony who had aided the British troops against the Boers, and to destroy government buildings, and therefore, he had burned down government offices and destroyed railways. He denied that he had exposed his prisoners to fire from their own comrades. He admitted that, on two occasions, he had flogged natives for reporting the presence of Boers on farms, but it was at the request of the farmers themselves that he had inflicted the punishment. De Wet's orders had been to treat such informants severely. On one occasion, the prisoner said, he only flogged a native scout, when, if he had acted up to De Wet's orders he would have shot him.

Cheered For Noble Canada.

London, Jan. 20.—A despatch from Wellington, New Zealand, says that a patriotic meeting, attended by thousands of persons, has passed a resolution approving Great Britain's conduct of the war in South Africa as "Chamberlain's relation foreign slanders. The mention of Chamberlain's name evoked cheers, and at the reference to "Noble, loyal Canada," the people rose and cheered.

J. G. Henderson writes the Times offering to pay £10,000 for the charges of inhumanity on the part of British troops in the South African war to be paid within six months. Treasurers of four London hospitals are named as arbiters. If Henderson loses, half the money is to be paid to the hospital in London, the rest to be divided between hospitals of Paris, Berlin, Brussels and Amsterdam.

Accuse Boer of Murder.

Cape Town, Jan. 19.—The Boer commander, Kritinger, captured at Hanover Road, Cape Colony, about a month ago, is charged with four murders, in addition to train wrecking and cruelty to prisoners.

Kritinger was the most successful Boer leader in guerrilla warfare in Cape Colony. It is asserted by some that he is really a Cape rebel and therefore a British subject, and as such deserves the fate of commandant Lottor, another Cape rebel hanged last October. On Christmas eve the Paris Rappal printed a despatch from Durban, Natal, stating that Gen. Louis Botha, the Boer commander-in-chief, was holding five British officers and had notified Lord Kitchener that if Kritinger was sentenced to death they would be shot.

To Have a Fine Library.

London, Jan. 20.—The Daily Mail says that Andrew Carnegie is forming a library at his residence, Skibo castle, Lord Acton, professor of history at Oxford university, will select the books. Mr. Carnegie having indicated the classes he desires to be represented. The books will all have special bindings. They will include one hundred volumes of speeches and an extensive set of the lives of British statesmen and of letters. The total number of volumes will probably be 5,000. The initial outlay will be £10,000.

G.T.B. Double Track.

Chicago, Jan. 20.—The management of the Grand Trunk has decided to have a double track all the way from Chicago to Montreal. A large portion of the system is now double-tracked, and the work will be prosecuted with vigor in filling up the gaps, the largest of which are on the Grand Trunk Western.

New Yorker Swapped His For Two Cows and Three Dogs.

Middletown, N.Y., Jan. 20.—Isaiah Peters and Henry Masters, who live on farms a few miles from here, came to this city Saturday, and hunting up a justice of the peace, asked him to draw up a contract by which Masters' wife might be transferred to Peters. The justice explained that he could not draft such a document, but asked for particulars as to the deal and Peters explained.

"It's this way, squire. My wife died two months ago and I'm tired of living alone. Mrs. Masters is a mighty fine woman, and a good housekeeper, and Masters don't really need her, because he's got a sister he can get to look after things for him. I made him an offer for her several days ago, and to give him two cows and three good dogs, and she's worth 'em."

Asked what Mrs. Masters said about being traded off, her lord and master answered: "Why, nothing, of course. We didn't ask her in the place like it, but she didn't kick when we told her that we made a deal."

Although disappointed at not being able to have a paper drawn that would make the transfer legally binding, Peters and Masters declared that they would make the swap on honor, and left town together to complete the trade.
