Perfumes In Old Days.

Our forefathers were great people for scents and perfumes, fragrant herbs and spices, and the astonish amount of seasoning they put with simplest dishes prepares one for almost any combination. When to make a cherry tart they found it necessary to make a sirup of cinnamon, ginger, and "sawnders," and to add rosewater to the icing, one can imagine how they set to work to cook a cormorant. Perhaps if we remind our readers that many chambers were provided with "draughts" which occasionally required cleaning, and that rushes took the place of pets, we will realize one of the reawaters" were occasionally sprinkled under the rushes in great houses, or for revels, or on the mattresses an bedding.
