John N. Shank, of Woodberry, was acquitted in the criminal court yesterday of the charge of assaulting Miss Bessie Saunders, also of Woodberry. Mr. Shank claimed that Miss Saunders struck him with a stone and be pushed her down to prevent her striking him again.

James Fluegel, attorney for Mr. Shank, made the defence that Mr. Shank was entitled under the law to retaliate, even though he had been struck by a woman, as the law re-sognizes no differences between the sexes, and if the aggressor used force toward him he would only be liable or returning the blow in a crust as disproportionate manner.
