The publisher will not be responsible for misstatements of verbal orders. Written directions should be placed on all copy for insertion. All advertisements are subject to the approval of the publisher. In case an advertiser becomes insolvent before the expiration of a contract the advertiser shall cease and that person's legal heirs or assigns shall be charged per line for casual advertisements. In case of errors or omissions in legal or other advertisements, the publisher does not hold himself liable for damage further than the amount returned by him for such advertisement.

THE DAILY WHIG.

Conservative Testimonials. This from the Toronto Telegram, whose publisher, J. Ross Robertson, was formerly the conservative representative of East Toronto, is emphatic: "It would be good tactics for the conservatives to try and prove that they would do as well, or better, than the grifts have done in handling the public resources or spending the public money. But the opposition does not strengthen itself by its feeble and ineffectual attempts to prove that the liberals have handled the public resources unwisely, or have spent the public money either rashly or dishonestly." This, from a conservative and unquestionably independent source, ought to hush some people up, and made them stop their croaking. Perhaps the boldest and most imprudent of them all is the Mail, and its own columns bear the testimony that "the Ontario government's management of the finances has been thrifty, judicious and clean."

GREED OF MONOPOLIES.

The beef trust is exhibiting its greed in no uncertain way. Its plan is to wholly monopolize the trade, and to employ no one who is not its willing agent and tool. There are apparently two objects in view. One is to take over the complete control of the meat trade, and the other is to run up the price and keep them up. The battle between the forces in a place like New York, (now the greater city because incorporated with Brooklyn), where other and aggressive combinations have existed, is exceedingly fierce. Hitherto in Gotham two associations have grown rich upon the bounty of the people, and bounty they have exacted with no sparing hand. These are the Butchers and Butchers' associations. The brokers bought all the sheep, calves and hogs from the farmers, and sold them to the butchers, and a violation of the compact led to serious financial pains. These associations have had to be reckoned with, because in a trade of about two and a half million of sheep and lambs and nearly half a million calves the annual commissions must have been about half a million dollars. The associations will not go out of business without a fight. The great trust must, however, have very carefully prepared for the combat, and calculated upon an extraordinary campaign. It includes the buying up of eggs, hams, lard, poultry, everything that can be accepted as a substitute for meat, which is restricted in its supply and sold at exorbitant rates. The eggs and poultry are put into cold storage, and so well cornered that they have become scarce and dear. The people have still their bread and butter and vegetables, but they realize that they may have to pay for these far more than they are worth. They are the sufferers on every hand already. From the oil, sugar, cotton seed, envelope, steel, glass, milk, oil, cloth, cordage, coffee, carpet, beer, and other trusts. They are all prospering, and the plan is to add to their number, and in the matter of food, to organize one huge and soulless corporation. "Like the frogs of Egypt they have gotten possession of our dwellings," said Sir John Cullpepper, speaking in the Long Parliament many years ago, "and we have scarce a room free from them. They are in our cup; they dip in our dish; they sit by our fire. We find them in the dye-pot, the wash-dish, and the powdering tub. They are with the butler in his box. They will not bate us a pun. We may not buy our clothes without their brokerage. These are the leeches that have sucked the commonwealth so hard that it is almost heticized. What's to be done? Look to legislation? The powers that are capable of owning the earth and its products are capable of owning the governments, too—or trying to do so."

THE POLICY AT SEA.

What is the policy of the local opposition? Nobody knows. Mr. Whitney has been finding fault with the government and its proceedings, but he has not advanced any programme which he can conscientiously say has the party's endorsement. That the party, as a whole, is not satisfied, has been made very clear. It will be remembered that the leader of the opposition summoned a council of political friends which met in Toronto in December, 1900. Dr. Smythe attended it. A platform was then suggested. The erstwhile candidate of the party in East York, Mr. Moyes, demanded that a convention be called, and a policy defined, but he was overruled and silenced by Mr. Whitney, who feared that at a larger gathering "rash and injudicious statements" would be made, and the party held responsible for them. He had his way then, but he did not quiet his followers. Soon after the World, conservative, had occasion to discuss the federal leadership. It called for a convention at which the party could lift its voice and say just what it felt. "The platform and leadership," said our contemporary, "are not to be settled by a cabal or by a cut-and-dried arrangement among a few. The day for that is past. Even in local politics a convention would do a power of good. Mr. Whitney stands equally in need of the advice of the rank and file. Waiting for the shoes of men not yet dead is often unprofitable. Let him make a pair for himself, and take the party's advice in the making."

THE CONSERVATIVE OPPOSITION.

The conservative opposition in the commons are hurt because the government, on the demand of Mr. Kemp, will not, while the matter is being discussed with the colonial office, tell what is being said on the floor and what tax. They must possess their souls in patience.

EDITORIAL NOTES.

Mr. Whitney's greatest grievance, "We've been out of power too long." The date of polling, May 29th, suits the leader of the opposition. He is ready to be offered up.

SUNDAY LABOUR.

The Lord's Day Alliance, and all who are in sympathy with its objects, will approve the decision under which an appeal is to be made to the court of final resort, the privy council of England. The provincial court of appeal has, for a long time, had before it certain questions which were referred to it by the government, and which were calculated to settle the power of the province to determine and enforce Sabbath observance. Some questions the judges, excepting Judge Armour, declined to answer. So that the purpose of the reference has been practically defeated. What has been said by the court—and by no means unanimously—is more against the interpretation of the law by the Lord's Day Alliance than in its favour. The chief issue is the point whether a provincial measure can deal with what properly belongs to the dominion parliament. In addition works of necessity may be carried on, and at once there has been a case which was disposed of on this point, namely that against the contractor at Cornwall who worked his hands on Sunday in order to push to completion the canal contract he had on hand. Contributory to the result was the concession of the federal government, which struck out of the contract the prohibition against Sunday labour, and so paved the way for the plea that it was a necessity. Having failed to get a satisfactory ruling from the Canadian court upon the subject appeal is quite properly taken to the highest court in the realm. The questions at issue are such as call for the fullest light from the highest legal luminaries, and for the settlement of them for all time.

WHITNEY FEELS DEFEAT.

HE HAS NO POLICY ON WHICH TO WIN. Will Sustain the Men Who Have Proved Themselves By the Test of Experience—Kingston is For Pense. Get ready to register. Whitney feels defeat in his bones. Ross and Pense. Vote and work for them. What more could you have than prosperity? "Remember Ross! By Jove we can never forget him," said a good conservative. Who would give away the substance of liberal government for the shadow offered by the opposition? The liberal party in Kingston stands united to a man, and it will triumph as it has done for the past ten years. The real position of Mr. Whitney and his friends could be stated in a few words—they have been out of office a long time and want to get in. The only genuine grievance the conservatives have against the liberal government is that it has been in power for thirty years. "Mr. Martz is up against the real thing" when he attacks Mr. Nesbitt—Nesbitt has that unkind to call a conservative candidate "a thing?" The Ontario government is busily converting the inexhaustible supply of pulpwood into cash for the benefit of the people. The cash, derived this way, saves direct taxation. Every young man over twenty-one, in the province a year and the city for three months, can have a vote. The Ontario government gave the manhood franchise. The patrons caused the drop in 1894 and 1898. It is thought the liberal majority in the next legislature will be over twenty. The liberal lease of power has been a long one. The local Tory organ has a bad for demanding proof in the concrete. Well, let it give as well as demand. Will it name any prominent disaffected ones in the liberal party of Kingston? There is no doubt but that Hon. G. W. Ross will be returned to power. Ontario has given liberalism these majorities in each election: 1875, 16; 1879, 26; 1883, 10; 1886, 25; 1890, 23; 1894, 8; 1898, 8. Kingston stands for Pense, whose public spiritedness, zeal for the city, willingness to help all good causes, and stalwart liberalism, marked by independence and thought, has made him esteemed by all classes. Will the conservative educationalists step right up and tell us what changes they would make in Ontario's school system? They shout loudly, but offer no improvements. They destroy but do not construct. The new electric light in front of the liberal committee rooms on Princess street, illuminates the whole block. Similar to the noble record of the Ross government, it "shines like a good deed in a naughty world."

FITH OF THE NEWS.

The Very Latest News Cullied From All Over The World. Bull fighting in Spain is to be abolished. W. H. Reeves, implicated in Cuban postal frauds, has been pardoned. Marion B. Rosssett, of Verona, N. Y., lighted a fire with kerosene. She will never light another. One man was killed by an explosion of gas in a tunnel in the Ridge mines at Mahoney City, Pa., on Monday.

Charles E. Quade, of Binghamton, N. Y., who last week won a railroad scholarship of $10,000 damages. The number of students in the university of Michigan for the year 1901-1902 is 3,769. This is the official figure.

President Roosevelt has appointed Benjamin F. Baross, New Jersey, assistant secretary to succeed O. E. Pruden, deceased. In connection with the death of W. O. Barton, Hamilton, it is said that the deceased carried over $20,000 accident insurance.

The festivities in honor of the coronation of King Alfonso XIII. of Spain, will last a week and will be of unusual splendor. Russia will suspend passenger traffic on the trans-Siberian railway from April 28th as the line will be required for military purposes.

Dr. C. W. Brooks died at his home in St. Paul. He was ninety-one years of age and one of the oldest Methodist ministers in the United States. He was ordained in 1835.

Second Lieut. J. N. Smith, brother of Samuel, Armour of the Central school staff, was accidentally drowned in the Gull river, north of Norland on Tuesday.

Dr. Jameson, coming to London, to confer with the executives of Mr. Rhodes' educational trust, will be met at Maderia by one of the new imperialist's intimate friends.

Striking dyers' helpers in Paterson, N.J., sent one banner to the hospital, and another into a vat of dye and badly burned it. Much property was destroyed.

Inspector Cross and 200 picked men raided fourteen houses in East First, Second, Third and Ninth streets, and Second avenue, New York, on Tuesday night and 200 women were jailed. The small-pox epidemic in London is recurring. Seventy-nine new cases of the disease are reported. The recurrence is most violent in West and Stepney. There are 1,447 cases under treatment.

Prof. Rosenstein declares that this is the critical day in the illness of queen Wilhelmina. If the fever does not increase her majesty will begin to recover. If there are no complications she will be out within six weeks.

Queen Alexandra has returned from Copenhagen. The king and the prince and princess of Wales met her at Charing Cross station. The queen embraced the princess and then drove with the king to Buckingham palace.

Brantford doctors have disagreed in the Quirk case. Dr. Dwyer, one of the oldest practitioners in Brantford, is of opinion that the hotelkeeper's death was accidental. Dr. H. Frank, who performed the autopsy stoutly maintained that the wounds were made by a murderer.

General Egbert L. Viole died suddenly at his home in New York city, aged 76 years. He served in the Mexican war and resigned from the regular army in 1839. From 1834 to 1856 he was state engineer of New Jersey. He was chief engineer of Central Park, New York, in 1856 and prepared his original plan which was adopted for the park. General Viole served in the Civil war and was made a brigadier general of volunteers in 1861. He was a member of congress from 1855 to 1857.

The Whig is represented as having, in previous elections, abused certain leaders of the conservative party. But it is not in the habit of abusing its friends.

A campaign button has been gotten out by the conservative party with Mr. Whitney's picture on it. By and by it will be handy for the game, "Button, button, who's got the button."

The Hamilton Spectator protests against the spoon-feeding of New Ontario. Hasn't Old Ontario had any of it? Hasn't even the ambitious city profited considerably by government favours?

One does not hear any more about the call with a cough. Poor thing it must have died since the last election, though the conservative party does not seem to have gone into mourning on its account.

Now that the conservatives are about to send a deputation into New Ontario, the nicest things are being said about it. The last has been probably heard about Mr. Clergue's phenomenal steal for the Algoma Central railway.

The Witness has information to the effect that, in the Ontario political campaign, "the prohibition question seems to count for nothing." It is only one question, and it is only overshadowed by others. Mr. Whitney dodges it all he can.

The young Americans who will attend Oxford, as a result of the Rhodes scholarships, will not lose their nationality. They will, however, get impressions of English life which will do them good and indirectly benefit their nation and people.

BE WISE TO-DAY!

'TIS WISDOM TO DEFER! THE USE OF Paine's Celery Compound IN SPRING TIME Means Banishment of Disease and the Establishment of Strength, Vigor and Permanent Health.

Well meaning and really worthy people often err when sickness and disease come to them. Too often they are content to follow blindly the advice of second-rate physicians, who in nine cases out of every ten fail to properly diagnose the ills they are called upon to cure. Too frequently our sick people put their trust and confidence in common advertised pills, nervines, saraparillas and other liquid concoctions. Terrible disappointments and results come to the users of such medicines; sickness and disease is aggravated—their dangers vastly increased. Happy are the people who, when disease has laid its hand upon them, use Dr. Paine's life giving prescription Paine's Celery Compound, a medicine that stands without an equal for feeling exhausted nerves, purifying the blood and building up the weakened and run-down system. Weakly, sickly and diseased ladies mortal, it is useless to defer the use of that health giving medicine that has resumed and saved its tens of thousands in every land. Paine's Celery Compound is the one true specific recognized and prescribed by the best medical authorities that stands without an equal for feeling exhausted nerves, purifying the blood and building up the weakened and run-down system. You need its use this very day; your condition demands its common sense and a knowledge of what Paine's Celery Compound has done for others, should be your guide at this critical time of your life. Paine's is the kind that makes sick people well. See that the name is on both sides of the wrapper. Do not be induced to take a substitute or any imitation; you need the kind that has cured others.

BATTERY NOTES.

Court Earl Roberts, I.O.F., appointed a committee, at the regular meeting last night, to select a suitable present to be presented to Sergeant Maj. Gimblett, who is leaving for South Africa. Regimental Sergt. Maj. Long, who has been ill for the last few weeks, reported for duty to-day. The steamyacht V.R. will be given her summer dress and launched in a few days. The battery boys are very much pleased with master tailor Creighton for the kind way in which he loaned his horse and buggy last Sunday to convey Sergt. Turner, who was injured at Tuttle's Hill, back to barracks.

Gen. Smith's Trial. Manila, April 23.—By order from Washington the court-martial order of Gen. Jacob H. Smith, on the charge of conduct prejudicial to good order and discipline, has been dissolved. The members of the court which will try Gen. Smith will be named at Washington.

Mr. Allen Deyo, Springfield, N.Y., drank two ounces of carbolic acid with suicidal intent, and was found dead in a small grove. American capitalists will erect a new $250,000 hotel in Winnipeg.

JAPANESE CATARRH CURE is made by the Japanese and never fails. The catarrh does not cure live, after this cure killer medicine, solve it. It breaks the sores in the throat, and restores the throat and closes out the head, making the breathing free and easy. Bring a concentrated antiseptic solution, the Japanese, it is a useful remedy.
