They Are Oldest Triplets In The

North Union, Me., June 4.-Mrs. Sarah Fossett and Mrs. Mary Fossett of North Union, and Mrs. Martha Hagar, of Somerville, Mass., believed to be the oldest female triplets in the world, are about to hold a reunion here in celebration of their seventyninth birthday. All are in excellent health and expect to live to celebrate their ninetieth joint birthday, that being the age at which their ther met an accidental death. The family to which the triplets belonged numbered thirteen children, and a remarkable fact is that the birth of the triplets was preceded by the birth two pairs of twins. Early in life Martha, Mary and Sarah engaged in work in a factory in Waltham, Mass and were employed there when th late governor Banks of Massachusetts was a bobin boy in the same estabishment. More than a quarter of century ago the three sisters held a birthday reunion in Waltham and among those in attendance were gover-

PARLIAMENT WILL DO SOME-THING FOR KITCHENER.

May Get £100,000 And an Earldom-A Speech By Kitchener That Was Enormously Cheered -The Fighting Forces Represented at the Coronation.

London, June 4.—The opinion the world regarding the terms of Africa. peace, with the Boers, is now chiefly occupying attention at the capital The tributes to the remarkable mili tary qualities of the burghers are generally concurred in, but the chief note in England's reception of foreign comment is the strength of the anti-German feeling, which was uncompromisingly and angrily revived by the Times, Monday morning. The Graphic to-day says that amid all the chorus of congratulations and pleasant comment there is only one discordant note. It comes from Germany. The note is full of venomous hatred

The Telegraph says it is expected that lord Salisbury will present in the house of lords, to-day, a vote in recognition of Gen. Kitchener's service in South Africa. It is not known several months. The Times believes lots. that the grant to be made by parliament to Gen: Kitchener will be £100, 000 to enable him to suitably mainwill be conferred on him.

Gen. Kitchener visited the Vereniging camp on Sunday and made a short would be friends. The enormously cheered. The Boers pressed the opinion that there would not be the slightest difficulty about the commandoes coming in. The most cordial and friendly sentiments were expressed. It was decided that there should be three centres for the surrender of arms. In the eastern Transvaal, Gen. Bruce Hamilton will ceive them; in the western Transvaal. Gen. Walter Kitchener, and in Orange River Colony, Gen. Elliott.

The ten Boer delegates, who signed the peace document were: For the Orange River Colony, Messrs, Christian Dewet, Olivier, Hertzog, and Brebner; for the Transvanl. Messrs. Schalkburger, Reitz, Louis Botha, Delarey, Lucas Meyer and Krogh. The war office has issued an announcement that it has been arranged with Gen. Kitchener that ten reservist men from each corps shall be embarked immediately to represent the South African army at the coronation. The arrangement includes representatives of the colonial troops. It is reported that friendly advances are being indirectly made by the British government to Mr. Kruger, with the object of enabling the expresident to return to Africa, conditionally on his retirement to his farm at Rustenburg.

The proclamation of peace has been signalized on the stock exchange by an all round decline in the price of Kaffirs. The immediate future of the market is doubtful, but the hope is by no means abandoned that there will be a big rush for all kinds of see included the entire territory of South African securities.
