SWORD OF HONOR.

Suggested That Capt. Carruthers be Presented With One.

An agitation is under way among citizens having as its object the presentation to Capt. Bruce Carruthers of a sword of honor. At first it was suggested that his friends subscribe to a fund for the purchase of such an article, but men of influence pointed out that there would be little honor in such a gift; it would represent only a few friends. They held that if a sword is presented to the gallant captain it should be the gift of all citizens, and that money for its purchase should be granted by the council. In such a way, all classes of citizens would be represented in the gift and it would then be an honor indeed.
