Cause for Rejoicing

The Chronicle is also hopeful. It says that the mission could not be a more representative body, unless it included Gen. Botha, but it points out that commandant Meyer is Botha's most intimate friend.

The Daily Mail considers that the mission can be interpreted only as making advance for peace; otherwise the news would have been permitted to come through.

The Express considers that peace negotiations can be the only object of the mission, but it is not so confident as to the result.

The Times says that if the object of the mission is to negotiate for peace it does not necessarily follow that organized resistance in the Transvaal need to mention the test of South Africa, will be at an end.

A despatch to the Standard, from Brussels, says that Dr. Leyds, the diplomatic agent of the Boers, is about to organize an international demonstration by American and continental sympathizers on the day King Edward is crowned. All pro-Boer societies will be asked to display the flag of the Transvaal and Orange Free State and telegraph to Mr. Kruger. The despatch adds, that it is doubtless true that the Transvaal is receiving regular reports from the Boers, probably by way of Lorenzo Marques. One of the last despatches from acting president Schalkenberg states that the Boer losses from October 1st, 1900 to October 24th were 400 killed and 700 wounded. No mention is made of prisoners.

Arrest of Frenchmen.

Paris, March 24.—In the chamber of deputies the foreign minister replying to questions regarding Frenchmen captured by the British while fighting for the Boers, said:

"Some of the prisoners were arrested at Johannesburg under the pretext that they were engaged in certain intrigues. We consider a prisoner of war can only be taken on the field of battle. But Great Britain does not accept this view. There is only one French prisoner of this category, however, who has not been released, and strong efforts are being made to secure his liberation."

State of the Ice.

Pointe Clair, Que., March 24.—Ice on lake St. Louis not very strong. Water has risen some. No signs of moving at present.

Beauharnois, Que., March 24.—Ice is on lake St. Louis here yet.

Three Rivers, Que., March 24.—The St. Lawrence has been open and the ferry crossing all winter. The water is gradually rising, but it is not over the wharves yet. The lake St. Peter ice has not yet passed.

Point Fortune, Que., March 24.—There is still crossing on foot here on the ice in the Ottawa river.

Verchères, Que., March 24.—Ice still firm here; water has risen a foot since yesterday afternoon.

Which Had Been Entrusted To His Care.

Ruffalo, N.Y., March 23.—Justice Kenefick, this morning, sentenced Henry J. Baker, the former paying teller in the city treasurer's office, to one year and ten months in Auburn prison. Baker was sentenced on his plea of "guilty" to a charge of stealing funds entrusted to his care.

The New York Sun, which for more than a year has waged such a bitter fight with the typographical union, is to become unionized, a settlement to that effect having been reached.

TALKING-PEACE TERMS

Boers See Lord Kitchener in Pretoria

THEY WERE MUCH HARRIED

BY THE BRITISH WHILE WEAR RHEINOSTER KOP.

London, March 24.—Peace is again in the air. Last night west end clubs were greatly excited by the news that Mr. Schalkenberg, the Boers' acting president, with secretary Reitz and commandants Lucas Meyer and Krogh, had come into Pretoria under a flag of truce and had had an interview with lord Kitchener at his headquarters there, afterwards leaving for Kroonstad, Orange River Colony, from which place they will go out under safe conduct. Mr. Schalkenberg, and his companions, at 11 p.m., had been stationed at Rheinoster Kop, north of Balmoral, for the past week. The Boer acting president had been, when there, greatly harried by Col. Park and other British commandos, and on one occasion he had a narrow escape from being captured. The Boer position being increasingly hopeless, despatch riders were sent into Balmoral, Friday night, intimating that the delegates would arrive there. Possibly the government will throw some light on the situation in the house of commons to-day.

The Daily Telegraph deduces that negotiations for peace are about to be initiated coming from the Boers, but the mission of the delegates may after all be of less importance, such as the treatment of prisoners. The paper notes that Gen. Botha holds himself aloof, and says the Gen. Dewet is likely to feel himself bound by the conditions which may be proposed. Gen. Delarey flushed with success, is not in a mood to consider surrender. On the whole, however, the Telegraph considers the incident as inspiring a certain amount of sanguine expectation.

The Chronicle is also hopeful. It says that the mission could not be a more representative body, unless it included Gen. Botha, but it points out that commandant Meyer is Botha's most intimate friend.

The Daily Mail considers that the mission can be interpreted only as making advance for peace; otherwise the news would have been permitted to come through.

MRS. KUYPER'S SCRUPLES FORCE COMPROMISE.

The Queen Will Entertain Them at Tea—Bazaar Likely to Follow

The Coronation—Britain Expects Russia to Act Promptly.

London, March 24.—Eighty police constables from the vicinity of Inverness, Scotland, landed on the island of Lewis, and proceeded northward to Ness church. There they forced a barricade erected by the partitioners and held by them for months against all the police and other forces sent by the authorities of the United Free church to take possession of the church.

Court etiquette and religious scruples had an amusing tussle at The Hague. The trouble arose when the daughters of Dr. Kuyper, the premier, were invited to the first court ball of the season. Low necked dresses were commanded, but the Misses Kuyper considered the décollete dresses were inconsistent with their religious principles. They applied for a dispensation, but received a curt reply from the mistress of the ceremonies, who declared that the time-honored Dutch court must be adhered to. Dr. Kuyper made direct representations on the subject to queen Wilhelmina, with the result that a compromise was arranged. The Misses Kuyper will stay away from the ball, but will take tea with their sovereign in high-necked dresses the same afternoon.

In replying to a question regarding the situation in China, asked in the house of commons, viscount Cranborne, under secretary of the foreign office, said that Great Britain looked to Russia to fulfill her declared policy in Manchuria, namely, to restore the province, under certain conditions, to the same position as before the trouble.

Germany is once more playing a strong game in China. Large squads of Berlin laborers have been ordered to China to complete the Shantung railway. There is no secret of the fact that agreements have been formed to acquire the Weih-Sien railway. Negotiations are said to be progressing for the acquisition of the mines in the Shantung province. King Edward starts on a yachting cruise around the English coast on Thursday. He will have to make certain public appearances in parts of call for the royal yacht, but there will be as little ceremonial as possible. No programme has been marked out, but it is believed, that he will visit the Channel islands. If he does so he will be the first English king to set foot in this old Norman field of the crown since the days of James II. Queen Alexandra leaves London to-morrow on a visit to Copenhagen for king Christian's birthday. It is understood that when the king and the queen return from their respective trips they will take up their abode at Buckingham palace, while the prince and princess of Wales move in the Marlborough house.
