ODD FELLOWS IN THE CITY

AND HERE TO HELP ALONG GOOD INSTITUTIONS.

A Look Over the Delegates With Happy Remarks About Some of the Leaders—Having a Good Time.

Like the flowers that blossom in the month of roses, we have with us again the delegates to the annual meeting of the Oddfellows' relief association, which convened this afternoon and will be continued tonight.

It takes all kinds and conditions of people to make a world, but only one kind of men can become Oddfellows—good men. The order contains in its ranks some of the best men, the leading merchants, and the leading business men.

The relief association is an institution of the highest order. It has caught the contagion of expansion and is forging ahead, carefully but surely. Little thought the small band of active, sincere Oddfellows, who in the seventies, that their small beginning would meet with such success.

The "father" of this mighty institution is Dr. Fife Fowler, who has been a member almost since its inception. Dr. Fowler is one of the oldest members of the order in Kingston.

Another shining light without whom no meeting of the association could be counted a success, is J. R. Macdonald, Sherbrooke, N.S. Brother Macdonald is the Poet-Bah of his burg, holding as many offices as the Chinaman made famous by Gilbert & Sullivan in the "Mikado."

STORES AND EQUIPMENT.

NO PROPER ACCOUNTING MADE BY OFFICERS.

New Regulations Issued—Annual Inspection to be Completed—Duty of the Inspectors.

Ottawa, July 16.—It having been brought to the attention of the officer commanding the militia that articles of equipment and other stores issued to the various units are not properly accounted for by commanding officers, the requisitions to issue stores or make good damages are not forwarded until corps are about to proceed to camp or commence annual training, and that proper care is not exercised in making out requisition with reference to the stores and equipment then in possession, the following regulations respecting issues of clothing and equipment and other stores will be rigidly enforced:

The annual inspection of arms and equipment will be completed by the proper officers not later than the 15th October. At these inspections all stores must be clean, and those damaged at annual training or worn out are to be laid out separately. Requisitions to replace damaged stores or to make good shortages from any cause will be submitted in time to reach headquarters not later than the 31st January in each year.

Osric Leander Lewis, is a living factor that gives the lie to the saying that "nothing good can come out of the west." Mr. Lewis hails from Chatham, Ont., and is a success in every particular. He is counted the handsomest man who attends the annual meetings of the Oddfellow relief association, and he is just as good as called by any old name, because few can spell his "front" names correctly.

These are a few of the visitors. Did time and space permit, many others could be added. They are all general fellows, whom it will be a pleasure to meet again.

There is, of course, a fine representation of the rank and file of Independent Oddfellow delegates from all the provinces, men brisk in business, lively in disposition, capital as story tellers, and always alive to the main change, and in this was included Oddfellowship. They are all proud that the relief association is a going concern and that they have a hand in guiding its destinies.

While in Kingston, a large number of Oddfellow delegates, including Mr. Ald. Farrell, Mr. Abbott, Donald McIntyre, R. Meek, A. H. Blackley, Allan Chadwick, R. F. Elliott, W. J. Livingston, Simon Oberdorfer, W. H. Gowin, Capt. Thomas Donnelly, J. W. W. Lee, and others are busily engaged in making the visitors happy and in setting off the good points of old Kingston. This afternoon the whole bunch is off on a tour of the Thousand Islands. To-night they settle down to stern business.

To Take Strikers' Places. A machinist, who will take the place of a striker at the locomotive works, arrived here yesterday from Montreal, bringing his family with him. Three other machinists from the same city reached here last night. They will go to work to-morrow morning. Altogether, about a dozen men have so far arrived to take the places of the strikers. Some of the new arrivals were warned not to go to work, but they replied that they were out of work and did not intend to starve, when steady employment was offered.

Want A Lacrosse Match. This afternoon, Con. Millan received an inquiry from Gananoque, asking if Kingston lacrosse team would play there on Friday or Saturday, and offering expenses. It was promised that only bona fide Gananoque players would be put in the field. The lacrosse team would be willing to play here on the same terms, and Mr. Millan will therefore try and arrange a match for Saturday afternoon at Lake Ontario park, in conjunction with a city league baseball contest.

The yacht Sport, one of the finest and best pleasure yachts on the St. Lawrence, also arrived in port to-day from Sport Island, below Alexandria Bay, with a party of American tourists on board, including the Wilbur family, owners of the island and the yacht.

Horticultural Society Meets. At a meeting of the directors of the horticultural society, held last evening, E. Purdy was appointed superintendent of the horticultural hall during fair week. The various judges were also appointed, but it is not yet known whether they will accept. Until their answers are given, the names will be withheld.
