BOARD OF TRADE.

President McKelvey Gives a Clear Review of the Business of the Year - The Peculiar Position tions Dealt With.

To the members of the Kingston your council would first call attention to the peculiar position a board trade occupies in the business life a community. It may be said that has little or no specific routine duties to perform and that its usefulness depends entirely on its being in touch with such commercial questions as may arise and demand attention. Its duties are at one time to afford a means for united effort. when the interests of any section of ty require assistance, and at another time the board may have to act as a tution, the board may sometimes find its field of operations presenting little or no opportunity for the expenditure of effort, while at another time t may take action to support or de cat the greatest powers in the nation, and may have to deal with questions not only affecting the com mercial life it directly represents but perhaps extending an influence over the whole commercial life of the car

The year during which your council has held office has not presented for consideration any new business great direct importance to the city and there is no important commercial transaction of local interest to report. Reference will be made to seve al local matters which have been deal with from year to year and have had the serious consideration of your present council. In the first place a sy nopsis of general transactions will be given.

K. & P. Railway. Early in the year upon represent ions made to your council, recogni tion was given to the advantage of having a railway opened up through the section between Sharbot Lake and Carleton Place, which would afford a short cut through Lanark county the Ottawa route and would also a ow the development of mining, manu facturing and agricultural enterprise n the section opened up. Petition ere presented by your council drsing the proposal and asking usual government aid. Subsidies have ince been granted by both domini and provincial governments and why has been paved for opening line. Reference should be made to the fact that the K & P. railway has be ome identified with the C. P. R. hat we have, therefore, direct con nection with both the main lines the country. It is hoped that the k P., which has always proved great value to the business interest. of the city, may now become, if any thing, a more important factor in the the city's commercial life,

Overtime of Customs Officers. In February last your council, acting upon recommendations made by the board of trane, in Windsor, Ont. presented to the minister of customs a petition condemning the practice of requiring steamship, railway and ferry companies to pay for the services of officers and landing waiters rendered outside of official hours of ordin ary judicial days, which, while being open to other objections also, in fect made the officials the servants of the companies pro tem, instead of re taining them in the service of the government. The petition urged that the government assume the full of protecting the revenue, thus lieving the companies of an unfair burden and relieving the government from obligations to public carriers. Many other commercial bodies en dorsed the request and it is believed the government will make the desire! change, bringing the practice in ac-

> Your council was pleased to have the opportunity early last year to endorse a plan for the publication of an illustrated booklet for general distribution as an advertisement of Kimston's business and pleasure at tractions. The matter was one which had been often discussed and several attempt had been made to bring discussion to fruition. When, therefore, a gentleman undertook to carry out the work last year under the auspices of the Whig and its capable puntisher, it was thought that the long feft want would soon be filled. Your council signified approval and agreed to take 250 copies of the book. It is most unfortunate that the work proved unsuccessful, and, if as it is alleged, that the failure resulted from the lack of general support from Kingston merchants, there would bereason to doubt the advisability ci any further attempt in the same line.
