GEN. VILJOEN IN EXILE.

Writes Interesting Letter Telling How He Was Captured.

Amsterdam, May 14.—Gen. Ben Viljoen, writing in English from Broad Bottom Camp, St. Helena, to a friend in Holland, says: "Here I am, a prisoner of war, banished, I am told, for life. My capture was a most unfortunate occurrence, as I wished to see the end in the field, and in truth, they ambushed S. Burger and the government, of whose movement information, leaked out."

"But at the last moment the government decided not to proceed, and I was compelled to go with a few of my staff, with the result that we rode into 120 Tommies who lined the road on both sides. When we got within two feet of the mouths of the rifles they shout 'hands up!' and opened fire."

"The first volley killed two of my staff and my horse, and when I dropped on the ground I was about two feet from the firing line, and it was fire, sparks, bullets, and dust flying all over, and although there was no chance to escape, the officers could not get the Tommies to cease fire until quite a ton of lead was wasted. One bullet penetrated my coat and tore open my pocket-book."

"It was like a concert in Hades with phosphorescent absent."

"We then marched to the camp, and the officer commanding at that place was kindness itself, and I met some officers who were previously my prisoners, and whom I treated as if should be, so that I was in good hands."

"I did not take long to get me here. I was terribly sick on the ship, and glad to land even at this forsaken rock. The officers on board treated me with great consideration, in fact, all along I was well treated."

PRESBYTERIAN ASSEMBLY.

An Election For Moderator Is Going On.

New York, May 15.—The 114th Presbyterian general assembly, which was called to order by the moderator, Rev. Henry C. Minton, D.D., at 11 o'clock to-day, in the Fifth avenue Presbyterian church, at 9 o'clock the chapel was opened to receive the credentials of the commissioners and alternates, and from that hour until the assembly convened, the Rev. Dr. William H. Roberts, the stated clerk, was kept busy distributing budgets and assigning the delegates to their places. The galleries of the edifice were crowded to suffocation when the opening hymn was sung, the spectators joining with the commissioners and alternates in the rendition of the anthem. Spacious though it is, the church was not large enough to accommodate the crowds and many were turned away.

The various local and sub-committees are engaged in the preparation and adequate arrangements have been made by those committees for the proper entertainment of the visitors.

The sermon of the retiring moderator, Dr. Minton, occupied the entire morning session, and at its conclusion the assembly adjourned until a late hour this afternoon to prepare for the election of a new moderator, the most important practical business of the day. Of the several candidates in the field no one seems to have a decisive lead and all forecasts as to the outcome of the election are purely problematical.

Some Fashion Notes.

The blue linen bid fair to be among the most popular suits for outings.

Very gayly flowered machine printed organdie is very much utilized for the making of pretty odd evening waists.

Shirt waist frocks are to be expected for summer rough and ready service in place of the short woollen skirt and the separate shirt waist.

Stiff lined collars and starched cuffs are things of the past. In their place are soft tacked bands or bands of lace edged with a tiny lace ruffle.

Belts of brocaded satin ribbon are in vogue. The fashion is a jewel of art nouveau buckle, and sometimes have short ribbon ends.

Short sleeves are now worn. These are not always accompanied by long gloves, some preferring to show a well-shaped arm.

Pure white laces are used on tan and biscuit gowns, while cream and string colored laces adorn toilets of pure white silk, poplin, satin and louisine.

Many evening gowns and blouses have long Turkish sleeves left perfectly transparent and set into an open band, covered by bracelets and bangles. Although novel, this sleeve is not nearly so smart as the tightly fitted one sloping out over the hand, which fashion is still popular.

Soldiers' Monument Dedicated.

Indianapolis, Ind., May 15.—With bright sunshine and blue skies, with a grand parade of citizen soldiers, with teeming crowds, and in the presence of a distinguished company of the Indiana sailors and soldiers' monument was dedicated to-day. The monument unveiled is probably the handsomest memorial of its kind in the country. In 1857 the state legislature made an appropriation for the monument and its construction occupied nearly ten years. It is an imposing shaft of Indiana white stone and in height is surpassed only by the Washington monument at the national capital. It is capped by an allegorical figure fifteen feet in height, an adobe attractiveness is given by the magnificent approaches which occupied a space of nearly four acres. About the base are magnificent fountains and huge bronze groups of the immortal itself occupied a conspicuous position in the park known as the Circle in the very heart of the business district. So lofty is the shaft that it is the first thing seen by visitors approaching the city from any direction.
