South Shore Railway To Have A Terminal There.

Quebec, April 1 .-- Messrs. Meyer and Regenburger, representatives of the Vanderbilt interest in the South Shore railway, and in the Canada Atlantic, inspected yesterday at Sorel the South Shore railway, under construction at that point. They expect to have the latter road completed to Levis by the fall, when trains will commence running and plans for an extensive traffic mapped out for next year. The South Shore people expect to make this port on the South Shore a terminal point for a large export to Europe. In connection with this enterprise an elevator will be built at Levis, also saw mills to prepare lumber for export. The Vanderbilt interests also intend to invest largely in the pulp in lustry, and at the same time provide for the export of asbestos and cattle from Levis to Europe. The SS. Duro commenced loading

Police of Brantford Are At Work

On The Case. Brantford, April 1.-The Quirk murder case still remains unsolved, there are several signs that a solution is rapidly drawing nearer. It is said that the police suspicions have veered considerably during the past couple of days, and that they are now after another man than the one first suspected. The police, however, are holding their own counsel, and everything is largely left to surmise. It is now thought that the murder was committed by some curved instrument and not by a hatchet or axe, such as a horse shoe. No trace of the weapon has been found as yet, however.

Winnipeg, April 1.—The river here is rising at the rate of two feet in twenty-four hours. It has still four or five feet to go before the danger mark is reached. Winnipeg rowing club house and canoe club building are threatened and their contents have been removed. Workmen are trying to break up the ice resting against the piers of the bridge.

Natives Are Destitute. Nome, Jan. 17., via Seattle, April 1 .- R. T. Chestnut, under date of January 9th, writes concerning the destitution prevailing at Native Village, west of Cape Nome. He says many natives, mostly women and children are absolutely destitute. They are without food or clothing. The miners have furnished these poor natives meal after meal and have given them provisions to take back to their huts. The limit of their charity has been about reached however, and it is suggested that government officials should lend a helping hand. Canadians Ill In Africa.
