Have You Ever Stopped To Consider?

Have you ever stopped to consider the quality, composition and effects of the various foods you use? It is too extensive a subject to deal with in a short newspaper article. Take your of oatmeal porridge and compare it with a dish of Malt Breakfast Food porridge, that tens of thousands are now using with the best results. What's the difference? Why, a vast and important one as far as your health and strength are concerned. Your oatmeal is a blood freater and irritant, often causing skin eruptions and facial disfigurements, and it fre quently deranges the stomach and digestive organs. Malt Breakfast Food, so highly endorsed by physicians and food experts is a grain food entirely free from insoluble starch; it enriches the blood and keeps it pure; it soothes and comforts the stomach; it is adapted for young and old, the weak and strong. One package makes twentyfive meals. Try it and be happy. Groers heartily recommend it.

The Ottawa man who moved in the egislature for a reduction in the property qualification of aldermen, got an answer from the attorney-general which is causing some comment. Hon Mr. Gibson said the difference between councillors and members of the legislature was great, for "while man without property might have a clear head on public questions, vet where you were mortgaging property, es did the councillors, it was necessary that they should be financially

> The idea, then, is that the men who have to do with the business of the people should be financially interested in their action. The legi lature does not levy taxation on the people re t, but it passes and repasses laws which affect the municipalities and practically control the aldermes in their service. The legislature does more. It forces the council to abdicate its functions to an assessment commission in every city, whose work touches the people vitally in their taxes, and the members of the assessment board may be without any property qualification.

WHY DON'T THEY SPEAK The Toronto News is offended because, as it alleges, Dr. Courtice, the Christian Guardian, does not stand publicly for statements which he made at a private meeting. Dr. Courtice has put on record his objections to the prohibition bill, and he has done, in this respect, all that can be reasonably expected of him. He has addressed a letter to the World. in which he pointed out that its re port of a private meeting was grossly inaccurate, and yet the News holds him to sentiments which he has repudiated and insinuates that he WELLING ON a two-faced man. Dr. Courtice's offence lies in the fact that he will not lend himself to a campaign of opposition to the government, which is the work of Mr. Whiteey, if the work of anybody, and Dr. Courtice is censured for his reticence while Mr. Whitney is approved for his silence. The News intimates that the prohibitionists are Yes? Mr. Marter was at the private meeting which has been referred to. He was once leader of the conservative opposition, and he is a leader of it still. What is be thinking about? Has be no opinion upon the prohibibill? He spoke in the private meeting and, accepting the Toronto News' logic as correct, he should not have in private opinions which he cannot express publicly and with all the emphasis in his power. Oh shamming and the foxing and the dodging of the conservative opposition in Ontario at the present time beggars description.

Faculty Thinks It Detrimental To

School Work. Binghamton, N.Y., Feb. 25.-Dancng has been forbidden at the Cortland state normal school, and cause they indulged in it thirty students have been threatened with pulsion. The faculty has decided that dancing, in some of its forms, is detrimental to school work and promotes an undesirable mixture of the sexes. This has met with the disapproval of many of the students and it was proposed to make a test case of it. Accordingly, Redmen's hall that village was rented and an orchestra engaged for a ball. The affair proved very attractive to lovers of the terpsichorean art and the ball was well attended. The following day the faculty learned the name of one of the girl students who was present, and, after a severe cross examination, obtained from her a list of thirty students who participated. These were summoned to appear before the faculty and were severely reprimanded.
