The survey ship Egret returned to port yesterday afternoon from a trip along the west coast of Vancouver Island and reports that at Clayquot, her officers found wreckage from the Condor which shows that the warship must have gone down or been smashed by heavy seas. The wreckage included a deck grating marked with a broad arrow of the British navy, a signal box recognized as one from a British warship, sheathing and part of a topmast. The Condor carried 130 officers and men and was in charge of commander Clifton Selater, R.N.

THE TEXT OF A TREATY Between Great Britain and Japan

IT HAS CAUSED SURPRISE

NO SUSPICION THAT ALLIANCE WAS PROPOSED.

Newspaper Comment is Hurried and Superficial. It Will Conduce to the Great Benefit of Trade—Actuated by Similar Views. London, Feb. 12.—The issuance, last night, of a parliamentary paper, giving the text of a treaty between Great Britain and Japan, for the preservation of China and Korea, came as a complete surprise in every quarter, there having been no suspicion that such an alliance was in contemplation. The text was issued so late that the newspaper comment is somewhat superficial and hurried. The Morning Post contends that the support of Great Britain and Japan ought to enable China to feel secure, and therefore to order its internal affairs so as to conduce to the great benefit of trade. The Standard is of the opinion that the treaty will not be apprehended by foreign powers.

The Times endorses the treaty by formulating a policy which threatens nobody. It believes that the agreement can tend only to promote a satisfactory understanding with Russia. In support of this view it asserts, upon what it says is unquestionable authority, that the relations between Great Britain and Russia have become regrettably impeded by the sequence of Muscovite anarchy, respecting the future of Manchuria. The Chronicle, liberal, says that the treaty profoundly affects the British policy. British isolation, splendid or otherwise, is forsaken for a dual alliance. The Daily News, calls the agreement sensational, and says it ends Great Britain's magnificent isolation with a pretty sudden check. The parliamentary paper covers a despatch sent by Lord Lansdowne, secretary of state for foreign affairs, January 30th, to the British minister at Tokio, Sir Claude M. Macdonald, and comprises a signed copy of the agreement. In explanation the paper says: "The agreement is for a dual alliance between Great Britain and Japan, which has been in close and uninterrupted communication, and has been in the past years, through the Boxer troubles, the Chinese empire should be preserved, and that there should be no disturbance of the territorial status quo whether in China or the adjoining regions."

TO MOVE REPLY.

To Address From Throne in the Senate. Ottawa, Feb. 12.—Senator F. L. Beland, of Montreal, will move the address in reply to the speech from the throne in the senate, and senator F. W. Thompson, of Fredericton, will second it. The writ for the election in Kamouraska is issued. The nomination is on February 25th, and the polling is to be on March 7th. It is not likely that there will be any opposition offered to Mr. Carroll's reelection.

Me Tarle, in addition to making extensive changes in the parliamentary buildings, has decided to give the commons a new carpet. The pattern differs somewhat from that which has been in use since Confederation. A letter from James S. Cartwright, of Yokohama, Japan, a former Canadian, to the trade and commerce department, says no real market has been made to get a market there for Canadian flour and wheat. "If," he says, "you could put me in touch with some big Manitoba millers who could supply us with the best quality of flour, I think we could develop this line, and I presume the same people would be able to take up the wheat business too."

Militia officers announce that officers of the active militia serving in South Africa may be "seconded" in their regiments, and if they so desire, and make official application to that effect. It is to be distinctly understood that seconded officers on their return to Canada will be superannuated in their regiments until a vacancy occurs to which they can be absorbed, and that while superannuated they cannot draw pay or assume command.

The marriage of Miss Beale, daughter of Mr. J. E. Ashville, to O. E. Culbert, barrister, took place today, at the home of the bride's father. Both young people are well known in the city and are popular.

The winner of the operation of the Great Eastern play bills and it is necessary a circular may be issued to the collectors of customs, telling them to be more careful in examining the bills which are brought in by the police. Powell received a large number of bills brought into Ottawa by a theatrical company and the agent protested, saying he had paid duty on the bills and should be allowed to show them. Bro. Wilson, Peterson will look into the matter.

CHANCE FOR THE CHURCH.

Minister Sees Converts In Coming Immigrants. Ottawa, Feb. 12.—Rev. Mr. Jeffrey, of Winnipeg, in an address at the meeting of the Anglican clerical guild here, said it was confidently expected in the west that there would be an influx next summer of from 75,000 to 100,000 farmers from the American Canadian north-west. The American farmers had sent agents to spy out the land, and the reports of these being favorable, they were arranging to purchase the land. He also stated that about half the Galicians, Roman Catholics, and the other half Greek Catholics. The former had priests of their own religious persuasion, but the Greek Catholics, without priests, and appeared to favor the purser of the Church of England, for when in need of spiritual advice, they called in Anglican clergymen. They could, he thought, be won over to the Anglican church in the course of a short time.

Wreck Of A Steamer.

Victoria, B.C., Feb. 12.—The steamer Bertha, of the Alaska commercial company, is a total wreck off Kwakwaka point. The steamer, which was bound for Seattle, was struck by a heavy sea on Monday morning. The vessel had pounded for hours, and the engine could be stopped. The vessel had struck a rock, which a horse and cart could be driven. The steamer had a quantity of lumber in her cargo and a bridge was made to the rocks. The passengers and horses were quickly and safely landed. The Bertha and a number of passengers arrived here yesterday afternoon on the steamer Cottage City. Capt. Johannsen and the other passengers remained with the wreck. The Bertha had been struck without warning. The night was dark and the officer in charge must have allowed the vessel to get off her course.

His Ashes At Johns Hopkins.

Baltimore, Md., Feb. 12.—It has just been made known that the remains of the late Prof. Henry Augustus Rowland, noted physicist of the Johns Hopkins university, who died on March 15, 1894, have been cremated and are in the physical laboratory of Johns Hopkins, from whence emanated most of his scientific triumphs. Mrs. Rowland acknowledged that such a disposition of her husband's remains was entirely in accordance with her husband's wishes.

Physician Dies Aged 108.

Scranton, Pa., Feb. 12.—Dr. Henry Corson, Forest City, has just died, aged 108 years. It is said that he was the oldest person in the state. He was born near Camden, Neb., on March 15th, 1794. He first practiced medicine in Philadelphia and later at Montrose, Hartford, Susquehanna and Forest City, all in this state. He continued the practice of medicine up to last October.

Win The Championship.

Sarnia, Ont., Dec. 12.—The Maple Leaf indoor baseball club, of Sarnia, defeated the Victoria yacht club, of Hamilton, last night here by a score of twenty-seven to seven. The yacht club was composed of the pick of the Hamilton city league, but was not chased completely. This gives the championship of Canada to the Maple Leafs, who have defended the title successfully throughout the season.

LIVERS WERE JOINED.

Uttered The Same Words When They Rallied.

Paris, Feb. 12.—The operation for the separation of the ill-fated twins revealed the fact that the livers of the twins were joined together, making the operation a most dangerous one. It is also known that they must have united by important blood vessels, as medicinal substances given to one could be traced in equal quantities in the other. They were not known of the operation they were to undergo. When Doody recovered from the effects of the chloroform, she cried: "They have parted us." Rodica uttered the same words almost simultaneously.

The New Commander.

Halifax, Feb. 12.—Dr. Howard Sayer received a cable yesterday from his brother, commander W. F. Sayer, R.N., stating that he had been appointed commander of the new flagship for the North American station. The cable did not give the name of the new flagship, but it is presumably the Centurion.

THE LAD WAS A BRICK.

An Episode Of Interest In New York. "HOLD IT UP, GREASE DRIPS," SAID MRS. ARROWSMITH.

And The Man In The Mask Obedient—He Also Soothed Crying Baby And Complimented 15-Year-Old Boy On Bravery—Booty, Three Rings With Diamonds. Orange, N.J., Feb. 12.—Hold that candle up straight. The grease is dripping all over my carpet, was the first exclamation of Mrs. W. H. Arrowsmith, as two masked men, each holding a revolver, entered her sleeping room in her residence, 24 Hawthorne avenue, East Orange. The masked man with the candle started back, but obeyed the command. Then he and his companion, holding their revolvers in a threatening position, demanded to know where the valuables and money were kept. Mrs. Arrowsmith is a widow with four children, a son, a daughter, a son, Bridget Leyden, a son, and her sister, Margaret Leyden, a nurse. On Saturday evening she complained of a cold, and Sunday morning when Mrs. Arrowsmith heard some one coming up the stairs she supposed it was Margaret, who had gone down for some medicine for her sister. This impression, Mrs. Arrowsmith said, was heightened by the fact that she heard no noise.

As it developed later, the noise was made by the burglars, who went first to the servants' room, where the nurse, who was sleeping with the cook, promptly crawled down under the bedclothes and did not emerge until the intruders had left. The burglars, Mrs. Arrowsmith said, were well dressed, and one of them was about five feet nine inches tall with light hair, and a black handkerchief over his face. His derby hat was pulled down over his eyes. The other was dark and wore a white handkerchief over his eyes. Mrs. Arrowsmith said: "The tall man had scarcely warned me to keep quiet and make no outcry, but to tell him at once where I kept my valuables, when there was a cry from the other man, 'I remarked, and then the tall man asked me if I wanted the baby as he might arouse the other children. I told him to bring the baby in and he brought him into my room. The other man stood on guard in the meantime."

Mrs. Arrowsmith said she told the burglars that she had no jewelry, but she was a widow and unprotected. Then her fifteen-year-old son Dick came and stood before the dresser, with his hands behind him. As soon as she called the boy by name, the taller man of the two burglars spoke up: "What have you got behind you, Dick?" "A club," replied the boy. "Just drop it on the floor," returned the burglar, but he pointed the revolver at Dick, and the club was dropped. "Pretty good protection," remarked the burglar, "you got a brave boy there, madam. He can take care of his mother, I guess."

"Have you no mother," asked Mrs. Arrowsmith. "If I had, I wouldn't be here," replied the burglar. "There was some further conversation and then the tall man said: 'Well, we had better get out of here, madam; we have taken nothing from your house. Let Dick come down to the front door with us as he has a key of his mother's front door.' At the door the burglars shook hands with Dick and again declared that they had taken nothing. 'I can't believe you,' replied Dick, 'but good night, anyway.' Mrs. Arrowsmith found that a ring composed of a circle of nine diamonds, a cluster ring containing nine diamonds and her wedding rings were missing. The gold band on her finger was also missing. A purse containing a small sum of money was also missing. The thieves, however, had not looked into her dresser, where she had a quantity of valuable jewelry.

Mrs. Arrowsmith reported the burglary to W. V. Snyder, Jr., her next door neighbor, who informed the police. Mrs. Arrowsmith thinks that the light burglar was probably the man who called her home on Thursday and asked who lived there. The burglars gained entrance by smashing a pane of glass in the kitchen, reaching through and unlocking the door.

SHOOTS AT PORTEOUS.

Ex-Superintendent Of Identification Bureau Arrested. Chicago, Feb. 12.—George M. Porteous, formerly superintendent of the national bureau of identification, was arrested here, charged with beating Mrs. Kate Travers in her home at 126 Leomin street, while trying to get possession of two trunks belonging to his wife. In the struggle a lighted lamp and revolver figured. Mrs. Travers is now suffering with two broken ribs. She shot at Porteous. Mrs. Travers said that Porteous attempted to set fire to her clothing with the lighted lamp which he held while she was battling with him in the basement. She shot at Porteous. Mrs. Travers said that Porteous attempted to assault him with a club and that he was obliged to guard off the blow with the lamp. Porteous was for a number of years superintendent of the national bureau of identification, with headquarters in Chicago. About four months ago the bureau was removed to Washington and he was ousted. Through his efforts the Bertillon system was established in all the large cities.

PATIENT COMMITS SUICIDE.

Real Cause Of Death Is Discovered At Morgue. Hot Springs, Ark., Feb. 12.—It was not discovered that Dennis Daly had committed suicide until his remains were stepped in the morgue. He had been under treatment for heart trouble. A nurse was attending him in a room at the Catholic infirmary, when he very quietly slipped a small pen-knife into his jugular vein. The profusion of blood was accepted as a hemorrhage and the body was removed to the morgue as having died from natural causes. At the morgue, when the undertaker stripped and washed the body, he discovered the incision that was later proved to have been the cause of his death.

JOSEPH A. DOUGLAS KILLED.

Was In Trial In Which Lincoln Was Lawyer. Topeka, Kan., Feb. 12.—Joseph A. Douglas was killed last night at his home in Lyndon by falling from a load of corn. Mr. Douglas was a witness in the historical Armstrong murder trial in Illinois, when William Armstrong was cleared by Abraham Lincoln. Douglas swore at the trial that he saw young Armstrong strike the fatal blow, saying that the moon was very bright at the time. Mr. Lincoln then produced an old almanac as his only witness, by which he proved that there was no moon on the night in question.

AN EMPIRE FLAG.

Great Britain To Be Properly Represented. London, Feb. 12.—C. B. Bennett, the cousin of a distinguished colonial governor, has been authorized to design an empire flag, and has succeeded in giving colonial possessions full representation, without sacrificing the chief feature of the old flag—the cross of St. George—which is in itself a familiar emblem of England's power in every quarter of the globe.

Dies At Age Of 108 Years.

Chattanooga, Tenn., Feb. 12.—William Green, familiarly known as "Uncle Billy," died today aged 108 years. He was born in county Limerick, Ireland. He came to America in 1833, landing at Charleston, S.C., and coming to Chattanooga in 1844. When eighty years old he served as express messenger on the Southern railroad between Chattanooga and Bristol. His hearing was perfect to the day of his death, and he could read without glasses up to two years ago. He married, when fifty-five years old, a girl of sixteen.

All Of Them Committed.

London, Feb. 12.—In the Old Bailey police court this morning were found against Thomas P. Gaudie, formerly bookkeeper of the Liverpool bank, and all the other defendants mentioned in the frauds on that institution. These include "Dick" Burgis, the pugilist, and F. T. Kelly, and a man of the name of Stiles, both bookmakers. "Laurie" Marks, also implicated in the frauds, is supposed to have committed suicide.
