Less Binding On The Roads. Last year, the city engineer decides to put no binding on some of the roads on which stone was spread. The result has been very satisfactory. The side of Ontario street nearest the city buildings was covered with lime-stone without binding, and this condition, the stone having been crushed well into the ground, leaving a smooth surface, very little muc having house of Toronto. spring that piece of road is in fine the stone, and gone over with the steam roller, the mud is very thick now, and the roadbed is not nearly so good as the piece in front of the city buildings where the stone of the city buildings are stone of the city buildings and the stone of the city buildings are stone of the city buildings and the stone of the city buildings are stone of the city bui buildings, where the crusher was not even used. An Enthusiastic Baseball Meeting Last Night.

A very enthusiastic meeting of lovers of baseball was held at Congress Hall last night. It was intended to have the meeting attended by only two members from each team, but dozens of others were present. These teams have entered the following number of players : St. Lawrences, 18; Oddfellows, 48; Longshoremen, Battery, 23; Locomotive works, 14 The Ramblers, having not yet held meeting to organize, did not submit a number. Some objection was taken to the Oddfellows playing Conley Easton, Derry, Moore, McCammon the Laird brothers and others wh had places last year with the Granites and Ponies. A vote was taken on this point, with the result that these men will be allowed to play This gives the Oddfellows the strong est team in the league to start with C. L. Bass considered that his duties as secretary-treasurer would be com plicated enough to warrant him hav ng an assistant; alderman McCammon was appointed to assist Mr. Bass. The executive will meet on Wednesday evening, and the teams will at once get down to work. Many of the team members think that Me Cammon, whose skill is everywhere re cognized, should not be allowed to go into the box for the Oddfellows.
