A SINGULAR TRIBUTE

Paid to The Influence of Chamberlain

IS EXPECTING A REVIVAL

IN SPECULATION ON THE STOCK EXCHANGE.

The Reply of Russia and France Not Regarded as a Menace—The Prince of Wales Tells England to Wake Up—To Apply Science to Commerce and Manufacture.

London, March 20.—The passage of the aged pensioners' bill, on its second reading, yesterday, and the reply of Russia and France to the influence of Mr. Chamberlain.

The measure followed the lines laid down by him in many public speeches, and aimed to provide pensions for workers above the age of sixty-five with the co-operation of the poor law guardians and without discouraging habits of thrift.

There were fair signs of recovery in the Kaffir market yesterday and there was decided improvement in Canadian and American securities, but little business was done. There is expectation of a revival of speculation on a large scale until the trend of the market can be forecast after the delivery of the budget speech. General business remains undisturbed by the pro-traction of the war and the uncertainties of the budget.

The reply of Russia and France to the Anglo-Japanese alliance is not regarded here as a menace. It implies no more than that the Franco-Russian alliance extends to the far east.

The only newspaper that sees danger in it is the Daily Mail. The Morning Post, on the other hand, says it is a declaration which all the world may read with equanimity.

The price of Wales' address, in declaring the national physical laboratory, at Buxbury Park, open, yesterday, was the most interesting he has delivered since his famous speech in the Guild hall on his return from the tour of the empire. He again told England to wake up, and to apply science to commerce and manufacture.

Mail carrier Morris, Bowmanville, was sentenced to two years in the penitentiary for robbing the public accounts committee. His morning by these gentlemen. He explained that as the Intercolonial had large mines on its route, little coal was carried in store, the mines being depended upon to furnish what was needed. In December, 1900, the railway found itself with only a six days' supply on hand and a strike in the mines. The mine owners gave notice that they could not continue to furnish the Intercolonial coal supply. Orders were placed in the American market to protect the railway. The result of this purchase was: The mine owners, seeing their business leaving them, gave the miners the advance asked for. The Intercolonial then laid in a larger supply of Canadian coal, and adopted a policy of never allowing the supply to go below 50,000 tons.

Ottawa, March 20.—James H. Jackson, fifty-two years old, colored, and son will assist at the mass which will be celebrated just before the execution in Hull jail to-morrow morning.

Lacroix was visited by his son yesterday for the first time since the terrible. Both were moved to tears and the father welcomed the child joyously. Lacroix has fasted since Saturday to-day ate dinner with his son. It will probably be his last meal as he is likely to take no more food. The execution will take place at eight o'clock to-morrow morning. The scaffold was tested yesterday and the drop worked satisfactorily. Radcliffe, the hangman, has been drinking considerably since coming to Ottawa, and in Hull, yesterday, and in this city he has been followed by crowds of curious people.
Radcliffe appears to enjoy the publicity. Radcliffe is reluctant to give any information about himself or his calling. "I have a duty to perform," he says, "and in the performance I protect society, my wife and daughters, as well as outsiders. No one knows my feelings. Instead of getting used to it, I seem to feel better after every succeeding execution." Radcliffe prides himself on never having bungled a "job."

It is reported that small-pox has developed in the second section of the Ottawa, March 19.—The hunt for an Intercolonial scandal, which is being made by Samuel Barker and Hon.

John Haggart, came to grief a second time this morning.

A large addition to the Intercolonial coal supply saved to these gentle-

LION KILLS A HYENA.

Fight Frightens Man So Badly
He Plunges Into River.

Jacksonville, Fla., March 19.—Prince, the big South African lion in an annual show here, again distinguished himself by killing a big hyena. While his cage was being cleaned Prince sprang over the head of the man and escaped into the tent. There were few people about, but they were scattered in great alarm.

Near was a force hyena that had been taken out of its cage on account of its constant fights with its mate.
Prince spied this animal, and with a roar he leaped on it. The hyena fought bravely, but the big lion was too much for it and soon killed it.
The employees held the lion at bay with red-hot irons and rapidly built up a barricade around him. Placing a small cage at one side, Prince was driven from the carcass of the hyena into the cage. The sliding door was shut down and he was secure again.
For an hour the excitement on Bay street was intense. A negro was so badly terrified that he ran two blocks and plunged into the St. John's river.

LOST LOOKING FOR ARK.
Monks Ascend Mount Ararat And Cannot Be Found.

Berlin, March 20.—Two Armenian monks have mysteriously disappeared from the monastery near Erivan, in Transcaucasia.

They have been close friends and frequently spoke to the fraternity of their desire to ascend the neighboring Mount Ararat to discover whether or not any trace of the ark still remained. The abbot and others tried to
