EDWARD TAYLOR APPOINTED UNION'S NOMINEE RECEIVES THE POSITION.

Lively Time in Council Over the Appointment—Ald. King Refused to Ask His Committee To Sign The Water Works Committee Report.

The members of the city council were witnesses of a strange proceeding last evening, unique in the history of that august body—the withholding of a report from the members of a committee by the chairman. When the mayor called for a report from the water works committee, Ald. King, chairman, replied, "no report."

Ald. King took the trouble to inform the council that the present water works committee had been intended for the city property committee, whose chief duties might have been to purchase cows for the use of or to relieve the certain clubs of the rental of Ontario hall. He refused to present the report, now that it had been fully signed. Ald. Graham presented the report and Ald. Graham and Ald. King moved that it be received. Carried.

Ald. King and Walkem moved the adoption of the report. The first mentioned said he knew for two reasons that there would be no report. The first was that the report was not ready when it came to a question of politics. Another reason was that the committee had not yet received a majority of the committee. He was barred from presenting the report. As there was but one clause in the report, recommending the appointment of an assistant engineer to the water works pumping station, members of the committee signing it were in duty bound to stand by their signatures.

Ald. Abbott also took occasion to inform council that he had not been asked nor given an opportunity of signing the report.

Ald. King stuck to his point, that not having the support of his committee, and the report being insufficiently signed, he was unable to present it.

Ald. Behan considered the position taken by Ald. King as perhaps the most remarkable that any alderman had ever taken in the council. Hitherto it had been customary for chairmen, out of courtesy, to have members of their committees report to sign. This courtesy was the members of the committee, and Ald. King had no right to withhold the report; he was in duty bound to hand over the report.

Mayor Shaw called for the next order of business, but Ald. Graham objected. "I am here prepared to do the city's business, and should be allowed to facilitate it. I am prepared to sign that report if given an opportunity of doing so. Mr. Mayor, you have sat in committee and differed from your colleagues in certain points, yet signed the report because they bore the signatures of a majority of the committee, though you opposed some points of the report."

Mayor Shaw—You are speaking for me?
Ald. Graham—Yes.
Mayor Shaw—Have the goodness to speak for yourself, never mind me.
Ald. Walkem—Oh, Ald. Graham is quite capable of speaking for himself.

Ald. Graham—I am here to transact the city's business, no matter who may see fit to stay away, and no matter what others may want to do, and I should be handed that report to sign.

At this stage Ald. King handed the report to the city clerk, saying, "that as chairman of the committee, he was through with it, the report was now in the hands of the city clerk."

Ald. Behan—Under what rule of council does Ald. King hand the unsigned report to the city clerk, saying that as chairman of the committee he was through with it, the report was now in the hands of the city clerk?
Ald. King replied that he was guided by a rule of common sense. If the committee signed the report now they would do so without his consent. If they signed it they were in duty bound to stand by their signatures.

Ald. Behan asked if there was any rule whereby a chairman could withhold a report from his committee.
The mayor replied that as the document was not properly signed he held that it was not a report.

Without Precedent.
Ald. Farrell pointed out that Ald. King's action was not customary and was, perhaps, without precedent. No chairman had a right to withhold a report from the members of his committee. If council was to be ruled in this arbitrary way by one chairman, the council might as well hand over the city's business to him and allow him to transact it. The mayor should request Ald. King to hand the report to the members of his committee.

Ald. McLeod asked if it was a fact that Ald. King had refused to hand the report to the committee. He was informed, Ald. McLeod considered it most unfair treatment to accord members of a committee. He always stood up for fair play, and would do so now. The council should have given an opportunity to sign the report.

Ald. Tait came to the defence of Ald. King and told council of what had transpired in committee. Ald. Abbott was greatly surprised at the action of Ald. King. At the beginning of the year he congratulated the worthy chairman upon being energetic, but his present action greatly lowered him in the estimation of the aldermen. The city's business should not be blocked by the committee's action should be reported to the council.

council. He was willing to sign the report if allowed.
Ald. Graham—May I have the privilege of signing the report, Mr. Mayor?
Mayor Shaw—Have you any objection, Ald. King?
Ald. King still maintained that the stand he took was the proper one. There was only one clause in the report, and by signing it the other members were bound to stand by it. In some cases aldermen had signed a report, but had taken the trouble to point out clauses to which they objected.

At the point Ald. Graham walked around to the city clerk's desk, and, taking up the report, signed it. He then handed it to Ald. Abbott, who also attached his signature.

Ald. Graham—I see that Ald. King has not yet asked his other colleagues to sign it. He would like to run the whole show. It's a queer thing if he is the only one around the board who has any brains.

Ald. King took the trouble to inform the council that the present water works committee had been intended for the city property committee, whose chief duties might have been to purchase cows for the use of or to relieve the certain clubs of the rental of Ontario hall. Farrell, Graham, Kent, Knapp, White, Nays—Mayor Shaw, Ald. Bell, Dunlop, Harkness, Hipson, King, Mallen, McCann, McFarlane, McLeod, Tait, Walkem—12.

The Liberals For Taylor.
Ald. Farrell followed up by endorsing the candidature of Taylor, pointing out that as the council had to choose between the two remaining candidates, the better one should receive the appointment.

Ald. Walkem was glad he was able to agree with Ald. Farrell upon one point, at least. He was favorable to the candidature of Taylor. After an experience of six or seven years on the water works committee, the speaker's ideal man for the vacant position was a skilled mechanic.

Ald. Behan pointed out that Ald. Walkem was not quite consistent. If he had always been of the opinion that none but skilled mechanics should be appointed to the pumping station, he should not have supported the present chief engineer. Would Ald. Walkem place the two men on a level?

Ald. Walkem said that Cullen was the best man the city ever had in the pumping station.

Ald. Craig also paid a tribute to the worth of Taylor, and pointed out the necessity of appointing a skilled machinist to the position.

Ald. King charged Ald. Farrell with voting for Rice, knowing that his name would not carry.

Ald. Farrell appealed to the chair, and Ald. King, upon request, withdrew his statement.

The motion of Aids. Hipson and Harkness to appoint Edward Taylor, was next brought up and carried on this division:
Yays—Mayor Shaw, Ald. Abbott, Behan, Bell, Craig, Dunlop, Farrell, Graham, Harkness, Hipson, Kent, Knapp, Walkem, White—14.
Nays—Ald. King, Mallen, McCann, McFarlane, McLeod, Tait—6.

The report, as amended, was then adopted on motion of Aids. King and Walkem.

AT THE CAVALRY CAMP.
The Soldiers Are in the Last Week For Drill.

The opening day of the last week in camp at Barrfield passed off very quietly. The troops have got down to business, and are doing their work in earnest. The camp is a quiet one, owing to its small size, and there is little to disturb the tranquility.

It was a lamentable accident that befell trooper Kenny on Saturday night. Kenny is a Prince Edward county man, and belongs to "D" squadron of the 3rd Dragoons. He is now in the Kingston general hospital, undergoing treatment.

The officers of the brigade expressed themselves as having been delighted with the service at St. George's cathedral on Sunday morning.

Brigade quartermaster-sergeant Victor Street is a very popular young fellow in camp, and has shown himself to be thoroughly fitted for the position.

The drilling exercises yesterday afternoon were very interesting. It was a sample of how mounted men "do" dismounted drill. The "Boe formation," as it is called, consists of the squadrons riding up to a certain point, and then being ordered to dismount and form a skirmishing line.

After a volley has been fired, the troopers are brought up and the men gallop away at high speed.

E. P. Brannigan Applies For Stall in Island Market.

At last night's meeting of the city council the following communication from E. H. Britton was read:
"As solicitor for E. P. Brannigan, I am instructed to apply to your worshipful body for a lease of one of the stalls in that part of the city market No. 1, known as the shambles. Mr. Brannigan is willing to pay a reasonable rent and to agree to submit to any reasonable conditions that may be imposed, and he is further willing to give security that he will faithfully fulfill any obligation that he may undertake. In the event of the council not being in a position, for any reason, to accede to this request, Mr. Brannigan suggests that all the stalls be put up at auction and rented to the highest bidder. If this, again, be not satisfactory, I must ask, on behalf of my client and others, that the present monopoly on the stalls be terminated by the council, on the ground that no one person should be permitted to enjoy valuable and exclusive privileges when other responsible citizens are prepared to bid for them and pay for them. I beg the council to consider this matter with as little delay as possible."

Mr. Britton had a second communication from citizens who are prepared to market clerk McCann, but just before council opened it was withdrawn and will be presented again in another form.

Women And Jewels.
Jewels, candy, flowers, man—that is the order of a woman's preferences. Even that greatest of all jewels, health, is often ruined in the strenuous efforts to save the money to purchase a diamond.

If a woman will risk her health to get a coveted gem, then let her fortify herself against the insidious consequences of coughs, colds and bronchial affections by the regular use of Dr. Ross's German Syrup. It will promptly arrest consumption in its early stages and heal the affected lungs and bronchial tubes and drive the dread disease from the system. It is not a cure-all, but it is certain to cure for coughs, colds and all bronchial troubles. You can get this reliable remedy at Wade's drug store.
