ARC'ISING THE ORANGEMEN.

ADDRESSES AT THE PITTS-FERRY DEMONSTRATION.

Capt. Gaskin Declared That the Orangemen Were Not True to Themselves — Rev. Mr. Oliver Cautions Them to Be Wary.

The Orange demonstration at Pitts-ferry, on Monday, arranged by Dufferin L.O.O.L. No. 1269, was participated in by Orangemen from Kingston, Pine Hill, Stella, Sunbury and Battersea. On the picnic grounds there were about 600 people. In attendance were S. Donaldson, master of Dufferin lodge; Capt. Gaskin, county master; Thomas Todd, deputy county master, and E. Cullen, deputy district master, South Frontenac. Music was discouraged by the Stella and Battersea bands and an orchestra of three did duty at the dancing platform. The steamer American sailed at Kingston, returning, and the steamer Aetha those from Stella.

The two addresses were listened to with interest. Capt. Gaskin was the first speaker. He told of his being somewhat with the Orange order since boyhood, and related to the great losses sustained by the order in the deaths of Hon. Clark Wallace and John W. Bell. The former was one of the greatest Orangemen Canada had ever produced.

The speaker referred to the statement that Orange bodies in Canada are no longer wanted. He declared they were wanted, and that the interest in Orangemen was not waning, he instanced the magnificent demonstrations held throughout the country on Saturday, the 12th. The Protestants of Canada, Capt. Gaskin said, should continue more solidly, the ranks should be closed up. "If it hadn't been for the battle of the Boyne," he declared, "we might to-day all have been subjects of the pope of Rome, but thank God we are not."

Continuing, Capt. Gaskin referred to the strong new ally Britain had acquired in the conquered Boers, who were a brave people. "They are descendants of King William," he exclaimed, "and that's why they give their fighting qualities. (Applause.) Britain, with the Boers and the colonies, can defy the world."

A voice: "We want the Yankees too, captain."

"No, the Yankees are not in this combination," retorted the captain, as he re-adjusted his spectacles. "I belong to a fighting family, my wife went on, and the crowd cheered. "Some of my relatives served in South Africa and others who fought out there are here with us this afternoon. If it was figured out, it would be found that most of the men who went from Canada to South Africa were Orangemen."

"You beat your drums for all you're worth on the 12th, and think everything is completed," said the speaker. "But I tell you, we're not true to ourselves. A leading Orangeman should not belong to a political party, and should never be tied down. Several years ago, the Montreal Witness came out with the statement that the Roman Catholics of Canada were receiving government appointments far in excess of their proportion of the population. The French papers challenged the statement, and what did the actual figures show? Simply this: that in the parliament buildings at Ottawa alone there were 821 Roman Catholics employed, and only 721 Protestants. And this, notwithstanding that the Protestants of Canada, number nearly twice as many as the Roman Catholics. The latter are getting far more than they should and it's our own fault. We do not stand firm. On the 12th, we wear our sashes, and that's the end of it. Do you think the Roman Catholics? I have a bit of it. I've nothing against them. They're a shrewd people."

What do we find in Kingston as far as government grants are concerned? Just this—the Protestant population at Ottawa alone there were 821 Roman Catholics employed, and only 721 Protestants. And this, notwithstanding that the Protestants of Canada, number nearly twice as many as the Roman Catholics. The latter are getting far more than they should and it's our own fault. We do not stand firm. On the 12th, we wear our sashes, and that's the end of it. Do you think the Roman Catholics? I have a bit of it. I've nothing against them. They're a shrewd people.

"The Hotel Dieu and house of Providence in Kingston get big government grants. And why? Those places keep a lot of sealawags for the government, and they come out on election day and vote. The time has arrived when Orangemen should get together and stay together, and get fair play. Kingston is the poorest place in Canada for Orangemen, and what has made it so? Just politics. Politics have killed Orangemen in Kingston." Warm applause greeted Capt. Gaskin as he concluded a lengthy speech during which he held the full attention of the people.

Rev. Mr. Oliver, of Pittsburg, also delivered an address. He thoroughly believed in the principles of Orangemen, but it is to them, he said, that we are largely indebted for the state of things which now exist. "Orangemen can do what they like, civilly and politically, and it may be that they have carried that freedom to such an extreme that their interests have suffered. There was no doubt, he declared, that in Frontenac the influence of Roman Catholics was very strong in comparison to their number. Orangemen, he pointed out, has been in reality a greater blessing to Roman Catholics than to Protestants, for its principles have given them liberties which they would not possess in a country where their own religion held sway. Roman Catholics have privileges in Ontario which they have not in Quebec, and they really find it better to live in a country where Protestantism is in the ascendancy.

Mr. Oliver advised the Orange order to strengthen itself, and not allow Roman Catholics to become stronger than they should be. Orangemen should be instructed as to the danger involved in allowing things to go on as at present, and should demand their just share of government and other positions. In conclusion, Mr. Oliver pointed out one great thing in favor of Orangemen. It was this—that Orangemen are always loyal to the country in which they live.

Received An Electric Shock.

Last evening just after the heavy electric storm, a man was struck on a street car received a severe shock. The car was "loaded," in common parlance, and as conductor Coffin reached for her fare he caught hold of the brass seat railing. As soon as he touched the railing, which the young lady held in her hand, it completed the circuit and she received a heavy charge of electricity. It threw her off the seat and dazed her for a few moments. The contents of her purse were scattered around the car floor. To say that the young lady was scared does not convey the condition of her feelings; she thought her end had come sure.

Grape-Nuts is a concentrated food and contains much nourishment. Its bulky body heating food like meat, potatoes, etc. Its crisp daintiness will appeal to your palate and the result is a very marked difference in the temperature of the body and the certainty of ease and perfect digestion.

Quit coffee; it unnaturally stimulates the brain and nerves, heating the body and causing an uneven temper; use Postum Food Coffee, has a charming flavor when properly made and does not affect the nervous system, but assists the brain to work with ease and clearness.

DIED AMID THE STORM.

John Blakley Dropped Dead Early Last Evening.

While the electrical storm was at its height early last evening death's messenger came suddenly to John T. Blakley, at the home of his parents, 336 Bagot street. The deceased was stricken suddenly down, and expired almost immediately. Dr. Hanley was hastily summoned, but the unfortunate young man was beyond the reach of human assistance. The doctor pronounced death due to heart-failure.

Mr. Blakley was but twenty-two years of age. He had been in Rochester for several years, but returned home on July 4th. He had been in delicate health for some time.

The deceased was the eldest son of Traver Blakley, who drives one of the city watering carts. "He was in the kitchen about a quarter to six o'clock," said the father this morning, "when a heavy clap of thunder sounded. The little girl ran in to tell me that she was lightning in a corner. I hastened to him, but he was dead when I got to his side. I think the suddenness and noise of the thunderbolt caused his heart to collapse, as it was already weak. For five years he was employed in a lantern factory at Rochester, N.Y., but came home under a doctor's advice. He intended returning next Sunday."

Surviving the young man are his bereaved parents, one young brother and five sisters. In religion he was an Anglican. The remains will be interred in Catawqui cemetery to-morrow morning.

A BRUTAL ASSAULT.

Deaf Mute Strikes Down a Little Defenseless Girl.

Police constables Graham and Hazlett are deserving of praise for the skill they displayed in running down and arresting a vagabond who should not be allowed to roam at large. About half past ten o'clock last night a call was received at the police station from Mrs. A. Colet, 77 Lower Alfred street. Constables Graham and Hazlett responded, and learned that shortly before that hour a middle aged man had knocked for admittance on the front door of Mr. Colet's dwelling. The summons was answered by the twelve-year-old daughter of Mr. Colet. The man whom she found at the door stepped into the hall as soon as the door was opened, and, unbidden, walked straight into the dining-room. He was followed by the little girl, who demanded to know what he wanted. He muttered unintelligibly, and proceeded to the table, where he took a glass of beer. The noise made by the intruder attracted the notice of Mrs. Colet, upstairs; she had been ill lately and in a condition unfitting her to undergo excitement. She came down stairs and asked the stranger what he wanted, but he continued his unintelligible muttering. Mrs. Colet informed the man that her husband was not at home, and bade him leave the house. She stepped into the hall to open the door, and made signs to the intruder to depart. After a short delay, he made an effort to go, but before leaving the room he raised a short sick which he carried and struck the little girl a stunning blow, knocking her down and cutting open her forehead. She was rendered unconscious by the blow and did not regain reason for some minutes. The brutal intruder then took his departure.

Young Lady Accosted by Half-Drunk Loner.

About twelve o'clock last night a complaint was registered at police headquarters against a young man who drives for a Brock street butcher. The facts of the case are, that about 11:45 o'clock a young lady vocalist, in attendance at a rehearsal, started homeward, accompanied by a younger brother, aged about fourteen years.

"They turned up Brock street, but had not proceeded very far until a half-drunk loner accosted them. The little had tried to protect his sister, but the burly butcher, who was too strong for him. Fortunately for the young lady a commercial traveller, who had been down to the post office posting letters, happened along and for the time being, protected the young lady. He went forward and laid a complaint at police headquarters against the butcher lad, who, meantime, had followed the young lady up street. Near St. Andrew's church he again attacked her, but the aid of her younger brother and the street car conductor, she managed to escape.

This morning at police headquarters a summons was sworn out against the young man, and placed in the hands of a police constable to execute.

Women And Jewels.

Jewels, candy, flowers, man—that is the order of a woman's preferences. Even that greatest of all jewels, health, is often ruined in the strenuous efforts to save the money to purchase them. If a woman will risk her health to get a coveted gem, then let her fortify herself against the insidious consequences of coughs, colds and bronchial affections by the regular use of Dr. Boschee's German Syrup. It promptly arrests consumption in its early stages and heal the affected lungs and bronchial tubes and drive the dread disease from the system. It is not a cure-all, but it is a certain cure for coughs, colds and all bronchial troubles. You can get this reliable remedy at Wade's drug store.

The Aetha ran through the bluster, and landed her passengers safely at a quarter past six o'clock.

Fortunately for the young lady a commercial traveller, who had been down to the post office posting letters, happened along and for the time being, protected the young lady. He went forward and laid a complaint at police headquarters against the butcher lad, who, meantime, had followed the young lady up street. Near St. Andrew's church he again attacked her, but the aid of her younger brother and the street car conductor, she managed to escape.

This morning at police headquarters a summons was sworn out against the young man, and placed in the hands of a police constable to execute.

Women And Jewels.

Jewels, candy, flowers, man—that is the order of a woman's preferences. Even that greatest of all jewels, health, is often ruined in the strenuous efforts to save the money to purchase them. If a woman will risk her health to get a coveted gem, then let her fortify herself against the insidious consequences of coughs, colds and bronchial affections by the regular use of Dr. Boschee's German Syrup. It promptly arrests consumption in its early stages and heal the affected lungs and bronchial tubes and drive the dread disease from the system. It is not a cure-all, but it is a certain cure for coughs, colds and all bronchial troubles. You can get this reliable remedy at Wade's drug store.

Steamer In The Storm.

The steamer Aetha left the Orangemen pier at Pittserry yesterday afternoon at five o'clock, just before the rain storm arose. The Aetha ran through the bluster, and landed her passengers safely at a quarter past six o'clock.

One Good Reason.

Baltimore American.

"I don't see," said the first intellectual gentleman, why people turn their noses up at the thought of eating insects, yet devour the soft crabs with avidity.

"It is because," explained the second individual, who was a natural born reasoner, "the locust may be had for nothing, but the crab comes at $1 a dozen and hard to get at that."

There are many forms of nervous debility in men that yield to the use of Carter's Iron Pills. Those who are troubled with nervous weakness, night sweats, etc., should try them.

Take Angier's Emulsion in the Summer.

If you have weak lungs or consumption make your fight against the disease during the summer. Physicians advocate fresh air, moderate exercise, and plenty of nutritious food. A valuable adjunct to this treatment, is Angier's Petroleum Emulsion. It promotes a healthy appetite, puts the digestive organs in a condition to digest and assimilate food—thus greatly improving nutrition. It keeps the bowels in a normal condition so that pills and aperients are unnecessary. It is pleasant to take, agrees with the stomach, restores health and vitality.
