SCANDAL IN MONTREAL.

The Montreal council has not added to the respect in which it is generally held by its interference with the punishment of the municipal election telegraphers.

The offenders were only imprisoned, while a friend, unnamed and unknown, hustled around and arranged for their release.

The scandal is simply indefensible. There will never be a clean election while the men in power, including the alleged purists, will deliberately interfere with the cause of justice.

EDITORIAL NOTES.

The United States surplus of revenue over expenditure this year will be $100,000,000. What is to be done with the vast accumulations? Better reduce the taxes.

The Mail signalled its thirtieth anniversary by issuing a splendid illustrated number. The Mail is a good newspaper, and is improving all the while—except in its politics.

The Philadelphia Ledger has it that reciprocity with the United States is an insistent question in Canada.

Sixty bills of more or less doubtful import were dropped or abandoned by the legislature of Quebec in its hurried close.

Mr. Whitney is vexed because Mr. Ross will not call him in and discuss elections. Did he not storm a while ago and say he didn't want to be consulted about the government's business? He ought to be consistent.

The manufacturers of the United States are importing more than a million dollars' worth of raw material every day and exporting more than a million dollars' worth of finished product.

Rev. Dr. Carman has been regarded as a wise and discreet man, but when he talks of appealing to the god of battle, to the Omnipotent One, who hath wrought resurrections, regenerations, renovations, and even revolutions in the earth, he indulges in what may be termed verbal heresies.

Prohibition is not dead, but it may be killed by its friends.

It has been found that although Gen. Miles is considerable of a soldier, that he has earned on the field all the honors which he carries, he is a very poor outfit at a social function, and that above all he cannot "pour" at a five o'clock tea.

The talk about a change of the king's birthday, from November to a more fitting season for outdoor celebration, is pure nonsense.

G. F. Marter is ready to discuss local politics with any member of the opposition, anywhere, and satisfy the people that he voted for what was fair and just in the concession to the Manitoba Pulp and Paper Company.

Rev. Mr. Starr, of Toronto, wants the temperance folks to seize the legislature and pass a prohibition law that would stand any test.

J. D. Chartrand, in Le Soleil, intimates that public writing is degenerating, and that a school of journalism should be established.

The people who have been contemplating the defeat of Hon. Mr. Latchford in Renfrew by Mr. T. W. McGarry are doomed to disappointment.

TO CONCEAL A ROBBERY

COLORED BUTLER TRIED TO WIPE OUT A FAMILY.

William H. Lane Had Stolen Money From Mrs. Furbush, a Wealthy Woman, And Knowing That He Was to Be Jailed, He Murdered Her And Then Philadelphia, April 3.—Fearing that he would be arrested for theft, William H. Lane, a colored butler, shot and killed his employer, Mrs. Ella J. Furbush, her twelve-year-old daughter, Madeline, and probably wounded another, Eloise, aged seven years, at their home, No. 652 North Fifteenth street.

Lane, who is twenty-five years of age, escaped from the house four hours later was arrested, while waiting Camden, N.J., to board a train for Bridgeport, N.J. He was brought to this city, was identified by Eloise and confessed his crime.

Mrs. Furbush lived with her two daughters in a well furnished house. Lane had been her butler since Christmas. Mrs. Furbush had been missing small amounts of money recently and finally informed the police, who began an investigation, which was in progress when the tragedy occurred.

Lane was suspected and a warrant was sworn out for his arrest. At eleven o'clock he went to the house, saw Mrs. Furbush last Monday night counting a large roll of bills. Knowing where she kept the money, he stole $70. Mrs. Furbush missed the money and questioned Lane, but he denied all knowledge of it.

Without attracting the attention of the servants, Lane went to the front door and called in Madeline, skating on roller skates on the sidewalk. He told her that her mother wanted her, and without the slightest suspicion of what had happened the child climbed the stairs without removing the skates.

She went into a room adjoining Lane followed her, and as she called her mother she was seized and instantly Lane shot her, killing her. Lane in his confusion, saw he then robbed the house of $130, two watches and a pocketbook.

While he was searching for the jewelry he was interrupted by the arrival of a policeman, who had a warrant for his arrest on the charge of larceny.

SHOULD SUBMIT CLAIMS.

Troubles Among Inventors Of Wireless Telegraphy.

Berlin, April 3.—G. W. Bargemann, who represents Messrs. Siemens and Halske, made a statement regarding the legal proceedings which the firm contemplates to protect what it considers its rights against other operators of wireless telegraphy systems.

The firm owns the patent of Dr. Braun. Mr. Bargemann said that Messrs. Siemens and Halske will institute proceedings in the law courts of England against the Marconi company when their present case against the Algemein Elektricitat company, which holds the Stahly patents, issued. This case, which is before the German courts, is a claim for 1,500 marks for each case of interference with the company's rights, making an estimated total of over three million marks.

A similar claim will be made against the Marconi wireless company. Mr. Bargemann explains that the whole question turns upon which inventor discovered the applicability of the electric circuit to wireless telegraphy. Dr. Braun claims that he can establish, beyond controversy, that he was the discoverer of the circuit system. The advantage of their circuit over the direct is that it enables direct communication over practically any distance as compared with fifteen kilometers or thereabouts by direct wire, which, he says, is the utmost possible.

In spite of these claims, it is, however doubtful whether litigation will really decide the matter as the United States, English and German governments are trying to arrange that each of three inventors should submit their claims to a contemplated scientific conference on the whole question of wireless telegraphy. This conference, it is hoped, will be held in Berlin.

BRITISHERS WOUNDED.

During A Drunken Brawl In Peking.

Peking, April 3.—There was a drunken brawl between soldiers in a canton here yesterday. It resulted in four English soldiers being severely wounded by bayonets wielded by French and Germans. The attention of the military has been called to the increase of disorderly habits here. The Chinese place no restrictions on these places. The number of murders in Tien Tsin in the past year has caused much criticism of the provisional military government. All the soldiers forming guard there, except the Americans and English, are allowed to carry their side arms when of duty.

Vanderbilt System Extension.

Pittsburg, Pa., April 3.—The Vanderbilt system of this city is to be extended through the Atlantic coast with a terminal at Newport News. The Pittsburg & Lake Erie railroad, operating between Cleveland and the Connellsville region to Fayette City, is to be extended to Brownsville, Pa., and from there a survey of 140 miles to Staunton, Va., is being made. At Staunton the road is to connect with the Chesapeake and Ohio, partially under the control of the Pennsylvania. This will give Connellsville coke and Pittsburg coal another outlet to the coast, and will give Pittsburg an outlet for Cuban and South American ores.

In Honor Of Dr. Hale.

Boston, Mass., April 3.—It would be difficult to find a parallel in all the nation's history for the ovation tendered today to Dr. Edward Everett Hale on the occasion of his eightieth birthday. Neither a hero of war, nor a public man in the general acceptance of the term, but an apostle of peace who cares for no title other than that of a Christian minister, Dr. Hale was the recipient of a public testimonial in which the participants included the foremost representatives of the educational, religious, patriotic, commercial, industrial, charitable, historical, scientific, and literary life of the union.

A Great Railroad.

Duluth, Minn., April 3.—A special to the News Tribune claims authority for the statement that the Banque Francaise and Colonial, of Paris and Belgium, have agreed to take $12,000,000 bonds for building the Manitoba and Gulf railroad on the basis of ninety-five per cent. The proposed road will run from Duluth to Omaha and Kansas City. Work will commence immediately.

Made A Valuable Find.

Berlin, April 3.—In a cablegram received at the colonial bureau, Herr Schlechter, the botanist, declares he has discovered an abundance of rubber and gutta percha, trees in German New Guinea. By this discovery Herr Schlechter wins the 6,000 marks prize offered by the colonial society for the first person to find such trees in the German colonies.

Binghamton Doctor Accused.

Binghamton, N.Y., April 3.—William Carter, the half-breed Indian, under arrest for the attempted murder of Charles Carman at Port Crane, made a confession under oath in which he admits the crime and alleges that he shot Carman at the instigation of Dr. C. J. Tiffany, who paid him to kill Carman.

New Railroad At Clayton.

Clayton, N.Y., April 3.—A party of gentlemen from New York went to the village recently, with a view to secure a franchise for an electric railroad to run from Watertown to Clayton. The advantages chiefly mentioned was of a short route. The village will probably be asked for a franchise.

Into a Georgia Miscreant's Body—Walter Allen Taken From Jail.

Rome, Ga., April 3.—Walter Allen, a negro, charged with attempting to assault Miss Blossom, Atlantian, an fifteen-year-old girl, was taken from the jail by 1,000 people, who battered down the prison doors, and hanged him to an electric light pole in the principal portion of the city. A volley was fired afterwards and fully 1,000 bullets entered negro's body. All the men who took part in the hanging were unmasked. Miss Adamson belongs to one of the most prominent families in Rome.
