A GOOD TURNOUT. The First Street Parade of the corps was proven by the large crowds which thronged the streets last evening to see the first parade of the season. Hundreds and hundreds waited eagerly for the appearance of the soldier boys, and when they came cheered them proudly. It was about 8:30 prim., when the regiment marched out of the armouries under command of Lieut. Col. Skinner, and headed by the clever brass and bugle bands. The route of march lay out Montreal street, down Princess, along King, up Barrie and down Ordnance to the armouries. The bugle band was out in large numbers, and presented fine appearance. The regiment looked fit and well, and the boys marched with a precision and preastness that was good to see. The companies were not all full last night, but there was, nevertheless, a good turn-out. For early in the season, the regiment presents a splendid appearance.
