DISTORTION OF FACTS.

Mr. Foy is a respectable man, and desires to be credited with conduct ing a respectable campaign. But how can this be when he is given to the most transparent misrepresentations In an address at St. Mary's he charged that the ballots in the West Elgin election case had been burned, purposely, "to hide evidences of elecknown facts: (1) That the bailots had been already scrutinized by the court and the charges in regard to them made by one Pritchett, disproved, and (2 that a commission of judges had enquired into the burning of the bal lots and that their report had been that the destruction was inadvertent and without design and purpose There is nothing to be gained by deliberate distortion of the facts, and Mr. Foy ought to be above it.
