THE GUARANTEE BUSINESS. The position of the Hamilton Herald on the guarantee companies is a really sound one. These companies go into the assurance business upon its merits. They agree, for a certain consideration, to become the surety of the individuals in their dealings with the employers. They make such en quiries, confidentially, about the persons so assured as seem to satisfy them, and they can take the risks.

Thus, for a certain premium per anum, they agree to see that the necessary. In fact the goods speak ployees perform their duties faithfully, and, above all, that they give a correct accounting of all the moneys pass through their hands. very one were exact and careful honest there would be no need of guarantee company, but because one here and there fails in his service the company has a reason for its existof the money it collects.

There is a law of average which is exceedingly instructive. It indicates that in a certain total of experience there is a percentage which is peculiar, and this percentage in the guarantee business represents the lapses from grace, the defaults and the defects. The guarantee company wisely makes allowance for them all, and it usually meets the losses promptly. It expects them, and without them all experience would be discounted.

EXPANSION OF RAILWAYS. The rumour now is that the American syndicate which Dr. Webb represents seeks the purchase of the Great Northern railway, and that it, in connection with the Canada Atlantic railway, will give increased importance to the Parry Sound route. means that the Americans are seeing the advantage of transportation equipment which will facilitate the removal of Canada's immense grain crops from the North-West to the seaboard. Last year's yield of wheat, was about 40,000,000 bushels, the railways, according to the complaint which the western men made in parliament, were unequal to the task of moving it along as its purchasers desired. The future is ominous of creased difficulty unless the car service be most wonderfully developed. The Webb party seems to see the opportunity for a business foothold that will become firmer as time goes on. The Canada Atlantic has been a great competitor for the grain trade in the past. It will become a still greater competitor, and will probably undertake, in the natural order of events, a Canadian alliance that will give it a control of trade from the North-West to the sea-board. The Canadian of expansion, also, and has the power to issue millions of new stock, and with the money improve all the conveniences which it possesses for the direction of trade. The Webb syndicate has been suspiciously defended some people. It cannot do harm long as its tendencies are not mono polistic. It can do good if it puts new life into the railway business, and makes it equal to the demands of The New York Commissioner Charities has asked for about $500. 000 increase over the sum allowed to his department by the Van Wyck kind of a difficulty. board to make good what he termed the deplorable conditions of the charitable institutions and to provide adequate supplies : "There has not only a scarcity of food, said, "but also of clothing, and new beds and bedding are wanted. Last year the inmates had only coffee and bread for breakfast, stew for dinner, and tea and bread for supper. They had neither sugar nor butter breakfast or supper, nor had they had any vegetables with their dinner."

"Do you mean to say that these poor people practically lived on coffee or tea and bread? asked Mayor Low, "Yes," replied Commissioner Folks, "that was their diet, except on Thanksgiving and Christmas days, when they had a turkey dinner." Mayor Low was so astonished that he repeated the question and the comssioner gave the same reply, add poor of Canada are better cared for. neals he had described were sometimes

> Note this further fact: That the Clergue and Sturgeon Falls concessions were unopposed by the conservatives in the house. They did not see anything wrong with them. There was some objection to the Spanish River concession, but Mr. Marter had occasion to remind his party that it was therein both unreasonable inconsistent, and "he thought house would be criminally negligent of its duties if it did not allow the great development to take place. The province, said he, has the timber, but it is of no value unless it is used. The government must go into the business to get the value from it, or give other persons concessions to do so. "Honorable gentlemen had argued that the Spanish River concession was a gold mine," Mr. Marter added; they believed that he would like know how many of them had invest ed in the stock which was so widely advertised a short time ago," and that solely produced loud laughter

EXPANSION OF TRADE IN CA-NADIAN DAIRY PRODUCTS.

What the Dominion Department of Agriculture Does For the Farmer And the Exporter-

While primarily we do not live eat, we must eat to live; and a country gains its highest dignity in duction where it can not only feed its own population, but export all surplus produce at reasonably munerative prices to feed other tions. This is the justifiably position of Canada to-day. Less than a decade ago, the province of Nova Scotia paid annually $100,000 to Ontario, for butter and cheese; to-day Nova Scotia does not import cheese, and only a small quantity butter during the winter when dairies are not working up to full capacity. The dairymen of the maritime provinces are not only plying their own markets, but taking a share in the great foreign markets, as Ontario and Quebec have long been doing. The latest report of the minister of agriculture of the do minion, demonstrates that during the past six years Canada, has exported 5332,036,319 worth of such farm produce as wheat, flour, oats, oatmeal, peas, cattle, cheese, butter, pork, bacon, hams and eggs. We give the value of each product in 1896 and 1901.

Farmers in this dominion have now the flowing tide of international pros perity with them, and even the South African war, by its constant demands for food and forage, has contributed to our commercial expansion, for up to the middle of this month the in perial war office has expended on this account over seven millions of dollars through our department of agricul ture; and this is exclusive of horses which have been bought direct by an imperial officer, and does not include waggons or saddlery. Improved cold storage on ocean liners has increased the export of butter from the port of Montreal alone during the past three years, by upwards of one hundred per cent. in quantity, with an increase in profit owing the superiority of the quality of product now landed in Britain, compared with that under the older and less perfect cold storage system. Too much emphasis cannot be laid upon the necessity for owners of creameries to provide cold storage accomodation at them, to protect the butter in cold storage from day after it is made; and the minister of agri culture has induced the government to grant a bonus of $50 per creamery for every creamery at which the owner will provide and keep in use a refri gerator room according to plans and regulations which will be forwarded on application to his department, This system of bonusing commenced in 1897, has been taken advantage of by the owners of about 500 creamer ies; and, to the owners or lessees creameries who have not hitherto on tained the bonus of $50, the government will grant a bonus of that am ount per creamery, if and when its owner provides and keeps in use a re frigerator room, according to th plans and regulations during the current year, and further bonuses 825 each for 1903, and 1904, if and when the refrigerator room has been kept in use according to the regulations during these two seasons. Thus concessions. It is the only common the necessary refrigerator room and had the disease. This was a grave and the owner of a creamery who provides sense stand. It is the one which even and keeps it in use during the three years may receive altogether a bon The cold storage system devised and directed by the dominion depart ment of agriculture has done much to expand-Canadian commerce in food products. It has taken into account the various interests of the producers, the collecting buyers, the carriers or transportation companies, the dis tributing merchants, and the consum ers. By preventing losses by deteriora tion in quality, it has increased the profits of the dealers and augmented the wealth of the country. The dominion government led the way to all this; cold storage in every phase has been tried and found effective; but as first the volume of trade might not have been sufficient to induce business men to put up cold storage warehouses for the accommodation products intended for export, a gran was offered to those who would provide cold storage buildings at central points such grant being in the nature of guarantee that the earnings from the cold storage business at these points would yield at least five cent, on the cost of buildings plant. Obviously, the rates to be charged were to be satisfactory the department of agriculture, and the grants from the government were not to ensure the success of the even ng's dria Bay route next week, to be called upon except to make up enjoyment, and they succeeded adany deficiency between the net earnings and the sum of five per cent. on the cost as mentioned. Advantage was taken of this offer at Quebec only. That capital put into cold storage warehouses will prove a sound remunerative financial investment. not now open to doubt, for this sys tem has passed far beyond the experi mental stage, and without the reals of probable failure. In Great Britain private enterprise has not been want ing in providing cold storage war houses for at least the last ten years and substantial dividends have been declared upon working results.
