Forestry Is Planted.

Several United States colleges provide a four-years' course in forestry, leading to the degree of "Forest Engineer." Three of the first professional forestry graduates are employed by the forestry bureau of the Philippines: one by the New York forest, fish and game commission; one by the United States bureau of forestry; four in the United States general land office; two by Connecticut, while two are in the employment of lumbering companies. Their salaries range from $600 to $2,400 a year. In this way these colleges are doing for forestry what many institutions have done in mechanical engineering, mining engineering, railway engineering, electrical engineering, marine engineering, civil engineering, and agriculture, sending out men equipped with a highly specialized training to manage scientifically the great industries.

This is a great honor to Mr. Dickson, who thus brings credit upon himself and Queen's university. He purposes going to Sudbury this week to secure additional material for the continuation of his work. The clever young man is a son of C. T. Dickson, collector of inland revenue, of this city.

THE COAL CRISIS.

New York Will Suffer Greatly This Winter.

New York Herald. Coal will be scarce and will command exceptionally high prices in New York next winter, even should the present strike be speedily settled. This is the gloomy prediction made by operators who met to discuss ways and means for ending the trouble, and who agreed that under no circumstances could the ground lost in the last three months be recovered in time to make next winter's supply either plentiful in quantity or reasonable in price.

Absolutely no coal is coming to the city from the anthracite regions. None of the mines, not even the smaller independent ones, are being operated. Dealers have got along so far by using small stocks in yards here and stocks which were shipped here from points in New England, up the state and elsewhere. These are now exhausted and dealers have no idea where next to turn for hard coal.

The situation is approaching a crisis. For two days now practically no coal has been offered. One cargo was sold yesterday at $7.90. Nearly all the yards are scraped clean. Steam sizes and domestic sizes are both very scarce. They are not delivered in family coal, except in small quantities, for immediate use. What will happen when cold weather sets in may be conjectured.

Mr. Howard was asked this morning if it were so, but he did not care to say anything about the matter. He admitted, however, that he had been approached by the church officials, but that was all he would say. He had not decided whether he would remain in Kingston, but would do so next week.

Discarded His Advice.

Although the city engineer recommended that the city buildings' roof be painted with white lead and then lamp black, the property committee lately discard his advice and decide to use tar. The material the engineer advised will last far longer, and is more satisfactory. Why did the committee ignore the advice of a man of experience?

SEES DANCER FOR KAISER

POLISH LAND MAGNATE ASKS HIM NOT TO VISIT POSEN.

Fears Fanatic May do Harm — Racial Feeling in Polish Territory is Said to be at Fever Heat.

Berlin, July 24.—Court chamberlain Von Morawski, a Polish land magnate, has appealed to emperor William not to visit Posen during the army manoeuvres to be held in September, as his majesty had planned to do.

The chamberlain fears that some Polish fanatic might attempt to harm the emperor.

Racial feeling is described as at fever heat, and several Berlin journals take the view that it would be unwise for the emperor to expose himself unnecessarily.

It is scarcely likely that emperor William will act upon the chamberlain's appeal, because his majesty never permits himself to change his plans on account of the timidity of his advisers. It is his purpose to declare the government's Polish policy while in Polish territory, and his giving up personal supervision of the manoeuvres would be unprecedented.

The Polish question is regarded as the most pregnant in the government's domestic policy. While no observer believes the Polish agitation can really amount to much ultimatum, it is embarrassing, the relations with Austria and Russia.

Count Von Buelow, the German imperial chancellor, is well aware of the disagreeable features of the Polish agitation, and it is quite likely he will devise measures to quiet the extreme violence of the Polish feeling.

STORY OF PHILIPPINE WAR.

Statistics of Battles and Casualties in Campaigns.

Washington, July 24.—Major James Parker, of the adjutant general's office, has compiled some interesting statistics regarding the insurrection in the Philippines. There were 8,561 engagements with the enemy, more or less serious, between February 4th, 1899, the date of the battle of Manila, and April 30th, 1902, fixed as the virtual downfall of the insurrection. The larger proportion of these fights were attacks from ambush on the American troops of skirmishes in which only small detachments took part.

The number of troops that have been transported to the Philippines and have arrived there up to July 16th, last, was 4,135 officers and 123,963 men. The average strength of the army during the insurrection for the period of the insurrection, was approximately 40,000.

Major Parker summarizes the casualties of the American army as follows:

Killed or died of wounds, 60 officers and 936 enlisted men; deaths from disease, 47 officers and 2,235 enlisted men; deaths from accidents, 6 officers and 125 enlisted men; drowned, 6 officers and 257 enlisted men; suicides, 10 officers and 22 enlisted men; murdered, 1 officer and 91 enlisted men; total deaths, 139 officers and 4,016 enlisted men. Wounded, 190 officers and 2,797 enlisted men; a total of 2,987. Killed and wounded and deaths other than disease, 28 officers and 4,188 enlisted men, total, 4,470. Major Parker makes the percentage of killed and wounded to the strength of the army 9.7.

INDIANS TRICKY.

Tamper With Ginseng Root to Increase Rate.

Green Bay, Wis., July 23.—Indians on the reservation, near here are fast developing traits that belie their supposed simplicity in business transactions. For many years the chief source of their revenue has been in selling ginseng to Milwaukee and St. Louis dealers. Only the dried root has a commercial value, however, and though the price is $5 per pound, they could not make enough to satisfy them, and at last hit upon a novel scheme whereby their gains might be increased at the expense of the dealers. When fresh dug the ginseng roots are large and juicy, and it was an easy matter to scoop out the central part and fill it with a substance having more specific gravity than ginseng. Generally they used shot, but gravel, bits of iron, and even glass have been discovered by the wholesale men at Milwaukee, with the result that they have ceased buying from the Indians.

USED GOLD-BRICK SCHEME.

Swindlers Adopt American Idea With Variations.

Paris, July 23.—In the little town of Marenes a robbery of much interest has just been perpetrated. Two men called at the house of a citizen and told him their sister had been dishonored. In order, they said, to conceal this fact and preserve her good name, they were searching for a family who would adopt and raise the child. We shall pay for this service $4,000, and in two years will double this sum, they said. "Will you accept the charge?" The man consulted his wife, and when she consented the two strangers produced $4,000. Then they asked if the person who took the child had a guarantee to offer. The man brought out $300, and the two brothers took both sums of money and put them in a box. Then the four people breakfasted, and the pair, presenting the box to the man, said they would send the key of it with the child. After they had gone, the man, becoming suspicious, opened the box, to find only a few soles and some pieces of lead.

Sagasta Celebrates 75th Birthday.

Madrid, July 24.—Senor Sagasta, the Spanish prime minister, was the recipient of innumerable congratulations to-day on the occasion of his seventy-fifth birthday. The felicitations came from the young king, from the queen mother and from eminent persons in all parts of the kingdom. The venerable premier is beginning to feel the weight of his years and his desire to relinquish office and retire to private life is no secret. But Spain cannot afford to spare his services. After much hard work he has succeeded in bringing the country's finances and internal affairs into a more satisfactory condition than they have been since the war with the United States. It is interesting to recall the fact that in his youth Sagasta was one of the most vigorous revolutionists and untiring intriguers of his race. By profession he is a civil engineer, and at various times when he has been out of power, the government he has supported himself as teacher or journalist. When he was only twenty-six years old, he was elected to the cortes. He allied himself with the liberals and twice had to flee to France for his life. His first ministry was that of the interior, under Gen. Prim, and since then he has been prime minister time after time.
