A Young Lady's Death.

After an illness of consumption, extending over two years, Elsie H. Farmer, only daughter of George Farmer, Wolfe Island, passed to the land of morning on the 16th. On May 1st, she returned from Santa Fe, New Mexico, where for a year and a half she sojourned in quest of better health.

Finding herself no better, she turned homeward to end her days on her native island. The deceased young lady was only eighteen years of age. Her demise has caused a saddened home and many sorrowful friends. On the 13th, the remains were laid to rest in the Episcopal church cemetery on Wolfe Island, and were followed to the grave by a large concourse of people.

Granted A Divorce.

In supreme court, at Watertown, N.Y., a divorce was granted Thomas Harding from his wife. The couple were married in Kingston in 1886, and lived together in Watertown till July last year. Last fall the wife began an action against her husband for alleged cruelty, but never came to trial. Then Harding sued for divorce. William Dineen was named as correspondent, and evidence was given that he and Mrs. Harding had gone away together to Michigan. The three children will be kept in the Watertown orphan's home, where they now are.

Citizens Can Help.

Many a neat boulevard in front of a $5,000 or $10,000 house in town is flanked by burdocks and rank growth of other weeds. The effect is not grand. There is little hope of a corporation laborer being directed to cut down these weeds and make the edges of the streets tidy, though the cost would be trifling, perhaps four weeks' work for one man each summer.

The obvious duty, therefore, of each householder is to spend half an hour or less in cutting down the weeds in front of his residence. How many will do it, and help to make Kingston presentable to excursionists?

PROPOSITION OF A SLAVE.

WILL BECOME A SLAVE FOR A CURE.

Would Be Man's Slave.—Says He Smokes About Fifteen Pills of Opium Every Morning, and Cannot Control Himself.

Denver, June 21.—An odd proposition is made by William Jackson, a negro arrested for frequenting an opium den.

Jackson acknowledges that he is a victim to the opium habit. He says he is very anxious to be cured and announces that, for the period of three years, he will be a slave to the man or men who effect a cure in his case.

"I know," said he, "that the days of slavery are over. I want to be a man again. I will work and be the lover of any man who will cure me. I will work for three years for nothing, except my board and clothes."

Jackson is an intelligent negro, about thirty-five years of age. He came to Denver six weeks ago from Omaha, where he was employed in the hall of Elks' lodge, No. 30, as a porter. He has letters of recommendation in his pocket from this organization and says that he may return at any time to his former employers and go to work again.

He was found by a policeman in the room of a man known as Ollie Burns. The policeman who traveled the last street beat frequently have been told that opium was smoked in the room. They found Jackson seated in the room, with an opium laudanum at his side.

The layout was there, but there was no opium. I intended buying fifteen cents' worth of opium, which would make me about ten or fifteen pills, I smoke about that many pills every morning, and I have got to have them," said Jackson.

"I got into the habit six years ago when doctors were treating me for rheumatism. They gave me morphine and when I got well I had to have it, I changed to opium laudanum. Some friends, when I came to Denver I asked a policeman on a street corner if I would be permitted to smoke opium. He told me that there was no reason why I shouldn't smoke, as lots of other people smoke. Sometimes the policeman would come to the room and watch me while I was smoking. Burns is innocent."

Half a dozen opium dens are running to wide open doors, where people and negroes in the slums of the city are in uniform walk through these resorts several times each night and make no attempt to arrest the keepers.

THE CASE PROCEEDINGS.

Hon. S. H. Blake is Acting for The Conservatives.

Toronto, Ont., June 21.—The Lennox election case came before Justice MacLennan, at Osgoode Hall, this morning, and arguments were made on each of the disputed ballots in the case. The counsel for the liberals were George Watson, K.C., and S. H. Blake, K. C., W. D. McPherson and Gus Porter, M.P., appeared for the conservatives.

Mr. McPherson contended that two ballots allowed by the judge for Madole had been tampered with and that they should be disallowed. Mr. Blake quoted from decisions of the judge in West Elgin, to show that a mark placed in the division of a ballot containing a candidate's number was a good vote. As one of the votes allowed for Madole Mr. Blake argued that it should be disallowed, because a circle was drawn around the cross and another mark made intended to cancel the vote. Another vote counted for Madole had only a circle on it, a mark of a distinctive nature. Mr. McPherson claimed that two Carscallen ballots had been marked in such a way as to spoil them by some persons in the division of the voters. The case is proceeding.

LAST WAR OF CONQUEST.

London, June 21.—The Fortnightly Review, in an editorial article, expresses itself as apprehensively dubious concerning Great Britain's capacity for the self-imposed task of governing one-quarter of the globe and one-third of its inhabitants. The paper hazards the conjecture that the peace at Pretoria marks the limit of Great Britain's expansion and that she has fought her last war of conquest.

FIVE YEARS A FUGITIVE.

JOHN E. GALLAGHER LONG ELUDED THE POLICE.

Bought on Murder Charge—Charged With Shooting Joseph McMahon at Taunton, Mass.—Discovered in Employ of Rochester Railway Company.

Rochester, N.Y., June 21.—It has just been made known by the police here that there has been working in this city for some time a man wanted in Taunton, Mass., on a charge of murder in the first degree, and assault in the second degree.

The man wanted is John E. Gallagher, alias John E. Dunn, of the murderer of Joseph McMahon, at Taunton, Mass., November 21st, 1897, and the shooting of his wife, who was not killed.

Gallagher for some time passed has been working for the Rochester railway company, but suddenly took flight upon learning the police were investigating his case. A reward of $500 is offered for his arrest.

Atrocious Crime.

Taunton, Mass., June 21.—John E. Gallagher has been sought by the police since November 2nd, 1897, as his crime was an atrocious one. He entered the house of Joseph McMahon, his wife's brother, and after taking precautions to escape easily, went in to the bedroom where McMahon lay asleep with Gallagher's little son. McMahon awoke and Gallagher fired at him, inflicting fatal wounds. Mrs. Gallagher, who was in the house, was aroused by the shooting and barely escaped a bullet.

It was believed that Gallagher's intention was to kill the whole family. His grievance was that his wife had refused to live with him. Gallagher disappeared directly after the shooting. The Taunton police had heard nothing from the Rochester police and were unwilling to venture an opinion as to the identity of the man said to have been there.

FIRE AND LIGHT COMMITTEE.

Mistake Made in Character of Cap Ornaments for Men.

The civic committee on fire and light met Friday afternoon for transaction of general business. In attendance were: Aids, Bell, chairman; Craig, Harkness, McFarlane and King. A number of accounts were presented and approved. An account of $5.90 from A. Strachan for goods supplied in 1899 and 1900 was referred to the city engineer and chairman; if correct it will be paid.

Chairman Bell announced that there was an increase of $9.50 in the account of George Mills for caps furnished the firemen; he could not say by whose mistake the over charge arose. The chief said he had ordered metal numbers for the front of the caps, but by some mistake they came in silk, worked into the cloth. They were very serviceable, however, and would last for three or four years. The chairman approved of the decoration, whereupon Aid. Craig moved that Mr. Mills account be paid; carried.

Aid. Craig suggested that the firemen should be provided with helmets for use at fires; if these were available the good dress caps could be saved, which would be a point of economy. The chairman and other members of the committee concurred in Aid. Craig's suggestion.

Continuing, Aid. Craig stated that serviceable helmets could now be produced in aluminum at reasonable prices. Perhaps a saving could be effected in some particular and money enough saved provided for the purchase of the helmets.

The city engineer was authorized to ascertain the cost of such helmets and report to the committee.

Upon the suggestion of Aid. McFarlane, it was decided to have the two exercise wagons painted, it will prolong their days of usefulness.

Aid. McFarlane also suggested that the city property committee be notified that the roof of the Ontario street fire hall is in a leaky condition and requires immediate attention and repairs.

Chairman Bell promised to have ready by next meeting a statement of the expenditure to date.

Chairman Bell expressed the belief that the new uniforms provided for the firemen would prove serviceable for two years at least.

Golden Wedding.

Perth Courier. On Monday last a family gathering took place at the home of Mr. and Mrs. John G. Campbell, to celebrate the fiftieth anniversary of their marriage, or, as it is termed in a fine old phrase handed down from long ago, their "golden wedding."

On the 16th of June, 1852, John G. Campbell and Miss Helen Isabella Murdoch were made man and wife at the home of the bride's father, John A. Murdoch, of Bathurst, superintendent of education for the district, their wedding trip being to their new home in the county of Lambton, where the Hon. Malcolm Cameron, friend of the families, had established a settlement. After a few years they returned to this county, where they have resided ever since, the latter thirty years or so of their life having been spent in Perth.

The golden anniversary gathering was a very happy one, and parents, children and grandchildren, met together on so happy an occasion, found mutual pleasure and enjoyment in family intercourse. The usual mementoes were not forgotten.
