CURE SICK HEADACHE.

It's Honest Truth.

REFLECT ON IT.

The unprecedented success of Malt Breakfast Food has been achieved by true merit and practical results.

Health seekers for years looked for a perfect health food; their desires were fully realized with the advent of Malt Breakfast Food, the king of breakfast cereals.

Malt Breakfast Food promised old and young a sustaining and energizing nutriment that would conduce to bodily and mental vigor; it has fulfilled every promise.

Malt Breakfast Food was given to the well and strong as a food that would maintain vigorous health; it was recommended to invalids and convalescents as a nourishment that the weak stomach would tolerate and retain. Results in all cases exceeded the most sanguine expectations.

Able and practical physicians and scientific food experts have tested Malt Breakfast Food in a variety of ways, and placed it far above all other preparations for the breakfast table. Users of oatmeal and starchy grain foods should reflect on these truths. Your grocer sells Malt Breakfast Food.

A NEED OF THE HOUR.

The Canadian association which has been formed, and of which the governor-general is the honorary president, is doing a commendable service, in sending broadcast valuable information for the prevention and cure of tuberculosis. The educational campaign which has been inaugurated, is very timely. It needs to be prosecuted with all the vigour possible in order that a check may be had upon the white plague which is annually so destructive of life. Tuberculosis, in some form, is taking by far the largest percentage of people because it is contagious and is not treated as such.

In nearly all of our great cities, say the association to which we have referred, in a late public message, "there are thousands of poor consumptives, living without care or treatment in their dark, filthy tenement houses, and spreading their disease to their kin and neighbors. Perhaps not one of all the great cities at the present time can offer sufficient hospital facilities for the treatment or isolation of these unfortunate people. A very large percentage of these patients could be cured or restored to health and made breadwinners of their families if they were taken away from their unhygienic surroundings in time and received proper treatment in a sanatorium." A very large number of children who are sufferers from scrofula and joint and bone tuberculosis, could be saved and rescued from their diseases if they were removed to places where they could be properly treated for a time."

This makes it the more evident that for the poor, the very poor, and so to the people's burdens, the several governments of our country must do something in the near future towards suitable hospital accommodation.

There is money enough for every really deserving philanthropic demand, but the wealthy people have not been averse to the necessity of institutions for the treatment of tuberculars. Isolation should be made compulsory, and it cannot be while the country is bereft of needed sanitaria. Let the education of the Canadian association go on. It is laudable work, and in due time its effects will be apparent.

KINGSTON ALL RIGHT.

There never was a more enthusiastic meeting of the liberals of Kingston than that which occurred last evening. It was the annual gathering of the clans for the election of officers and the transaction of general business.

The old members were there, the heroes of many a hard fought battle, and the young members were there, with the ardour of their fathers, and all had the eagerness that marks the successful workers.

Very properly the association offered resolutions in endorsement of the liberal governments at Ottawa and Toronto and their respective policies.

The premiers of both were extolled as men who were worthy of all confidence and all praise were for their direction of the people's business.

Mr. Pense, M.P.P., who had arrived unexpectedly, sketched the progress of events in the legislature and referred to the bills which marked activity everywhere, and a great development of both New and Old Ontario. He pointed out that in Toronto, in as early, there was no evidence of liberal weakness on the contrary the liberals were united, were working in the greatest harmony, and were possessed of the abiding conviction that Ross and his supporters would sweep the province in the next election.

By the way Mr. Pense spoke of the last grievance on which Dr. Ryan ex parte so much at Portsmouth the other night. He said the appropriations of the year—passed so far without a single amendment, or the suggestion of one by the opposition—included the amounts required for admissions to Rockwood hospital and for an increase of the employee's wages. The electors of Portsmouth will please make a note of this.

One remark of the president was significant. He said "corruption was the cry of the conservatives, but it had not been established. It was to the credits of both governments, and specially of the Ottawa government with its expenditure running away into the millions, that not a single scandal had been developed. Had the conservative government reigned in these years of plenty, as they had reigned in the years of leanness, there would have been corruption, and quite enough, to 'smell to heaven.'

Quite properly the executive which had done so well last year was deemed worthy of re-election. With every man in his place and familiar with his duty, with every one enthused to do his best, with each division and sub-division of the city organized and ready for action, the liberals await the coming general election with light hearts and jaunty spirits.

BURDEN OF TAXATION.
The finance committee has a difficult task before it in seeking to do the city's business without increasing the rate of taxation. Last year the appropriations were pared down, and yet the levy went up from 15 to 19½ mills on the dollar. According to present representations many public works or necessities had to be neglected, and the argument is that this cannot occur again without, in the long run, serious consequences.

The fact is, however, that the assessment of the city has not been materially increased. The rolls, revised last December, and on which the revenue of the year will be calculated, offer no promise of an addition to the civic income. Practically the receipts, from taxes, at the same rate, will be the same as it was last year, when the expenditure exceeded the revenue by about fifteen hundred dollars. What is to be done? The civic estimates call for an amount which cannot be raised without lifting the rate. Half a mill more will yield, in taxation, about $3,800, and the council can, it is alleged, put twice that sum, over and above last year's appropriations, without extravagance being charged.

Along comes the board of education, too, with a demand for more money. This demand is, to a certain extent, unavoidable. The modest increase in the teachers' salaries, in conformity with the grading system, adds $500 to the estimates. The improvement in the Victoria school's heating and ventilation ran away with all the available cash of the board last year and left a deficit of nearly $700. The Central school now wants a new roof. These items, and certain necessary and extra expenses, may increase the school board's budget by about $20,000. How the council will go to finance it, presuming that for its own needs it wants all the money the half a mill will offer?

The rate for purely municipal purposes is 14.25 on the dollar, and the school rate is 5.25 on the dollar. Education, therefore, takes over a third of all the money that is raised by taxation, and perhaps it is worth all it is costing. At the same time if there is not the greatest economy practiced the council may have to submit the rate for school purposes separately, and it may, in that form, present an object lesson that the people cannot afford.

The question with some is: What has been running up the rate of taxation? The bonuses which the people have voted to local institutions. These bonuses have been met with the money that was raised by the sale of debentures, and a part of the debt is paid off annually, out of the debts. The burden, unfortunately, is lasting. It will go on for thirty years, getting lighter, of course, as the debt is paid and we all hope for that.

EDITORIAL NOTES.

The liberal party of the city is ready for business. Last night's rally had much of the spirit that points to victory.

The Ottawa Free Press says of Mr. Hartly that he is "as great an acquisition to the commons as he was a loss to the provincial cabinet and loss to the legislature."

The Montreal Star regards the referendum, as a very childish device.

And, very appropriately, our contemporary finds it a source of great diversion.

Mr. Bourassa and Mr. MacLean are the alternate troublers in the commons, with odds in favor of the man who wants the government to run the telephone, telegraph and railway business of Canada.

The spectacular features of the fall fairs have been unmercifully criticized by Mr. Hodson, of Ottawa, an expert in the show business. He has no use for the follies and fakes to which some exhibition folks are wedded.

The agitation in favour of a consolidation of the fall fairs and farm's institute is growing. Hon. Mr. Dryden endorses it. It is agreeable to the appointment of some one who would give the exhibitions special attention and their guiding head. The idea was applauded at the meeting of the Central Fair Association.
