DRIVING THE ENEMY

Gen. French is Engaged in This Work
CAPE COLONY SOON CLEAR
VARIOUS LEADING BOERS HAVE BEEN TAKEN.

One of The Commandants is Reported to be Wounded—The Boers Who Routed Gen. Methuen's Column Still Talked About.
London, March 19.—Gen. French is now driving the commandos to the westward of the Cape Colony. The block house system has been extended to Beaufort West and a few weeks, probably, will see Cape Colony cleared of the invaders, although it is clear that each district must be laboriously and systematically worked which will necessarily involve much time, yet the rate of progress promises to be much more rapid than might have been recently at Paardrift, on the Val river, to the west of the line to Johannesburg.
Gen. Emmet, captured by Gen. Bruce Hamilton, is a descendant of the Irish leader, Robert Emmet. Gen. Emmet led the Boer forces in the fight at Fort Hala, Zululand, last October. Commandant Beers has been captured, and commandant Celliers, who unmasked a couple of fifteen pounders and turned them on the British during a critical part of the fight between Methuen and Delarey, is reported wounded.
The Standard's Pretoria correspondent, supplementing his despatch of yesterday, again testifies to the courage of the Boers who routed Gen. Methuen's column. He says that their first charge was made in the open face of bullets and shell which hardly caused a single falter in their rapid advance. The best disciplined troops could have done nothing better. He adds that Gen. Delarey allowed Gen. Methuen to keep all the papers.
The losses of the Boers were very heavy. Only eleven dead were seen near the British lines, but it has transpired from a Boer source that they lost 200 killed or wounded.
Cooper, the chief telegraphist of Gen. Botha, who was recently reported captured, was one of the most dangerous men in the field on the Boer side. His specialty was "wire tapping." In the last edition of the Transvaal official almanac he was described as "under director" of the telegraph department. He is a Cape colonist by birth, an Englishman by blood, but he became a naturalized burgher many years ago.

She and her little sister were at the residence of their aunt, Mrs. Connor had occasion to leave the house for a few minutes, when, it is supposed, the children began playing with the fire in the stove. By some means Ethel's clothing became ignited, and in an instant she was enveloped in flames. She ran to the door, when a gentleman, caught her and wrapped her in a fur coat which he was wearing but quickly removed on noticing the child. Though the flames were smothered, it was too late to save the life of the unfortunate little girl, and about five hours afterwards she died. She was terribly burned from head to foot, some portions of her body being literally roasted.
