Dr. Third Says There is Too Much Talk About Sanitoria-Personal Hygiene, Good Food, Fresh Air and Sunshine More Essen-

Kingston, Feb. 22 - (To the Editor) : Permit me space for a few remarks on your editorial of last even ing. It appears to me there is a danger of the public becoming suddenly than a month previous. panic stricken on the subject of prevention of tuberculosis. For twenty years the infectious character of the disease has been recognized, and during this time the mortality rate in the larger centres of population has gradually decreased. This is especially true of New York and London. Russell, in his kanitary history of Glasgow, shows that the deathrate from tuberculosis in that city has decreased forty-one per cent. in the last thirty years. All this has been brought about by a system of education, but it differs widely from the spasmodic effort now being made, Now the central idea has sounded an alarm, and the saniexit. Ald. Graham Explains. Kingston, Feb. 20 .- (To the Editor) : As the Daily News has gone to considerable trouble in attacking my remarks, re reference to an item of 830 paid by the city for rent of the old collegiate institute for registration purposes, and my political belief, permit me to place myself correctly before the ratepayers, Mayor Shaw informed the council that the city had paid out $30 for use of the old colegiate institute for the recent registration. As he did not explain how it happened that the city had been mulcted for this amount, I took the trouble of doing so, stating that Mr Whitney, leader of the opposition in the Ontario legislature, was responsiole, Of course, I admit that Mr. Whitney was within his rights in not agreeing to the registration of less than a month previous, but if Mr. Whitney acknowledges himself capable leading the conservative party in Ontario, he must have known that s contest in Kingston on this occasion would have meant defeat for the conservatives; such being the case, I submit that he was unjustified in requiring a registration, knowing it could be of no avail. On the other hand Kingston had a right to representation at the present session of the legislature, and premier Ross was perfectly right in opening the constituency. Dr. Walkem attempted to excuse the act of Mr. Whitney, by saving that it

Considering the large number remedies for coughs and colds that are now offered to the public, and in view of the fact that pearly every lruggist has a preparation of his own which he makes an effort to substi tute for the medicine asked for, seems truly remarkable that the demand for Dr. Chase's Syrup of Linseed and Turpentine should increase by such leaps and bounds. During October the sale of Chase's Syrup of Linseed and Turpentine exceeded by several hundred bottles the record of any previous membered that this preparation reseives very little newspaper advertis-

In the course of a couple of years voters die or go away and oth er voters come into existence, and it would be a gross injustice to these latter and to the community if they. had not a right to vote." The inconsistency of Dr. Walkem's argument will be realized when it is known that less than a month intervened between the two last registrations. If Dr. Walkem will take the trouble to look up the facts he will learn that in the last registration the total number of names enrolled was some hundreds cott.

Old Names For Guns. "Which is reason enough!"

As the use of artillery became more common and the advantages of portability and a greater rapidity of fire were recognized guns, except among the orientals, became smaller, but of better workmanship and construction. Inventors began to try their hands at all sorts of improvements or attempts at improvement, and in the course of a hundred years or so the number of different pieces of cannon, large and small, muzzle or breech leading, was simply legion. There were cannon, cannon royal and demicannon, three or four classes of enlyering bombards, mortars, perriers, serpentines, carthouns, curtails, passevolants or zebratanas, basilisks, orgues, sakers, minions, mojanes, falcons and falconets, robinets, fewlers, bases, slings, portpieces, murderers, drakes, aspics, double dogs and lagtors, to say nothing of ribadoquins, flying dragous and partridge mortars.
