A MELANCHOLY EVENT.

Occurred in a House in Cleveland, Ohio.

Carleton Place Canadian.

Three years ago J. E. Edwards left here with his bride, Ethel May White, daughter of J. C. White, of William street. Both were young and attractive and had all sail set towards a port that loomed with great domestic promise. Last Saturday morning they both came back, but she was in her coffin. They had settled in Cleveland, and were doing prosperously, he as a job printer, in the trade winds of the city. They lived in a suite of rooms, as is usual in large cities. On Wednesday her dress took fire from the stove, and though she fought hard she was severely burned and inhaled the fumes. The residents called an ambulance, and she was taken to the hospital, where her husband found her. She lingered till towards morning, perfectly conscious, but, owing to heart weakness, dropped off quickly at the last. Thus in one moment a happy home altar was reduced to ashes. Mrs. Edwards was born in Almonte. She was twenty-three years of age. The funeral took place on Sunday afternoon.

May Be United.

There is a proposal on foot to unite the First Congregational and Bethel church congregations. The matter will be discussed by the members of each church.

LIKELY FIXED TO-DAY

The Date For The Coronation Of King

THE KING IS NOW ANXIOUS

TO HAVE THE THING OVER WITH.

Whitelaw Reid Will Sail For The United States at an Early Date—The Coronation Bazaar—There Will Be Some Fine Displays at it.

London, July 10.—A decision with regard to the date of the coronation probably will be arrived at to-day at a conference of the king's physicians. The king is most anxious that there should be as little delay as possible, but the decision must depend upon how far his doctors can foresee the course of his convalescence. The Standard says it is believed that they would be able to announce some date about the middle of August. There is little doubt that an early coronation is being held out to the king by his physicians as a stimulus. It is stated that the king's anxiety to be crowned is due to the alleged prophecy that he never would be crowned, which is said to weigh on his mind.

Whitelaw Reid says that he has received no intimation that special coronation envoys will be continued, and that he sees no reason for altering his intention of sailing for New York on July 26th.

The diamond that will be offered at the coronation bazaar in aid of the children's hospital will be the chief gem of the bazaar. It is the largest in the world, weighing 207 carats. It came from T. D. Beers' mine in South Africa. If formed the chief attraction in the jewel department of the exposition at Buffalo. It is proposed to sell it for $52,500.

The queen and princess of Wales, the duke and duchess of Connaught, and many relatives of the royal family will attend the bazaar which will be the most brilliant ever attempted. The collection in the jewelry stall will be one of the finest ever got together. One Paris firm will send articles valued at $1,000,000. Besides the largest diamond, there will be the great Southern Cross, consisting of nine large pearls, forming a natural cross, which was found in a pearl oyster off the coast of Western Australia. This is valued at more than $50,000.

It is stated that the prince of Wales and Gen. Kitchener will be present at the khedive of Egypt's formal inauguration of the great Assouan dam in December. The party will afterwards visit Khartoum.

The committee appointed by the admiralty to consider certain questions regarding modern types of boilers for the navy recognize that the Belleville boiler, when new and in good condition, is a good steam generator, but its rapid loss of efficiency in ordinary work in commissioned ships is of a serious nature. The defects that have been developed in it and the great care required in its manipulation render it, in the opinion of the committee, undesireable to use any more of these boilers in new warships.

Lord Methuen's return to England has been as quiet as lord Kitchener's welcome will be demonstrative. Lord Methuen remained in South Africa for a longer period than any other of the generals of the original army corps, of which so much was expected and by which so little was accomplished. He has risen in the public estimation in consequence of the way with which he persisted in seeing the thing through and, notwithstanding his final defeat and capture, he has a better public reputation than Gen. Buller or the other generals, with the single exception of Gen. French.

Both political camps will unite in welcoming lord Kitchener this week. His next command will probably be in India, but he will remain till the end of the year in England, where he can be consulted by the war and colonial office respecting the settlement in South Africa.

FLAG FROM THE VELDT.

Was Wrapped Around The Body Of a Dead Soldier.

London, July 10.—An interesting relic of the war in the shape of a flag of the 2nd Irish brigade, one of the two regiments commanded by "Col." Lynch, has been presented to the mayor of Kingston-on-Thames by a soldier just returned from South Africa. The flag, which is the Boer colors, bears the name of the brigade and the words, "For Liberty" and "Remember '98"—a reference to the Irish rebellion of that year. The circumstance in which it was found were dramatic. It was discovered after an engagement wrapped round the dead body of one of the members of the brigade. Pinned to the flag was the fly-leaf of a bible, on which was written in blood, "Send this flag to Dublin, and pray for the soul of Patrick Mooney. Good-bye."

Great Geyser Discovered.

San Francisco, July 10.—Near Salina Cruz, on the Pacific Coast of the isthmus of Tehuantepec, a giant geyser is active, as the result of heavy earthquakes in that region since April 18th last. The column of water rising to a height of about fifty feet roars and hisses among the rocks and is an object of great interest to the people and to passing vessels, being plainly visible from the sea. It was seen by the passengers and crew of the steamer Newport, which has just reached here. The steamer reports that the affairs in Guatemala are becoming normal again, after the scare occasioned by the tremendous earthquakes.

THERE ARE FIVE DEAD.

And Due To Disobedience Of Orders.

Toronto, July 10.—Five firemen were killed this morning as the result of one of the most disastrous fires in the history of Toronto. More men, not firemen, may have been killed but it will be impossible to tell this until the debris has been removed. The fire was in the McIntosh warehouse, at the corner of Front and George streets, which occupied half the block and clear through the esplanade. The fire broke out a few minutes before six o'clock. Twenty minutes later the walls of the building collapsed. Two of the men were killed near the southwest corner, and three at the south-east corner. When the walls collapsed a number of firemen stood on ladders against the south wall, but every one thus situated miraculously escaped. Chief Thompson says that at least five deaths were due to disobedience of orders. A general alarm was sent in a few minutes before the collapse occurred.

The dead firemen are:

Walter O. Collard, assistant foreman, Rose avenue hall.

Harry Clark, No. 5 section, Lombard street hall.

Adam Kerr, No. 5 section, Lombard street hall.

David See, No. 5 section, Lombard street hall.

Fred. G. Russell, No. 3. section, Yonge street hall.

Collard and Clark were married. Clark leaves three or four children.

It was at first feared that seven men had met death, but after a roll call of the sections of the brigade, who were fighting the fire, chief Thompson announced that the five named above were all the dead.

The building, which was formerly a street railway car barn, was over 444 feet long by sixty-eight feet wide and the walls were about thirty feet high with a flat roof. The fire broke out at 6:15 o'clock and as the material stored in the building were inflammable it burned with great rapidity. The various sections of the brigade were scattered around the walls and many men were on ladders and on the roof when signs of collapse were seen.

Chief Thompson ordered the men on the ground close under the walls, to go back, and two of those killed were caught by the falling wall because they did not at once respond to the chief's orders. At 6:40 o'clock the walls of the big building, released from the support of the roof trusses, gave way in all directions. Dozen of firemen were on ladders around the building and they fell with the walls, but the only men buried beneath the debris were the firemen attending to hose lines and hydrants on the ground, who did not get warning in time to save themselves.

When the walls collapsed the fire was, in a measure, smothered and a large part of the brigade at once turned to the work of rescue. Only one of the men buried beneath the walls was recovered alive, a fireman named Taggart. By 9:15 o'clock all the bodies were recovered and removed to the morgue.

See, one of the victims, was a veteran of the South African war.

Another accident that may result fatally was due to the fire. Charles S. Toplis, of the Parkdale reel, was thrown from the waggon while galloping to the fire and the wheels passed over him, breaking his back.

Feel For Brothers In Toronto.

In view of the lamentable loss of life in Toronto the flags of the fire halls of this city were half-masted today, and chief Elmer telegraphed, on behalf of the Kingston firemen, a message of sympathy and condolence to Toronto fire department and with the families of the bereaved fire fighters.

WATCHING FRED RICE.

Officials Keeping Eye on Condemned Murderer.

Toronto, July 10.—A strict watch is being kept on Fred Lee Rice, the condemned murderer of constable Boyd. In nine days he is to die, but he has said that a rope will never go around his neck. Every precaution is being taken to keep from him anything which would help him to take his own life. He has, it is said, little hope of the success of the latest scheme for a respite, and is attending to his spiritual adviser, Rev. Robert Hall. "If you have to die," his mother wrote, "my only hope is that you will be prepared for the end."

Government inspector William Greer, investigating the Lambert poisoning case at Hilton, in Northumberland county, has returned to the city and placed the facts of the case before the department. The case, according to the detective, was one of suicide and not of murder. Lambert was arrested on a charge of neglecting to support his family and failing to provide his wife with proper medical attendance.

The electrical workers' strike which has now run six weeks is believed to be nearly at an end. Out of 150 men who went out about 100 have returned to work under the terms they have been asking, namely, fifty cents an hour and an eight hour day. Fifty-five men are still out and a settlement regarding these is expected to be reached at a conference with the employers' committee to be held to-night.

Six Deaths From Heat.

Pittsburg, July 10.—The mercury is still in the nineties, but thunderstorms and cooler weather are predicted. Six deaths from the heat, and ten serious prostrations have been reported since yesterday. The mill workers are the greatest sufferers, and many have been obliged to stop work.

Strong opinion exists on both sides of the British house of commons that no agreements are to be made by the government with Mr. Morgan until the house has had an opportunity of considering. The admiralty secretary will, to-day, be questioned on the point.

MADE A CONFESSION

Told His Awful Secret And Died

CLEARS UP OHIO MURDER

AFTER TEN YEARS OF SILENCE AND MYSTERY.

Tired Of The Fierce Battle With Conscience, Murderer Tells All, Then Ends His Life.

St. Louis, July 10.—After ten years' battling with a conscience that day and night tortured him, E. E. Shaanon, aged twenty-five years, of Winstanley Park, East St. Louis, confessed to his wife a crime committed ten years ago, and then committed suicide. Shannon's death revealed the secret that he had carried so many years, and cleared away a murder mystery that had long puzzled the authorities of Clayton, a small village in Montgomery county, Ohio. Four lives paid the penalty of a game of cards engaged in by young men of Clayton. Two men were killed in the fight over the game, a third was legally executed for the murder of the first two, and a fourth (Shannon) found relief in death from the burden on his conscience of being responsible for the death of the other three.

When a boy of fifteen years Shannon engaged in a game of cards with a friend, and two other young fellows. All of the youths were drinking. Shannon won, and was accused of cheating by two of the party. A fight followed, and Shannon drew a revolver and fired several shots, killing the two fellows who had attacked him. Leaving the bodies in an out of the way place, where the tragedy occurred, Shannon and his friend fled. Shannon left Ohio and became a wanderer over the country.

His friend remained behind, and paid the penalty of loyalty to his companions with his life. The young fellow was arrested for the murder of the two men, whose bodies had been found lying near the gambling table. He was convicted. He went to the scaffold and died, without revealing Shannon's name.

Shannon learned of his friend's death through the newspapers, and, haunted by the crime he had committed, fled farther from the scene. He wandered over the greatest part of the west, doing odd jobs here and there, but never remaining long in one place.

When the Spanish war broke out Shannon, reckless of his life, joined the engineering corps, hoping that he might find death fighting for his country. He served through the entire war without receiving a scratch and was discharged.

He sought his family, hoping to find relief from his tortured conscience among his relatives. He married and determined to settle down in East St. Louis, and led a quiet, retired life, in hope that he might in some way atone for his crimes.

But his conscience gave him no peace, and life became a burden. He determined to end his life and find peace from the pangs of conscience that had made his life miserable. Going to a drug store, he purchased a bottle of chloroform, telling the druggist he wanted it to make a liniment. Carrying the drug which was to end his life, Shannon went to his home.

Just before retiring Shannon told his wife of the awful crime that had weighed him down for so many years. He told her all the terrible details and how he had been tormented by his conscience and had in vain sought to forget the deed, but that the blood of the man seemed ever before him, and that he had determined to put an end to a life that was so full of remorse and fear.

His wife quieted him and assured him that she would help him to try and forget the past, and making him promise that he would not take his life, she fell asleep.

Shannon waited until he was sure his wife slumbered, then quietly took some bedding out on the front porch and wrapping his head in a sheet saturated the sheet with chloroform.

FOR WIDOWS AND ORPHANS.

Grant To Canadian Patriotic Fund From England.

Ottawa, July 10.—The Canadian patriotic fund association have received a further grant of £300 ($1,500) from the British empire league, headquarters in London, in aid of the widows and orphans of members of the Canadian South African contingents and of men incapacitated through wounds sustained in the late war.

Hon. J. I. Tarte set out on Wednesday on his tour of the St. Lawrence highway and the great lakes. His intention is to go as far west as Winnipeg, and the trip will occupy several weeks. The minister of public works will make a study of the requirements of transportation as he goes.

John Fraser has been promoted in the finance department to the post of dominion book-keeper and accountant, vice Dickinson, superannuated.

A cablegram from Cape Town reports that trooper Richard Player, second C. M. R., was dangerously ill with enteric fever at Johannesburg July 6th. The sick man comes from Quebec.

It is likely that in order to put an end to the constant bickering and recrimination caused by cattle straying from Montana, over the border into Alberta, and Assiniboia, the Canadian government will have 100 miles of wire fence constructed. This will cost a considerable sum, but it will protect the Canadian ranchers from the encroachments of cattle belonging to their competitors on the other side of the line.

The Hamilton board of education has increased inspector Ballard's salary to $2,200.

SMALLPOX COST $15,000.

Epidemic In Ottawa Is Now Practically Stamped Out.

Ottawa, July 10.—The small-pox outbreak in Ottawa is now about over, and when the accounts are all liquidated it will be seen that the city have been put to a heavy expense in dealing with the pest. The outlay, it is estimated, will be in excess of $15,000.

The Ottawa electric railway company commenced, to-day, the erection of an auxiliary plant to cost about $75,000, which will add materially to the effectiveness of the service in emergencies.

E. J. Chamberlain, general manager of the Canada Atlantic railway, stated to-day that the company will commence work on the new central station for Ottawa this year. The station will cost a quarter of a million dollars and will be for the accommodation of all systems entering the city. The city paid a bonus of $50,000 for the station and its erection has been delayed on account of the slowness of the government in vacating the old militia stores sites upon which it is to be built.

Game warden Loveday confiscated a handsome specimen of live moose this morning which came from New Ontario. He acted under orders from chief game warden Tinsell, Toronto, and awaits instruction as to its disposal. It will likely be sent to Algonquin park.

HEARING THE CASE.

The Cross Appeal In The North Grey Election.

Toronto, July 10.—Before justice MacLennan, this morning, the cross-appeal of A. G. McKay, M.P.P., for North Grey, came up, Mr. Watson urging that the appeal be heard, as it would result in an increase of Mr. McKay's majority. The judge said that a number of the ballots had been considered in connection with Mr. Boyd's appeal. S. H. Blake, who appeared for Mr. Boyd, said, "Oh, let us have a new election."

To this Mr. Watson hotly replied that he knew just where Mr. Blake stood. The latter said there would be a scrutiny any way, and it was decided to go on with the examination of the ballots challenged by Mr. Watson.

After hearing argument, the judge increased McKay's majority to six, giving him forty-four votes in Owen Sound.

BREAK FOR LIBERTY.

Desperate Convicts Used Dynamite To Wreck Jail.

St. Joseph, Mo., July 10.—James Blade, Leck Allen and James Murray, prisoners in the Buchanan county jail, wrecked the rear wall of the jail building yesterday with a powerful charge of dynamite. They then made a fierce fight for liberty, but the guards beat them back with Winchesters. Seventy-five prisoners are confined in the jail, most of whom made no effort to escape. Those who did were clubbed into submission. No one was injured, although the explosion was heard several blocks away. Blade and Allen are under sentences for highway robbery, and Murray is a government prisoner. They are now chained to the floors of their cells.

CHILI AND ARGENTINA.

A New Convention Between The Two Countries Signed.

Buenos Ayres, Argentine, July 10.—Argentina and Chili have signed a convention defining more precisely the objects of their recent treatises providing for arbitration and the limitation of armaments, with the view of averting the possibility of future complications. Public opinion approves of the new convention.

Argentina clearly announces that her policy is absolute neutrality in questions concerning Chili on the Pacific coast. The convention explains that it is not proposed that either nation shall reduce its naval equipment now afloat.

She Committed Suicide.

Keene, July 10.—The mysterious disappearance of Miss Maggie English was cleared up yesterday, when James Dickson, a fisherman, in trawling in the river, near the bridge, brought the body of the unfortunate young woman to the surface. The bridge is a short distance from the English homestead, where Maggie was last seen about half-past ten Saturday night by her lover. The reason of her self-destruction is unknown. An inquest will not be held. Interment took place to-day. The young woman was an orphan, aged twenty-five years.

A Mayor Indicted.

Minneapolis, July 10.—The grand jury has returned indictments charging A. A. Ames, mayor of the city; Fred. W. Ames, superintendent of police, and Joseph Cohen, with accepting bribes. The charges are based on the alleged collection of tribute from abandoned women, in which, it is alleged, Cohen acted for the mayor and the chief.

Killed By A Bull.

Napanee, Ont., July 9.—James Edward Empey, fifty-four years old, a farmer living at Switzerville, was struck in the ribs by a bull last Thursday, receiving injuries that resulted in his death last night.

A Hot Weather Breakfast

It Should be Comforting to the Stomach and Helpful to Digestion.

Malt Breakfast Food

The Ideal Summer Breakfast Cereal is the True System Nourisher.

All experience goes to prove that a hot weather breakfast should be made of food that is comforting to the stomach, easily digested, readily absorbed by the system, and at the same time, a true nourisher and builder of flesh, tissue and muscle. Malt Breakfast Food fulfills all these conditions perfectly. A dish of Malt Breakfast Food at the morning meal gives energy and vim for the day's work. Ask your grocer for it.

MADE A DISCOVERY.

Prof. Mackwald Announced Result Of Investigations.

Berlin, July 10.—Prof. Mackwald, of the Berlin university, announced at the last meeting of physcical society, that he had discovered a new element. The element in question is called Radion. It is active and of extraordinary energy. Mackwald has separated from radioactive bismuth, so-called polonium, found in uranium ore. It consists, as Prof. Mackwald has discovered, substantially of ordinary bismuth, and of a new metal, in the proportion of a thousand to one. The new metal can be separated by the electrolytic process.

Col. Denison will sail for Montreal to-day. He has gone so far and so fast in presenting the plans of the British empire league of Canada that neither imperialist nor colonial has been able to keep abreast with him.
